Keepers of the Flame

~By Ronald Gaillot

I have issued forth a summons,
 A call across the lands,
 For all who would abide with Me
 Must begin to wash their hands.
 Bring forth the idols you admire
 And heap them on a pile.
 Search your heart from end to end
 For this may take a while.
 Bring forth the pleasures of your life,
 The sins and folly too.
 Toss them on that worthless heap
 Of things you say and do.

The works you do in vanity
 Must on that rubble be;
 Conceived in pride of ownership,
 They're performed in mockery.
 All these things have stolen time
 From what I hold most dear,
 The fellowship I long to have
 When you are very near.

I will send a holy flame
 To consume them with its fire.
 Kindled with its glowing touch
 And warming love's desire.
 My Spirit is the Holy Fire
 Kindled deep within your soul,
 Burning up the sinful dross
 That My grace may make you whole.
 No demon horde will ever quench
 The flame that I have stirred
 If you will guard it in your heart
 And hunger for My word.

Valarie Day, Dennis Carreiro & Reba Tierney are just having a good time.

Be vigilant in watching
 That no other love may steal;
 Guard My favor jealously
 To never lose your zeal.

Patrol your borders faithfully
 And call upon My Name.
 For I have placed you where you are
 As Keepers of the Flame.
 And when an idol strays inside
 You must truly strive
 To throw it on the burning coals
 And keep the flame alive.

Setting Our Hearts On Fire

Cecil Rasys' sister, Danielle, paints faces at Homecoming.

As I was considering themes for the 1999 Nautilus, I thought about what college is, for what it is supposed to be preparing us, and the changes that take place within so many of us as we make these preparations. What struck me is how self-centered a college experience can be. For four (or more) years, our focus is largely on what we can do to prepare ourselves for our future, following our own goals and ambitions. This is where Eastern Nazarene College becomes the unique community it is. In centering our education around Christian principles, ENC forces students to look beyond themselves and to consider to whom our future truly belongs. As difficult as it is to throw our own desires and goals into the flames, we must remember that a life of servanthood to Christ is for what we are truly preparing.

We have each been given gifts from God with which we can serve Him; gifts not to be used for our own purposes. Our "works conceived in pride of ownership" will only deter us from achieving God's will in our lives.

In allowing this Holy Fire to consume our selfish desires, we may feel as if we are left without a purpose, an identity, a goal. The gift of God's grace is what makes us whole, what gives us a purpose. The flame, once burning within us, will fill us with the desire to serve Him. This flame will allow no other love or idol of the world to steal that desire, that "zeal."

As Christians, we are called to a higher call than the temporal ambitions of this world. We have been called to be keepers of the Lord's flame. Only when we allow this flame to burn brightly and only when we kindle this flame in others will we truly attain a purposeful and "successful" life in the eyes of the Lord. It matters not how we appear in the eyes of the world. We have been created by God to love Him, to serve Him, to keep His flame.

Carrying the Flame

I have often wondered why prospective students spend so much time studying catalogs and viewbooks as they anxiously decide which college will be their home for the next four or five years. These publications offer little evidence of the essential character of college life. It would serve these folks better to scour the pages of the college yearbook. It is there that the unique character of a college is best documented.

Now, not all yearbooks serve this purpose. Some choose to focus on campus events and activities, and thus document those aspects of the collegiate experience which are important for the few who choose to participate in these events. But if a yearbook focuses on the people, and the relationships, then it will begin to reveal the uniqueness of one college over another.

That is certainly the case if someone would attempt to understand ENC. Whether I sit with new freshmen, seasoned seniors or alumni of various generations past, they all talk about the people. They speak of friendships with peers: late night conversations, praying, crying and laughing together. They speak of the struggle of the challenge, when the theoretical integration of faith and learning becomes real and support is given through small group, private talk and academic and spiritual adventure.

Brian Ketchum is making some music.

Below: Prof. Constantine & Sam Young are praying for bad aim at the Homecoming Street Fair.

Doc. Phil McLaren, "Never mind my forehead. Would you like to buy a rose?"

Heidi Shea & Melissa Youell are still smiling after a weekend of camping.

And they all speak of the faculty, of the professor who recognized them as a real person and who made the effort and took the time. Alumni, seniors and freshmen tell the same story, with different names but of the same caring. For one generation it was Munro, Shrader and Williamson, for another Paul, Mullen, Young and Helfrich, for another Cameron, Yerxa, Hall and Fiacco. Each in their own way, in their own style, they showed holiness with a face, a mind and a heart. And they modeled it for us, not as an abstract theological concept, but as the mark of the Saviour in their life. They gave us a glimpse that what they have, the way they humbly live out a life of faith, that maybe we can have that too.

As we consider the theme of the 1999 Nautilus - Keepers of the Flame, let us think of the people who have shown us integrity, grace and holiness as we have "done life" together this year. And perhaps, because of their example as friends, teachers and believers, we will choose to pick up the flame ourselves, carry it a bit higher than we thought we could, and pass it on.

*Grace and peace,
Mike Schutz, Chaplain*

Keeping the Flame Alive

Since its foundation in 1918, Eastern Nazarene College has walked a winding road in its journey. Professors, students, even buildings have all come and gone, each leaving their mark in some way. Yet one constant has remained. ENC has always striven to maintain as the focus of our education, not simply the acquisition of knowledge, but allowing the flame in each one of us to grow into a brilliant desire to serve Christ. Throughout the years, ENC has played the role of "fuel for the fire." This school has provided a home where students have the chance to realize the Holy Fire burning inside of themselves.

Embarking upon a new millennium causes us to reflect upon the past and look toward the future. Having carried the flame thus far, we must be reminded to bear and sustain it into the future, passing the desire for serving Christ to classes yet to come. We can accomplish this by leaving our mark, preserving Eastern Nazarene College as a place to "keep the flame alive."

In Dedication to and in Honor of .. Dr. Lowell H. Hall

The 1999 Nautilus is dedicated to a man who has certainly embodied the theme, "Keepers of the Flame." Dr. Lowell H. Hall has dedicated much of his life to serving the ENC community - from his years here as a student to those as a professor. It is evident to all who come in contact with Dr. Hall that he harbors a brightly burning flame for serving Christ and others. One cannot help but be touched by his gentle manner, daily class devotionals, attentiveness to students, chapel messages, and even his sense of humor. ENC is blessed to have a man of such intelligence and stature as part of its community. It is with great honor that we dedicate this yearbook to an individual who has dedicated so much of himself to the Lord and to Eastern Nazarene College.

"Coming from halfway across the country, as I do, Dr. Hall's friendly and caring attitude toward his students helped me to feel more at home as a freshman in his General Chemistry course. His jokes helped keep me awake in class." - Walt Jones, Sophomore

"Dr. Hall has a great heart. Not only does he always share Christ with his students through his devotions, but he always makes time to talk to his students and offer his help where I needed. I have also appreciated his sense of humor and the family atmosphere that he creates in his classes and labs." - Altaira Nicklas, Senior

"Dr. Hall, I have always been impressed with your concern for not only your students' academic work but their personal walk through life. You have always assured your students of their potential and retained confidence in them. Thank you for all that you have taught me academically and spiritually." - Cecily Rasys, Junior

It is my privilege to write for this year's Nautilus, which is dedicated to Dr. Lowell H. Hall and his years of devoted service to the students of Eastern Nazarene College. I consider it a great honor to write about someone I hold in such high regard. Dr. Hall is a wonderful professor. He saw my potential from the very beginning and was determined to help me reach it. After doing research with Dr. Hall this year, I can attest to his vast knowledge of chemistry and to his dedication to advancing the field. Having the privilege of working by his side has inspired me and given me a greater zeal for my academic pursuits.

In addition to his many scholarly attributes, I believe it is important to mention what a shining example of Christ's love and mercy he has been both in and out of the classroom. Dr. Hall has always shown equal concern for his students' personal lives, as well as their academic performances. He has been a mentor to me, patiently guiding me as I struggled through his classes and through life. He has offered wisdom, words of encouragement, and prayer. He has definitely been a genuine instrument of God's blessing in my life.

Above all, I consider Dr. Hall a lifelong friend. I have enjoyed getting to know him over the years, and my hope is that every student who walks on this campus will have the pleasure of getting to know him, too.

