BACCALAUREATE

A SYNOPSIS

DR. WILEY took his text from Phillipians the third chapter and the tenth and eleventh verses. "That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made comformable unto his death, if by any means I might attain unto the resurrection of the dead."

He pointed out the fact that the writer of these great lines, the Apostle Paul, had had the best in the education of his time and was one of the greatest thinkers of his time. However when he was converted to his new faith and became a Christian, he left all of his worldly ambitions and went to the desert to be alone and to harmonize his past thinking with his new religious experience. And out of this came the statement quoted above which together with the verses before and after it constituted the Apostle's philosophy of life and his creed of Christian living.

Dr. Wiley then showed how this statement of Paul's fitted in with the teaching of the Master in His sermon on the mount. Turning to the sixth chapter of Matthew he drew out a few of the different view points which it presents.

First is the philanthropic philosophy of life represented by alms giving. This sociological idea is one that is growing fast in the world to-day. Social service, human betterment through environmental changes, all this is good and worthy and anyone who works in this field has a reward, yet even this philanthropic philosophy is not the great Christian ideal.

Then comes the ritualistic ideal typified by the formal praying and the going through ceremonies and attempting by reducing life and experience to a mere set of forms and mannerisms to gain the end desired. This also is a false ideal.

The ascetic view of life is also given us in the fasting and praying of those who attempted by this means to gain favor with the almighty God. This however is not a worthy end of life for it is even as Paul exclaimed in another place that had he given his body to be burned and had not divine love, these would be in the act of suffering no profit.

Then comes the commercial philosophy of life which assumes the false premise that a man's life does consist in the abundance of the things he possesses. Christ cries out against this. He urges us to lay up treasures in heaven where moth and rust does not corrupt.

We were urged to steer clear of these false ideals, to pass on to a higher view of life and as a key word to this higher and nobler philosophy we are to take the words of Christ which are so familiar to us. "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."

Dr. Wiley then showed us some signs by which we might know that we were making progress. The first of these is a growing disposition to rely more on persons than on things. We are to attach greater value to the facts of personality and to look less to the mere features of our environment.

Secondly as we progress we will come to realize that little things have some worth. After all it is the realization of the finer things and an appreciation of the more delicate touches (Cont. on Page 2.)

Junior-Senior Banquet

An annual affair of much interest during the Commencement season of N. N. C. is the banquet tendered by the Junior college class to the Seniors. The Junior class of this year upheld the custom in an excellent manner. Their original planning and diligent labor made it a real success.

The banquet was held in the home of President Wiley; tables being laid the entire length of two rooms, which were nicely decorated. The place cards were in the form of miniature diplomas. As soon as everyone was seated it was noticed that a streamer of crepe paper attached to the table cloth immediately in front of each plate led to one of two or three piles of school text-books which were on the table. In due time it was discovered that at the end of these streamers there was a little booklet bound in the Senior class colors containing the menu and the program for the evening.

Professor Bouchard entertained us with music from his violin during the courses. Between the courses and afterwards the following program was given.

Toastmaster, Ruth Van Zandt.

Toast, "Adventures in Friendship," Professor R. H. White.

Response, Harriet Sharp.

My First Reading, Viola Green.

Toast, "Our Yesterdays," Alvin Snyder.

Toast, "The Innocents Abroad," Elmer Otterbein.

Bill and Joe, Percy Bartram.

After Dinner Speeches, Dr. H. Orton Wiley, Dr. Olive M. Winchester.

All in all, it was a delightful evening and one which the departing Seniors will long remember.

Wedding Bells

Earl Stiff, an old-timer around N.N. C., was united in matrimony to Clarice Coffman of Weiser, Idaho, on Sunday evening, June the fourteenth, at the Nazarene church in Boise, Idaho. Rev. Tunnell, pastor of the church, officiated at the ceremony. After the wedding march Miss Edith Carter sang, "Just for Today." Rev. Tunnell then spoke a few minutes on some of life's ideals and encouraged the uplifting of high standards of living in this present age of seeming laxity. The Bride and Groom then took their places before the altar and the ceremony was read. Afterwards they received, amid many smiles and hearty handshakes, the congratulations of their friends. They are both coming to school next Fall.

The Class of 1925