Dr. Kent R. Hill President

Dear Seniors,

I am very impressed with the theme of this year's NAUTILUS -- "Keepers of the Flame." The challenge to us as believers is to be more than Christians in name, but to be Christians in fact. The world is tired of Christian veneer, and longs to encounter Christian depth. The New Testament, in fact, only uses the word "Christian" three times, but the word "Disciple" appears over two hundred. And that is what we need to be -- "disciples" of Jesus Christ.

You have received a top-flight liberal arts education at Eastern Nazarene College. The question now is what will you do with it. The knowledge you have acquired, the skills and abilities you have honed and begun to develop, can be used either to simply advance your own personal agendas or they can be used in service to the King. The choice is yours. You will make dozens of daily decisions in the years ahead, just as you have thus far, which will determine how well you steward the gifts of talent, ability, and opportunities which are granted to you as a gift from God.

I want to challenge each of you to take seriously the theme of this Nautilus. I want to challenge you to "Keep the Flame" of Faith vibrant in your lives. I want to challenge you to allow that flame to enlighten your path, to warm your spirit, and to burn up all the dross in your lives which would interfere with you accomplishing your unique divine missions.

We are proud of you and what you have accomplished here. We trust that you will always have a warm spot in your hearts for your Alma Mater, and that you will stay in contact with ENC in the years ahead. We need your prayers, your counsel, and your support.

Let me leave you with a beautiful promise for your future as recorded in Jeremiah 29. These are the words of the Lord.

For I know the plans I have for you . . . plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future. Then you will call upon me and come and pray to me, and I will listen to you. You will seek me and find me when you seek me with all your heart.

The key is to seek God with "all your heart."

Be a "Keeper of the Flame." Be steadfast. Be courageous. In short, be a "disciple" of Jesus Christ.

May God richly bless each of you.

Sincerely,

Kent R. Hill
President

Junior Senior Chapel

As always, the Junior/Senior Chapel provided a time for reflection upon the past and of commissioning for the future. For the first time, Seniors donned their caps and gowns, realizing more fully that graduation was actually at hand! The President of each class council passed on words of wisdom to upcoming councils, charging new councils to continue work accomplished and to learn from mistakes made this year. Accompanied by Chris Mercer, Lorien Alder and Jen Mylott performed the Senior class song, "Take My Hand" by The Kry. Dr. Lowell Hall, the Senior class advisor, commissioned Seniors to keep God as the focus of their lives. He concluded the chapel with the help of two "pets" who had gathered advice from the Senior Class Council.

Dr. Hall shares words of wisdom from the Senior Class Council via his two "pets."

About fifty Seniors escaped to the Pilgrim Pines Conference and Retreat Center in New Hampshire for this year's Senior Retreat. Beach volleyball, ultimate frisbee, basketball, kayaks, canoes, golf, and wiffle ball provided a weekend of action-packed fun! Friday night, marshmallows were roasted by a super hot bonfire, and Saturday night the full Senior slide show was viewed. A polaroid scavenger hunt left people wet, sandy, with acorns up their noses, and bruised from falling out of trees. "Bonnie" left Janie with a mouthful of marshmallows, Tandi as a teapot, and Jen McKay with a face full of shaving cream. A freak plague of the frog left some with surprises in their cabins. Overall, the weekend proved to be a time full of both laughs and reflection.

Who's Who

K E E P E R S   O F   T H E   F L A M E

Twenty-one Seniors were selected to Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities. These students were chosen because of their commitment not only to academics, but also to the community of ENC through participation in a variety of activities. Fully representing the many outlets for growth at this institution, these students have shown a flame for Christ. As they carry this flame with them into their individual futures, may they spread that burning desire to serve Christ as they have spread it here.

Christine J. Yee

Wow! It is hard to believe that I am graduating already! As a freshman, it sometimes seems as if it will take forever to get through college. In retrospect, I realize how quickly it goes by. My four years at ENC have been wonderful, filled with awesome experiences and opportunities. In addition to gaining a fine liberal arts education, I learned many things about life in general during my time here. I have learned...that it is important to take time out of our busy schedules to "stop and smell the roses" (this is easy to do in springtime at ENC when the rosebushes are in full bloom!)...that learning should be a lifelong process...that friendships are valuable and to be cherished...that if we simply ask and put our trust in Him, God always provides us with just the right amount of strength to get through whatever trials we may face...that God is generous in pouring out His blessings on us. One of the most important lessons I have learned is what it means to be truly successful in life. True success lies not in what we do for a vocation, but in who we are. What is more important than being well-educated or having a good career is that we are vessels of God's love, compassion, and grace to every person we come in contact with. In the words of hymn writer Ira B. Wilson,

*Make me a blessing; Make me a blessing.
Out of my life may Jesus shine.
Make me a blessing,
O Saviour, I pray.
Make me a blessing to someone today.*

Jeffrey Ayres

We are all students. We can choose to be college students, students of Christ, students of each other, or students of the world, but we have no choice in being students of life. The past four years have been invaluable to my education, but that pales in comparison to how it has affected my life and what I have learned about myself. I would like to thank those professors that not only taught me  $E=mc^2$  or  $V=IR$ , but also taught me how to learn, how to be a student, how to teach myself, and how not to quit until I understand. I would like to especially thank Dr. Free and Prof. Fish for all of their time and out of the classroom. Without your enthusiasm and compassion I'm not sure that I could have made it. To all of my friends: I love you all. Some of us have won together, lost together, ridden together and traveled together. Most importantly we have been together, and I will cherish every moment, every memory. Without my family I would have been lost. Mom and Dad, you have always been there to support and love me. Brandon, you are not only my brother but also my best friend. Tanya, you are always there when I need someone to listen. Most importantly, I would like to thank God, Lord of my life and savior. I thank him for his unbounded and unconditional love. No matter what I do or where I go, he will always be there waiting for me with open arms. As I leave this place, I will take with me the lessons that I have learned and prepare to enter a new level of education. After all, as a student of life, school is still in session.

Tandi Lehman

Recently I was asked, if I could make my college decision again, would I choose ENC? I must say the question caught me by surprise. The four years I have spent here have provided me with unmatched experiences. Thanks to Tillie, Libbie, Gary, Janet, Bethany, and Elva for helping me through these years. Would I do it all again? You betcha!

"But now, Lord, what do I look for? My hope is in you." (Psalm 39:7)

Krista M. White

When the teacher keeps you four minutes over classtime, it's unbearable; a four-hour J-term session is an eternity; the four weeks before Spring Break could pass for their own era in history. Recognition of these facts leaves me wondering how the last four years have flown by so quickly!

Four years ago I was not the person I am today, so surely some change has occurred even during the hasty passage of time. I have deepened my relationships with others--I have friendships I value dearly, individuals with whom I can share anything. I have deepened my appreciation for scholastic achievement for its own sake--indeed, little has had such a profound impact on my worldview than the recognition and valuing of other worldviews. And I have deepened my understanding of God--not necessarily to the point where it can be or perhaps even needs to be, but to the point where, for now, I confidently say I am His precious child and a servant of His will.

ENC has taught me about balance, about being a reliable friend, a conscientious student, a hard worker, a researcher with dedication, a daughter away from home, an individual and team-player, a musician and artist, a believer. Even so, from time to time I find myself caught in the trap of wondering what else I should have done, what else I could have crammed in. My answer is usually empty. In the past four years, which have been both fleeting and forever, I have done as much as I ever dreamed of. And the best news is that even better days are ahead!

Heather Beckwith

As I reflect on my four short years at E.N.C., I find myself (for once) speechless! How could it be nearly over already?

Who I am and who I am becoming is a product of everything I have experienced and everyone who has touched my life. I am immeasurably thankful for every experience I have had at E.N.C. I will be forever awed by the faculty I have been blessed to study under. I have benefited greatly from their labors of love. I owe my sanity to the intimate friends I have made in the past four years. I of course owe the deepest thanks to my family . . . both the one I was born into and the one that has warmly invited me into their lives. Both have always respected and encouraged me.

I cannot put into words all that I have learned from my experiences at E.N.C. I wholeheartedly believe in taking advantage of every opportunity that is offered. They won't always be there. Choose joy. Work hard, but always remember to take time to have a life!

Steve Miller

By now, my time at ENC is just a memory. But there's something I'm quite thankful for during these past four years: the gift of no regrets. Having no regrets is not to say that I didn't make any mistakes. In fact, it's just the opposite. I've made poor choices, and struggled with sins and doubts throughout college. But in all of these trials, and any successes I've had, I don't have regrets because I believe this is the path God has chosen for me to grow closer to Him. I believe I've learned more in my questions, shame, and mistakes than I would have if I never had experienced those feelings. And I'm slowly learning, "But where sin increased, grace abounded all the more."

I thank my family and friends for being such a part of my growth while at ENC. Dad and mom, you are the best. Dan, thanks for keeping me in first class all these years. Pete, Jesse, Eric, Trav, I will miss you all. Marcia, thanks for sticking by my side and putting up with me in good and tough times. Thanks to all the guys from ENC basketball and baseball teams, I will always cherish those times. God bless you all.

Heather Leah MacLeod

"In the end is my beginning": so reads the epitaph of T.S. Eliot, and although I'm certainly not planning on leaving this earth any time soon, the statement does reflect how I feel about the conclusion of my four years here at ENC! Few circumstances in my life have been as influential as my college experience, and I find myself leaving friends, favorite professors, and my "second home" to embark on new beginnings. I can't say that college has cleared up all of my confusions and uncertainties, but I can say that it has helped me better realize what questions are worth asking and what answers are worth pursuing. I owe so much of this to the professors who taught me to appreciate the beauty of books, music, and the rewards of dedication, and who opened their offices for me to ask, vent, and share; to friends who gave me study breaks and inside jokes and patted my back when I needed a good cry; and to my long-suffering family who sent notes of encouragement and packages of homemade cookies, who fixed my car and visited me when I was sick, and who knew how to tell me they were proud of me. I feel comfortable knowing that it is time to move on, and God's faithfulness that was so real to me at ENC will continue to be real in whatever I face in the future. He really does make everything beautiful in His time!

Jesse Casler

Well, you're here for four short years, and before you know it . . . you're looking back on your "college days." However, I feel like I have experienced ENC to its fullest, and now at the end I feel quite satisfied. ENC has given me the opportunity to travel abroad a number of times, to see other fascinating people and places. I was able to experience sports, drama, ministry, academics, and leadership. I have met some incredible people through these activities who have profoundly shaped me. Most importantly, ENC has allowed me to explore my own core values, who I really am. I have gained a wealth of spiritual depth and understanding of God while here. For this, I am forever grateful to ENC.

Kim Civiello

My journey at ENC has helped mold me into the person I have become and has left much to be thankful for. I have learned about myself, about others, and about God in an atmosphere that promoted my academic and spiritual excellence. I have been challenged and have discovered what it means to learn, to lead, and to obey. I am thankful for the guidance and compassion of my professors as they sought to bring out my best potential. I am thankful for my relationships as each has taught me the lessons and value of friendship. I am forever thankful for my loving and supportive family who have encouraged me and loved me. Most importantly, I am thankful for the way God has worked in my life. He has taught me that obedience and faith are essential, and that the plans He has for me are greater than my own. The strength that I have gleaned from each of these experiences will be carried into the future, as I confidently embark on the next journey of my life.

Mary-Elizabeth Hain

"Cut down my trunk and make a boat," said the tree. "Then you can sail away...and be happy." (The Giving Tree by Shel Silverstein) God has given me much more than I can ever deserve: a loving Christian family, supportive friends & mentors, miles of walking amidst joy & pain with Him. I've seen His face in the clouds, sunsets, the frail smile of an orphan child. I've felt His touch through a hug, a kiss & a held hand. I've heard His voice within calm breezes and raging storms, waves of many waters, His song, the silence. I've witnessed His fragrance amongst the unkempt poor and their flowers sweet aroma. All of these combined have given me just a taste of God's goodness. Because He gave, I have reason to give to others. Because He loves, I am compelled to love whatever the cost. He gave me the world that I might play and be happy. He was willing to dance, so I tried, I even stepped on His toes at times. With Him shall I swing forever.

"I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me." Philippians 4:13

Jennifer Roes

There are several things I learned in college, and none of them came from textbook.

First, the only opinions of you that matter are God's and yours. Second, worrying about things will not do anything, except maybe give you a killer headache. "Therefore I tell you, do not worry about your life...Who of you by worrying can add single hour to his life?" (Matthew 6:25,27). Third, there is a fine line between being productive and being busy. Productive is good. Busy is not. Make time for the things and people, that really matter. It sounds ironic, but schedule relaxation time in your planner if you have to. Fourth, never assume you know where your life is headed. I spent my first two years at a school which was everything I had looked for--a big school, near New York, with a journalism major. I never in a million years dreamed I'd end up at ENC. But life has a funny way of changing your course when you're not paying attention. I have no idea where my life will take me in the next few months, but I'm almost sure I will enjoy the new experiences I'm bound to have.

To Mom, Dad, Chris, Noelle, and Todd--even though I don't always show it, I love you guys more than anything. I couldn't have accomplished the things I have without you. Thanks for the help.

Bryan Murphy

As my senior year comes to an end, I have been evaluating my time here at ENC. I remember my first day as a freshman and how I realized my life would never be the same as it was, and it hasn't been. My experience here has taught me facts, historical dates and principles determining the way the world works, but I have learned infinitely more. I have learned how to think for myself and to analyze every bit of information that is presented to me. I have been taught to question everything for the purpose of knowing the truth, and then to be able to explain to others why it is that I believe the way I do. ENC has also made it possible for me to grow spiritually. I believe I leave college with a more intellectually-based faith, that is nonetheless full of trust. I would like to thank Dr. Shea for imparting so much knowledge to me, but more than this, for his unwavering commitment to me as his student, and for the example of Christ-likeness that he shows at all times. Thanks also to my friends who have shared so much of themselves and who have taught me more than I could ever express. To my family, thank you for supporting me through everything and making the last four years possible. Finally, I must thank my Lord Jesus Christ who is continually by my side and who is ready and willing to catch me when I fall. I have a peace and hope for the future because I know He is with me. Goodbye ENC; try not to miss me too much.

Melissa L. Ladd

Most people who know me also know that ENC was not my first choice for an undergraduate education. After much mature pouting, I came to the realization that this is where God had placed me, and perhaps I had better look for the opportunities He would present to me while I was here. You can pretty much make any situation in your life what you want it to be, depending on your attitude when handling it. I have discovered many positives throughout my education and growth here at ENC. There are, however, many "positives" I missed as a result of my negative attitude at times. As painful as it is to own up to, life really is what you make of it--there are no excuses or cop-outs. I would like to thank ENC for the many "character building experiences" I have gone through, both willingly and unwillingly. To my friends, thank you for the sometimes needed reprieve from the daily grind. To my parents, thank you for all your love and support and allowing me to bring "my person" home on weekends. And most importantly, I would like to thank God for never letting go of me, even when I struggled the most.

Shauna K Goss

"... but if you once call Him in, He will give you the full treatment. That is why He warned people to 'count the cost' before becoming Christians. 'Make no mistake,' He says, 'if you let Me, I will make you perfect. The moment you put yourself in My hands, that is what you are in for. Nothing less, or other, than that. You have free will, and if you choose, you can push Me away. But if you do not push Me away, understand that I am going to see this job through.'" --from The Joyful Christian by C.S. Lewis

In searching my heart for thoughts to share, nothing has seemed to equal the profundity of this simple, yet everlasting promise. I have read and reread these lines and have pondered them, attempting a conclusion on their significance for my life. Upon reflection, I have realized that my experience of this promise has affected every other experience on my journey, particularly my journey of the past four years. I have found freedom in reaching up and taking hold of the hand that God has extended to me, knowing that He is using each opportunity, struggle, and challenge that I face to perfect me for His glory. In this surrender I find a peace, a comfort, an acceptance. Most significantly, I am excited to be discovering the joy in the journey, the joy in desiring to take each step exactly in time with God.

God is holding me, is holding us, in His hands and is working out His perfect plan for each of our lives! Philippians 1:3-6

Philip Rotz

It seems like just last month that I was lugging boxes up to third Shields, anxious to begin my Freshman year. The difficulty these not-so-capable hands experienced putting my computer table together that first afternoon is still clear in my mind. As my mother struggled to hang curtains in my first dorm room, I could have never dreamed I would be finishing my ENC experience with a semester at Oxford. God has been good, and I have received much more than I deserved.

Indeed, my four years at ENC have too quickly passed before and beyond me. I will always remember the Wollaston campus as a place of growth. A place where many of the staff, the faculty, and my fellow students invested their time and a bit of themselves in my learning and my life. I am honored and humbled by their interest, care, and kindness.

In particular, the professors in the History Department have been teachers in every sense of the word. Under their able direction, I have learned a great deal about my discipline during my four years here. However, they have been more than scholars I could respect--they have been true mentors, wise counselors, and fine role models. For their continuing availability, authenticity and friendship I am ever grateful.

My debts are many--and I am not referring to Student Accounts. I have been blessed by relationships with faculty and staff that extend beyond the classroom and the campus. So many individuals in this community have purposefully mingled their lives with mine, prodding me, partnering with me, believing in me, and praying for me. I thank God for their example; I am better for their efforts--and, though words fail me, I am appreciative beyond expression.

Barbara Harris

If there is anything I've had to learn at college, it is that it's full of deadlines. Each week seems to be a frantic race to get things done in time: to complete a paper, study for a test, or read a few chapters in a textbook. With so many things on my list of to-do's, most of the time I save each item right up until the time it's due, always left wondering, "How did that creep up so quickly?"

I think college is sort of a deadline, too. I have had years to prepare me for the final, all-important deadline: graduation. Yet here I am, staring into that glaring light at the end of the tunnel, wondering how I've managed to complete four wonderful years of spiritual and intellectual growth at ENC and not feel ready for graduation day.

Without various people in my life, I could have never even gone halfway. Thanks to my English professors for believing I could do better than I ever thought I could; to the Fish's for giving me a second home; to my friends for keeping me entertained; to William for love and friendship; and to my family for just about everything, especially for teaching me to thank God for everyone else!

Melissa R. Roberts

Four Years? Already? Where does time go? It has been my pleasure to be a part of the campus of Eastern Nazarene College for these last four years and a honor to be able to have held as many student offices as I have held. As I reflect upon my times here, I recall the many laughs I have had and the tears I have shed. I have been challenged academically and spiritually, in ways that have proven to help make me a stronger person for the future. I have sometimes been pushed, and often shoved beyond my comfort zone which has allowed my horizons to broaden and my values to change. The support of the ENC community and my home church, the Wollasto Church of the Nazarene, has made it possible for me to participate in the many activities that have helped to shape my world view and my future. My thanks go especially to my parents, for their love and support for the last 22 years, my friends who have been there for me both here and on the international scene, and my Church family for their continued prayers and support through all of my endeavors these last four years. Of course, most of all, my praise goes to the one who created my very being and knows me better than I know myself, Jesus Christ.

"For I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me."

Londie Roque

God is so good and so faithful. Even when we feel alone, we are not, for the Father is with us... (John 16:32)... What a wonderful promise! As I've made my journey these past four years, I've come to see that God does not necessarily give us clarity, but a peace and quiet confidence as we put our hope and trust in Him. A thankful heart cannot help but be the outflow of a heart with full trust in God. I think the essence of our faith comes down to this--a hope and trust in God and His sovereignty. I challenge you as Brennan Manning challenged me... May all your expectations be crushed, your plans be frustrated, and your desires be thwarted so that you might come to know more and more of the Lord Jesus and His plans!

"My soul, wait for God alone, for my expectation is from Him." Psalm 62:5

Amanda Boel

One of the most valuable lessons I have learned while at ENC has not been about academics. It has been about freedom. First, I had to learn and experience the freedom that Jesus Christ has given to each one of us before I could truly be successful. Once that freedom was realized and accepted, "the chains fell off, my heart was free" and the doors of my heart and life flew open. Then and only then could I become a victorious servant of my Father.

Music is an extremely challenging discipline, but one I love very dearly. It provides a wonderful outlet to express those things that are deep inside. My studies in Cove and the direction of the music faculty taught me that freedom of the heart directly affects freedom of music. My favorite song to sing in high school was called "The Melody Within." Finally I can sing that song and mean every single word. Thank you God, and thank you Eastern Nazarene College.

~ "There was a melody locked deep inside of me, but now it's free. It found a place embraced by harmony, sweet harmony. Love more than anything teaches our hearts to sing. Only Love could break the shell, now I know very well the Love within myself." ~

Melissa Kelley

During my years at ENC I have had so many encounters and experiences that have shaped my life. I am profoundly thankful for:

my parents, for teaching me to live my faith,
Dr. McCormick, for teaching me to think about my faith,
Rev. Mary Paul for teaching me to lead a thinking community in worship,
Gaithersburg and Bethel Churches of the Nazarene for trusting me to practice ministry,
The Romania Studies program and the ENC stage for allowing me to explore myself in worlds I never would have encountered otherwise,
The departments of Psychology and Sociology for teaching me to love and respect the process of life in this world,
Rev. Mike Schutz for helping me sort through it all,
Friends and peers who were gracious and forgiving to me along the journey, and especially Tony for promising to explore Life with me.

Melody Twitchell

In coming to college, I knew that I would be learning many things, but I don't think I fully comprehended the extent of what I would learn. There is much more than book knowledge to be discovered during the course of a college career! Among these discoveries was the importance of family and friends ("It's so much friendlier with two!" -Pooh); the tremendous significance of music in my life ("Without music, life is a journey through a desert." -Pat Conroy); and perhaps most importantly how very real and profound the words of the children's song are to me - "Jesus loves me, this I know, for the Bible tells me so."

BACCALAUREATE

Baccalaureate - a farewell address delivered to a graduating class. This year's service fulfilled its definition, signifying to the Seniors that their time at ENC was indeed coming to a close. Pastors who are fathers of graduating seniors participated in the service in leading prayer and reading of the scripture. The Chamber Singers and the A Cappella choir performed two pieces. President Hill spoke about the demands of truth in this postmodern age. Seniors left feeling a bit nostalgic for the past and hopeful for the future.

Commencement 1999

The temperature was soaring for the 1999 Commencement Exercises along with the hearts of those graduating. Always a day of mixed emotions, Seniors contemplated the past and pondered the future as degrees were conferred by President Hill, Academic Dean Kale, and Dallas Mucci, Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Londie Roque receives her degree with a smile. President of the senior Class, Londie also presented the Senior Class Gift, an endowed scholarship that will continue to grow and give to future students.

The General Superintendent of the Nazarene Church of the Nazarene presented the Commencement Address.

The A Cappella choir performed three choral selections: Angelus Domini, Battle of Jericho, and the appropriate, My Times Are in Thy Hands. For Seniors, this proved to be a final, bittersweet performance with the choir.

Dr. Cameron and students on the Freedom Trail in Boston.

Dr. Cameron at Pemaquid in 1994.

Dr. James Cameron graduated from Eastern Nazarene College in 1951, and immediately began teaching in ENC's Academy. While he was teaching, he earned his Master's and his Doctorate from Boston University. Somehow, in his forty-eight years of teaching, Dr. Cameron found time to write two books about the history of Eastern Nazarene College. The Dr. Cameron as a student was known for his canny pranks, as a professor he became known for his wit and for his Hitler impersonation, complete with a mustache. Dr. Cameron has chosen this year to retire from teaching. All who knew him appreciate the time he spent at ENC and will miss him!

Mr. Anderson Rearick has also chosen this year to retire. He has been Director of Security for the past eight years. Mr. Rearick formerly served as a pastor in New York for 14 years, following a 24-year career with the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Mr. Rearick's colleagues, as well as E&NC faculty and staff, will remember him as friendly and easy to talk to. We will miss Mr. Rearick, and we hope he enjoys retirement!

1935 - 1998

Dr. Knox taught at Eastern Nazarene College as an Education Professor for twelve years and also served as Undergraduate Department Chair. This tribute comes from the hearts of those who loved her dearly and will miss her dearly.

Lois was an educator exemplar. Any task done for her classroom or the Education Division was done thoroughly and lovingly with her ultimate goal being to serve God to the best of the abilities given to her; and she had many. The confidence she exhibited in her work helped those with whom she worked and taught to pursue excellence and strive to always give their best. She was very giving of her time and talents as related to her professional work. Lois truly had a teacher's heart which was clearly evident in all her work in and out of the classroom.

As a person, Lois was greatly to be admired. She was known for the care and concern that was actively demonstrated and so generously given to the lives of others. She was an example of a life dedicated and committed to serving others. One could clearly see the compassion Lois had for those to whom she listened. She had unlimited energy in service to others. Many were able to enjoy a loaf or two of the home-made bread - the beating of which helped with the frustrations that come with living. Lois was a true friend and completely gave of herself to those whom she considered her friends, which were many.

Probably the most admired characteristic of Lois' life was her commitment to her Lord. Whenever there was an urgent need for a special prayer Lois was called upon to offer requests to the Lord. When praying or talking about the Lord with Lois, one felt a sense that Christ was right there in the conversation. It was almost as if there was a direct line to God. Lois clearly understood that the heart that serves is the heart that truly loves Jesus. Lois was devoted to her husband, family, friends, community, ENC, but most importantly to her God. Lois now has found her rest and is sitting next to her precious Lord who lovingly says to her, "Well done my good and faithful servant." (Thank you to Professor Lorue Ranstrom for his remarks.)

As our first year at Eastern Nazarene comes to a close, I'm reminded of how many blessings God has given us throughout this year. Our class has come together to form a circle of close friends that will share many more good times through our years here at ENC. Never forget the Christmas party in Spange, Floor Feud, ice skating at the Boston Commons (some for the first time!), loads of candygrams, and most importantly, our class chapels where we worshipped God together as a class. Although there may have been some trials, God has been there to lift us up and remind us of what's truly important. To know Him better and love each other as He loves is our hearts' cry as a class and as friends. With that - "I thank my God every time I remember you. In all my prayers for all of you, I always pray with joy because of your partnership in the gospel from the first day until now, being confident of this, that he who began a good work in you will carry it on to completion until the day of Christ Jesus." It has been the goal of the Sophomore Class Council to provide many diverse forms of opportunities for our class to benefit from. These opportunities have included occasions of fun, prayer, and of service. We have come to understand that the elements of the latter two are the areas that serve most effectively in building and shaping this class into the community that God wants it to be. We, the class council, have truly been blessed to serve this class and watch God's hand guide and direct in the midst of it all. It is my prayer that this class would seize the promise of God's blessing and live accordingly as an example of Christ's love for all to see throughout the years to come.

In one's college career, the Junior year is one of critical importance. The initial excitement of being in college has worn off and one is now faced with questions about future plans beyond ENC. For the Junior Class Council, this year has been tiring, but full of laughter and memories. Most of all, I believe that it has been a tremendous learning and growing experience. Our time wasn't spent solely on selling pizzas, picking up trash, or delivering roses, but in creating relationships amongst each other and with all of the juniors who provided us with endless support. Most of all, I believe that each of us owe our gratitude and love to our advisor, Dr. Philip McLaren. He provided our council with constant guidance in our business adventures and more importantly, our spiritual focus. My personal life will be forever changed by the memories and lessons that these wonderful friends have given me.

HARBOR CRUISE

From murder and mayhem to Zoot suits and Karaoke, this year's Harbor Cruise was a smashing success. This annual event held aboard the Spirit of Boston was given a 1920's theme that had 1990's students swinging. Besides the usual mix of great food, interesting outfits and brave Karaoke singers, a 1920 murder mystery was acted out. This new idea added fun and suspense to the Harbor Cruise. Thanks to Stephanie Sipe and the SGA Council - the 1998 Harbor Cruise was unforgettable.

Homecoming Court

In 1998, Homecoming was celebrated a little differently. The theme of the weekend was "From This Moment." Alumni, students and faculty were challenged to reflect upon their lives and how they were going to live, from this moment on. Some unforgettable moments of Homecoming 1998 were the annual street fair and soccer game, Alumni basketball, and of course, Coronation. Coronation was a time of reflection and sharing. The reigning King and Queen returned to pass down the crown and talk about what God had been doing in their lives. This set the stage for the King and Queen of 1998. When crowned, they both gave a short acceptance speech, infused with personal testimony. Once again Homecoming was a heartwarming and fun-filled weekend for everyone involved.

From This Moment

Homecoming King Jesse Casler

It has been my privilege to serve as ENC's Homecoming King for the past year. As these years come to a close for me, I remember all the incredible times we had together. From spontaneous, we have made the most of our time at ENC. I love this school and the people here dearly. Thank you for electing my future wife, Krista White, to be my Homecoming Queen. May the Lord go with you as we leave this place.

Coronation 1998

Homecoming Queen Krista White

"But I'll Make you Queen for the Day!"

When my sister and I were young, making each other "Queen for the Day" was always the best way to resolve our conflicts of interest. If I really, really wanted something (and be the teacher, too, by the way), and she didn't, then I'd sway the scales in my favor by offering to make her Queen for the Day tomorrow. Or, if she really, really wanted to make a Fisher Price car, and I didn't, she could tempt me by making me Queen for the Day. It was a nice system.

Of course, being Queen for the Day wasn't all that it was cracked up to be. Being innocent, we never exploited our reigns. The honor primarily consisted of being asked to imperially request, in our most British of voices, "fetch my slippers," which the servant dutifully fetched after which time we promptly forgot our self-proclaimed honor.

Well, this year I again got to be Queen for the Day. Thank you for this privilege! It also was a lot of fun and an incredible experience (although I now recall that I never found a good opportunity to have someone fetch my slippers). In any case, my time here at ENC was one long experience of learning, growth, friendship, and chaos. Homecoming 1998 was a wonderful addition to my mixed bag of memories. Indeed, my deep hope is that we will continue to learn how to honor our "castes" and that we all will choose to move on in the knowledge of our precious, royal inheritance through Christ Jesus!

Date Auction

On February 21, 1999, AWS and held their second annual Date Auction. This year's auction was a huge success. Spectators flocked to this event to watch the dollars fly and maybe to get a date for themselves. The lady bidders were the driving force behind the auction. Bidding was fast and furious, and senior Ben George made history. He was bought by Angela Attardo for $100, making that the highest price ever paid for a date at the auction. If you want to get the chance to buy a date this year, have no fear! - Remember this is an auction event!

Pirates of Penzance

The Pirates of Penzance is a satirical operetta that was written by Gilbert and Sullivan. For over a century, this swashbuckling and rousing musical has kept audiences entertained. The Pirates' run at ENC was no exception. Leaning heavily on the musical's satirical base, the Pirates was presented in a cartoon motif. ENC students once again outdid themselves and put on a spectacular performance.

Frederic and Mabel find true love!

The Major General Stanley's daughters are taken by surprise.

Ruth has her hands full trying to pacify the Pirate King.

The Pirates show us that even criminals can kick up their heels!

Camping Trip

This year the camping trip took place at Lake Ossipee in New Hampshire, and it was a great time. We only had 13 people because of the poor weather and the long weekend, but those few brave souls made the best out of the situation, going so far as to make S'mores in the fireplace. We played a big game of mud football in the pouring rain as soon as we arrived, and continued to deal with muddy conditions throughout the weekend. However, we also had a chance to go kayaking, canoeing, and a few even took a dip in the lake. In the evenings, we rented some videos and had a good time watching movies and discussing some of the issues. That was followed by several games of "Mafia" where Jim "Jimbo" Drolett was a prime suspect. The highlight of the weekend was the final day when everyone participated in roller hockey. Lake Ossipee has access to a beautiful facility, and they provided all of our equipment, with the exception of roller blades. On the way home, we had a feast at the "The Yankee Smokehouse", which capped a great bonding weekend for all who participated.

-Steve Miller

Pack your bags, you're going to Disney World!!! That phrase echoed through the minds of vacation-hungry ENC students who had signed up for the first annual Suitcase Party. Students lined up outside of Canterbury Hall, waiting for the party to begin. Every student came with a traveling companion and a packed suitcase. One lucky pair would be chosen to leave immediately from the party and fly down to Florida for a Disney Weekend. The tension was thick, and the confidence levels were high, as students taunted one another, so sure that they would be chosen. Finally at 4:15, it was time. The winners? Miranda Metcalfe and Kara White!! The girls had a great time, and despite losing, many students look forward to next year's party.

TESTOSTERONE NIGHT

AMS sponsored Testosterone Night. It was a macho event, with wrestling impersonations, and demonstrations of the real brute strength during the arm wrestling competition. The best part of the night was the raid made by a group of women powered females. The madness that followed will go down in history as a classic battle of the sexes!!

Estrogen girls (F-B, L-R): Becky Galbraith, Heidi Swensen, Tricia Lightcap, Melissa Easton, Andrea Long, Toni Kabilian, Chrissy Tsepas, Mary Teresa Damata, Lauren Livziey, Debbie Reynolds, Amy Cyr, Jamie Jackson, and Kim Tharp.

ev Miller, Eric Paashaus, and Jesse Casler. Are we supposed to be seeing muscles or something?

Foot Beer Keg

Foot Beer Keg Party was sponsored by SDO and RA's in conjunction with Alcohol Awareness Week. This event was designed to show college students that alcohol is not a necessary component of a fun party.

Madness erupts after the girls raided Testosterone night!

Becky Galbraith and Mary Teresa Damata - having too much fun!

Mr. ENC

On Monday, November 14th, the excitement was high, and the tension was thick in the Student Center Auditorium. Twelve nervous young men waited in the wings, ready to make their stage debut. An eager audience awaited the beginning of the contest that would determine which lucky guy would be crowned. These men delighted the audience with a swimsuit competition, talent segment, and a formal wear fashion show. The competition was fierce, but there was one man who stood out and was crowned with the distinction of Mr. ENC, 1998. This year, the honor and the honor went to Mr. Dan Wyborne.

Senior Dan Wyborne shows us the impressive build that helped him clinch the title.

Freshman Ryan Flowers shares a little too much.

Greg Newman seems to have a way to the beach.

Tom, does Robin know that you borrowed her bathing suit?

Mike Lyle and Scott Milne show off their flashy moves.

The theme of the 1999 Ms. Munro pageant was "World Travelers." Once again, the ladies of NC showed that they have many hidden talents and skills. The girls outdid themselves in several areas of the pageant, but the most outstanding aspect of the evening was the level of creativity shown by the participants. From traveling the globe to aliens and professors, these world travelers were a unique blend. The top honor of the night went to Miss. Jessica Vallese, who gladly accepted the crown from Miss. Munro 1998, Rhonda Lajoie.

Hawaiian beauties Glaphre Anson, Amy Cyr, Carolyn Figard & Lynette Heckman.

Michael Payne, Sam Young, Jason Blake & Phil Rotz the ladies with music.

Once again AWS made the Big Sister/Little Sister a successful event. A hula party kicked off the year in style. Freshmen little sisters got to meet their big sisters for the first time as they were picked up for the party. Things went so well that AWS held a big sister/little sister reunion sleepover later on in the year.

POWDER PUFF

Rec Life sponsors many events throughout the year, and a favorite is always Powder Puff Football. Powder Puff gives the Lady Crusaders a chance to break out their eye black and play some serious football. This year, for the first time, ENC played against Gordon. The Crusaders were in top form, easily defeating Gordon. While a great deal of credit goes to the athletic skill of the girls, we must also recognize the hard work of the coaches. This year, Dan Wyborney and Charlie Luong led the team to its victory. If you missed this year's game, have no fear, the ENC/Gordon Powder Puff game has become tradition!!

The 1999 Powder Puff team after its victory over Gordon!

Colonel's Coffeeshouse

This year was one of change at ENC. The fishbowl was remodeled into a coffeeshouse for the enjoyment of students. SGA took on this project, but it was mainly run by Londie Roque and Missy Roberts. Londie and Missy went out of their way to renovate the fishbowl and get students involved. The result was amazing. The coffeeshouse is a beautiful and comfortable area for everyone to enjoy. After a hard work and renovating, the coffeeshouse needed a name. It became obvious that it should be called the Colonel's Cafe after Colonel Saunders. The day of 80th birthday, the coffeeshouse had it's grand opening, and celebrated in style. Colonel has been an inspiration and a friend to countless students. What an honor it is to have someone like him on campus!

YOU CAN'T TA

The Spring Production this year was "You Can't Take It With You." "You Can't Take It With You" is a comedy set in New York during the depression. The play deals with the Sycamore family, who aren't the most normal people. Their amusing way of life captivates the audience and charms viewers. ENC students did an incredible job with this play and made the characters come alive. From a ballerina in training (who is not that good), to a Russian dance teacher, and a wise and loving patriarch, Grandpa, the Sycamore family teaches us a lesson. The feel good lesson the audience takes home is to live life to the fullest and enjoy what you have now, because you can't take it with you.

Lip Sync

The Lip Sync once again kicked off Spring Fever Weekend. On May 21st, the last day of classes, students showed us their best imitations or just showed up to watch. The evening was a success, filled with hits like "I Will Survive" and "The Boy Is Mine." However, the highlight of the night was the Backstreet Boys. The last act of the night, they stole the show and all the girls hearts. Congratulations goes out to our winners, the Backstreet Boys.

Runners up and the Winners pose together.

Jen, Deanna and Lynne tell us that "Breaking Up Is Hard to Do."

Kevin and Andy turn in an "Unforgettable" performance.

April and Roisin groove to "Whatta Man."

Bill and John Paul can't let go.

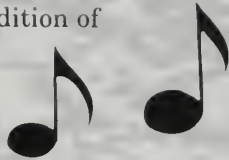

Mary-Elizabeth struts her stuff in 1st Munro's rendition of "Why Haven't I Heard From You?"

Alex will do anything to get a Spring Fever t-shirt, including playing the piano with his toes!

It's somewhat frightening how well these guys imitated the Backstreet Boys.

Heidi belts out "I Will Survive."

Fans go wild over the Backstreet Boys. Thank goodness they had security on hand!

I wouldn't want to get in the middle of this one! Runners up, these girls performed a talented lip-sync to "The Boy Is Mine."

Junior Senior

Isn't that special? Mike Paul feeds Holly Shook a strawberry.

The 1999 Junior Senior Banquet was held at the Tremont Hotel in Boston. The theme of the night was "These Are the Days To Remember." The banquet is an annual event hosted by the Junior Class as a way to honor the Seniors. This year, the banquet was a smashing success, and everyone had a great time. The entertainment was the highlight of the evening, featuring Geneze and various Seniors. Among this group of talented Seniors was the trio of Steve Deltredici, Steve Miller, and Jesse Casler. They performed a rousing rendition of "My Little Buttercup" that had everyone singing. One must not forget the slide show and the infamous Senior superlatives that closed the evening. This was definitely a night for everyone to remember.

STAR

The Ground Memorial Narcoleptic Foundation.

Who knew ENC had so many stars? Obviously someone did! ENC students were encouraged to showcase their talents in the annual Star Search Competition. The host of the evening was Johnny Showcase, who amazed the crowd with his stunning gold jumpsuit. Not to be outdone, the performers gave their all and really got the crowd going. There were two categories of judging, serious and comedic. For serious, the Ground Memorial Narcoleptic Foundation took first prize. For comedic, Valarie Day stole the show as well as first prize.

Valarie Day is "Every Woman."

Jesse and Jim Casler sing "I'm a Wayfaring Stranger."

Kevin Brennan, Tim Taylor and Jake Hall show their musical talent.

Summer Ministries

Summer Ministry teams travel to regional churches and camps ministering to adults and children alike. Members interview for the opportunity to spend the entire summer, every hour of every day, with the same four or five people. But hey, it's all work done for the Lord!

Sibiu, a small town in central Romania, is the heart of ENC's Romanian Studies Program. Students have the opportunity to spend a semester or the month of January there. While taking classes, students volunteer in orphanages, with an after-school children's program, in construction and maintenance, and in various other capacities where they can witness to Romanians. Romania has proven to be a place of reflection and life changes for many of those who travel there.

Women of Worth

The juvenile detention center ministry started in December of 1998 at the Cornerstone home for girls. We visit the girls for an afternoon every other week bringing a positive activity for in which the girls can participate. The time we spend there includes activities such as ice breakers, group discussions, crafts and music. Our mission is to show these girls Christ's love. Our theme for this year has been Women of Worth.

"...I was in prison and you came to visit me... I tell you the truth whatever you did for one of the least of these brothers of mine, you did for me." ~ Matthew 25: 36, 40

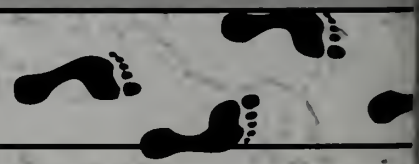

"The King will reply, 'I tell you the truth, whatever you did for the least of these brothers of mine, you did for me.'"

Matthew 25: 40

Open Hand Open Heart

Open Hand Open Heart is a ministry designed to open the eyes and hearts of college students to the needs of homeless men and women in Boston. A diverse group of ENC-ers meet on Saturdays or Sundays each week to minister to these precious people. We give out bologna and cheese sandwiches, bananas, and orange juice. To feed their physical needs, we also give clothes and blankets. We witness to our special friends about the love of Jesus Christ while being respectful of their personal lives. At the same time, these less fortunate people minister to us with their smiles and gratitude.

Nursing Home Ministry

The Nursing Home Ministry is a time to share and also to be witnessed to. Every Monday night, we go to the Presidential Nursing Home in Quincy. We visit with the elderly and share with them God's love in a variety of ways. Each of us has grown by listening to the elderly tell stories of their lives. The people we visit range from authors to Broadway dancers, each one teaching us the value of life. We are sometimes the only visitors they see. Even just a smile or a quick hello means the world to them. It's an opportunity to grow in our Christian walk and to share it with others.

Mike Mc Farland, Jon Angell, Kendra Marshall, Jeff Mello, Jamie Jackson, Sarah Rozga, Eric Paashaus, Lauren Krikorian & Erin Culbertson.

"If you have any encouragement from being united with Christ, if any comfort from his love, if any fellowship with the Spirit, if any tenderness and compassion, then make my joy complete by being like-minded, having the same love, being one in spirit and purpose. Do nothing out of selfish ambition or vain conceit, but in humility consider others better than yourselves. Each of you should look not only to your own interests, but also to the interests of others. Your attitude should be the same as that of Christ Jesus..."

Philippians 2:1-5

Verse of the Week

This has been a busy year! Although there were few members of Verse of the Week, I was truly blessed by the members and our meetings in which we shared prayer requests and meaningful verses. I pray that all of you were blessed as well by the verses that were chosen and placed around campus. I thank all those who were involved in Verse of the Week and hope for even more successful years in the future

Kid's Club

Kid's Club had another great year of ministry to children from Germantown. Many ENC students sacrificed the Wednesday nights to spend time playing games, doing crafts, and sharing Jesus with many excited and energetic kids. It is not an easy ministry, but it is very rewarding. The bonds that are made between these children and the ENC staff are strong and enduring, truly impacting both parties. All of us who have helped with this ministry have had our lives changed due to the interaction we have had with these kids.

Best Buddies

Best Buddies is in its second year at ENC. This year we grew and helped facilitate friendships between eleven college students and individuals in the community with mental retardation. Through monthly one-on-one activities and group activities many of these pairings have grown into extraordinary friendships. Sarah Rozga and her buddy were one of the highlights as they spoke together to represent Best Buddies for the entire state of Massachusetts. As a group, we met together for parties, plays, and picnics. The Lord watched out for us the entire year.

Children's Ministry

This year, we adopted the name "Soldiers with Little Feet" to signify our message to kids. This message is that no matter how small or insignificant a child may feel, God loves that child individually and can still work through him or her. We travel to area churches performing puppet skits, making crafts, playing games, and experiencing loads of action packed excitement! New and veteran members made the year interesting and a lot of fun.

Abase

to humble yourself

The Lord has called us to be humble in everything we do. He has blessed us with many gifts and talents, so we must humble ourselves and exalt him in every aspect of our worship. Dancing is an extension of our worship. Some may worship and praise God through dance as we humble ourselves before Him.

"Likewise, you that are younger be subject to the elders. Clothe yourself, as of you, with humility toward another, for God opposes the proud but give grace to the humble."

Genéze

Genéze is french for Genesis, which means new beginning. With different majors and diverse interests, there is a common ground of two stringholds. First and foremost, each member holds a love for Christ Jesus. Secondly, the love for music. Genéze is racially and culturally mixed along with a unique blend of musical talent of rock, R&B, soul and a little bit of jazz. This helps them to minister to many different tastes.

"So from now on, we regard no one from a worldly point of view. Though we once regarded Christ in this way, we do so no longer. Therefore, if anyone is in Christ, he is a new creation; the old has gone, and the new has come! All this is from God, who reconciled us to himself through Christ and gave to us the ministry of reconciliation: that God has reconciled the world to Himself in Christ, not counting men's sins against them. And He has committed to us the message of reconciliation. We are therefore Christ's ambassadors, as though God was making His appeal through us. We implore you on Christ's behalf: be reconciled to God. God made him who had no sin to be sin for us, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God."

Musical Ensembles

Wind Ensemble

While the Wind Ensemble is comprised in part by music majors, the majority are non-music majors with an interest in pursuing excellence in instrumental music on an extracurricular basis. This year, they performed at a local mall, chapel services, and the Fall/Christmas Concert.

Jazz Ensemble

The Jazz Ensemble provides an outlet for those students with an interest in jazz and those who enjoy more improvisational styles of music to utilize their talents. The Jazz Ensemble toured some of the high schools in the Boston area, attempting to spark interest in jazz music among the high school student population.

Psi Chi

Psi Chi, the National Honor Society of Psychology, has had a good year. We've seen the induction of 11 new members and are proud to say that we've become a little more involved this year than in the past. Back in the fall, we sold fried dough during the Homecoming Street Fair to raise a little money and also to do something as a group. We held our annual inductions and Christmas party in December, and also got involved in a service project with SASW... over 200 Christmas gifts were bought and distributed to needy kids in the Quincy area! This spring, we sold pom-poms to frenzied Festival of Lifers and also held our spring party inductions. It has been a lot of fun!

"Therefore, as we have opportunity, let us do good to all people..."
Ephesians 6:10a

SASW

Student Assoc. of Social Workers

Through the hard work of a dedicated and creative council, SASW has accomplished much this school year. By planning monthly activities, SASW strives to involve social work majors in the school and community while creating a sense of unity among one another. Activities ranging from collecting and distributing Christmas gifts to needy area children to handing out hot chocolate and donuts at the T station have indeed left their mark on many individuals. SASW seeks to be the "silent giver" by enriching the lives of others through service.

"Rich and poor have this in common: the Lord is the Maker of them all."

History Club

The History Club is an organization of History majors and historically minded folk that centers on sponsoring activities that take advantage of historical places in the area. The year began by going to Dr. Yerxa's for ice cream. Later in the fall, the History Club visited the USS Constitution and the Mt. Auburn Cemetary in Cambridge. In April, the Club also organized a banquet to honor graduating Seniors. The year ended in a barbecue at Dr. Yerxa's house.

Rec. Life

This year in the Rec. Life Department, we tried to do more fun, free activities that would reach all types of students, in addition to the traditional intramural program. For instance, we had 16 compete in fantasy football league, free rock climbing and pool activities, and the inclusion of Testosterone Night. All of these events were successful and allowed a non-traditional intramural participant to get involved. We also tried to go beyond ENC, competing with Gordon in flag football and Powder Puff, as well as sending the J-term All-Stars to an intramural tournament at Boston University. These new events, combined with the regular tournament made for an exciting year in the Rec. Life department. Thank you for your participation.

Men's Soccer

The E.N.C. Men's Soccer team opened the 1998-99 season with a young and talented squad facing a season of uncertainties. Graduating 11 seniors the previous year, Coach Cawthorne had rebuilding, discipline, and learning on the team's agenda. Surrounded by a small nucleus of veteran players and new, young talent the Crusaders went into the season with great anticipation. The Crusaders consistently worked very hard throughout the season. Brad Gray was a huge surprise in goal as he earned the team's most improved player honors for the year. Senior Captains, Jason Dover and Todd Becker, showed great leadership throughout the year, especially in tough situations. Christian Huizenga, Chris Davidson, Mike Johnston, and Mike Lyle anchored the defensive side of the ball for the Crusaders. Dan Olsen led the team in scoring and points and was also voted to first team all conference honors. Brian Paolini, Jon Poole, Jeremy Patnode, Chris Wilson, Zach Miller and surprise walk-on, Dan Wyborney, provided the offensive and defensive contributions for the Crusaders. They will all be valuable assets to ENC soccer for the 1999 season. Each player on the Crusader roster demonstrated character and discipline through a difficult season. Their leadership, though tested at times, proved the catalyst that helped make everyone understand the meaning of team and of all the things that go with belonging to one. Hopefully, they will take every field experience and apply it to prepare for the 1999-2000 season. The Crusaders will only graduate two seniors, but both will be greatly missed on and off the field. With a strong nucleus of young talent and seasoned veterans, the Crusaders will definitely be in contention for another successful year. - Coach David Cawthorne

Women's Soccer

The Women's Soccer team completed their pioneer season with extreme dedication, and discipline which carried them through their season with many close games which really isn't reflected in their season record of 2-12-1. The Crusaders were led by captains, Jahnna Washburn, Vanessa Fries and Lorie Oliver. Captain Lorie Oliver led the team in goals this year along with great contributions from Melissa Christmas, Amy Sue Eash, Heather From, Vanessa Fries, and Jessica Piroq. Defensively, the team was also very strong and led by Jahnna Washburn, Kelly Talbot, Katie Brenton, and a rookie to the sport, Catie Reich. Throughout the season, they worked as a solid unit with Jody Gardner backing them in goal. Jody played every minute of every game and was herself a huge part of what the coach feels was an extremely successful season.

Women's Volleyball

The 1998-99 volleyball season ended on a high note as the Crusaders defeated U Mass Dartmouth 3-2 giving the team a record of 13-17. Seniors Amy Detwiler, Tandi Lehman, and Becky Young contributed strong leadership as well as consistent offense and defense throughout the season as well as their careers. Sophomore Andrea Long learned a new position this season and was a steady contributor. Eight freshmen joined this year's squad. Megan O'Donnell and Nicole Braddock shared setting responsibilities while Jennifer Nielson and Bethany LaPenta were effective as middle hitters. Nicole Wilson was a defensive specialist who played all three backrow positions very effectively. Jennifer Benedict, Pamela Christie, and Naomi Carrier worked hard as they learned a new system. Their work ethic enabled them to push their teammates to improve, thus contributing to a good season.

Cross Country

This year's team consisted primarily of first year runners who contributed a lot of enthusiasm and dedication to the team. For the returning runners, Mike Paul, Melissa Ladd, and Jen Witherow, this was their last season. Mike Paul led the men's team followed by Craig Brenner. The women's team was led by Melissa Ladd with Sarah Rozga not far behind. Mike Paul and Melissa Ladd placed fourth and seventh respectively at the CCC Invitational Meet. Jen Chew, Jen Witherow, and Clara Miller completed the top five for ENC at most meets. Andy Ivankovich, Mike Berry, and Shawn Kinney did the same for the men's team. Next year looks promising with both returning and incoming talent.

Men's Basketball

The 1998-99 Men's Basketball Team had some up's and down's this past season. After starting the first half of the season 1-7, the Crusaders came alive in January by beating two time Commonwealth Coast Champ Wentworth twice. The Crusaders also had impressive wins over Gordon and Roger Williams. The final record was 8-15. The Crusaders rallied behind the play of Steve Miller and Mike Santoro. Also giving outstanding contributions were Nate Trimble, Brian Deschaine, Dave Scott, and Brad Gray. Ben George and Joe Thompson did a fantastic job coming off the bench and giving a spark to the Crusader cause. The future looks bright for the Crusaders with young talent. The young talent consists of Eli Smith, James Kopp, and Brad Pavlik taking over the helm.

Women's Basketball

ENC returned plenty of veteran players to this season's squad. Guard play was the key to this year's success, with only one true forward on the team. We had lots of ladies playing different positions than they were used to. The Lady Crusaders finished the season with a record of 17-9, tied for first place in the South and tied for second overall in the Commonwealth Coast Conference. Junior Melissa Christmas was selected for first team all conference, Senior Wendy Young and Sophomore Jody Gardner were selected to the second team all conference. A strong class of freshmen were able to contribute to the year's success as both starters and key substitutes. This year's squad was made up of three seniors, Kelli Butterworth, Jen Roes, and Wendy Young, ENC's fifth 1,000 point scorer; two juniors, Melissa Christmas and Toni Kabilian; one sophomore, Jody Gardner; and four freshmen, Allyson Bohacs, Nicole Braddock, Lisa Delgado, and Cate Reich. -Coach Stutzman

Baseball

The Crusader Baseball season began with a 1-7 Florida trip and 7 straight New England losses separated by one victory. Freshman Shaun Reed notched his first college win to keep the Crusaders afloat while the team tried to overcome injuries with a makeshift line-up. Captains Tom Hogan and Chris O'Meara were lost in game 1 of the season and lead-off hitter Tim Johnson in game 3. Once healthy, the Crusaders rebounded to win 5 of their next 7 and ended the conference season with a double-header sweep of Nichols College that kept the Crusaders out of the play in round of the CCC tournament. ENC lost to Roger Williams 17-11 and finished 6th place, one spot better than last year's club. The Crusaders are looking forward to the return of Captains, Chris O'Meara (.352, 2nd Team All-CCC) and David Lindsay (.305, 22 RBI) as well as 3rd year catcher, Tim Brown (.283, 8 2B), but will need to fill the shoes of Seniors Tom Hogan and Steve Miller. Hogan finished with the team leads in runs scored, at-bats, doubles, put-outs, and was second on the team with 19 RBI. Miller ended his career as the all-time leader in stolen bases with 46. In his final campaign, he led the team with a .395 batting average and 32 hits to go along with 16 stolen bases. Miller was named First Team All Conference and CCC Senior Scholar Athlete of the Year.

Softball

The Crusader softball team bounced back from an 0-7 start to pick up 4 victories and build up confidence for the year 2000. The highlight of the season came on April 12th when ENC upset the #1 seed and eventual CCC champion, Salve Regina, 6-1 with an outstanding pitching performance by sophomore Stacey Braley. With only 2 seniors, ENC hopes to build for the future behind freshman, Katie Reich who finished with the team lead in 8 offensive categories, including a .350 batting average, 15 RBI, 6 doubles, 4 triples, and the only Crusader home run. Reich was nominated for CCC Rookie of the Year and received First Team All Conference honors. ENC also returns sophomore, Linnea Anderson who was voted to the CCC Second Team and freshman Kerry Skehan, who batted .281 and led the team with a .982 fielding percentage.

Men's Tennis

The 1999 Men's Tennis Team had all first year players this past season. The team displayed hard work and good effort throughout the season. The players had fun and opportunity to compete. The Crusaders were led by John Paul Perez and Mike McFarland. Both were number one and two in singles. The number three and four positions were Christian Popa and Mike Ferreira. The number five and six positions varied with Jason Lyle, Chad Silvewright, Andy Chapman, Alex Vilcapoma, and Scott Milne. The team displayed a lot of fight this past season. They should be extremely proud of the way they played in all of the matches. It looks to be an exciting season next spring.

Snapshots

Snapshot

Finally, the last page! I guess this is where I am supposed to impart some last editorial words of wisdom which I am sure each student will peruse with the utmost of interest. I have no great words of wisdom, so no need to feel badly for not reading this page. What I do have is a back full of tense muscles from sitting at this desk and typing and clicking and typing and clicking for hours on end. Really, I have enjoyed this year as your Nautilus editor. In some respects, I wish I could do it again next year learning from mistakes made this year and minus a "few" of the other responsibilities I had this year.

The theme of this year's book, Keepers of the Flame, is not a typical theme. I feel it is sort of hard hitting, but I also feel it represents (or should represent) what we are trying to accomplish in being students here at ENC. At this point in our lives, it becomes quite easy to be distracted by the material idols of this world. In our search for our "selves," our thoughts tend to focus on just that, ourselves. We can forget that it is indeed a higher purpose for which our lives are to be dedicated. I hope that as you look through this book, you may reflect upon this past year, your steps forward, your missteps, and even the times you fell flat on your face. Learning from these experiences and leaning on the support from a faith and focus on Christ, you can only improve your coordination. Steady your walk. Realize and keep that flame inside of you burning.

And thank you to all that took part in creating this yearbook. Thanks to the students who responded to my mailings and lent us some great pictures. I hope that you enjoy the book, and if you don't . . . then feel free to join the staff next year and make some concrete contributions!

In Christ,
Melissa L. Ladd
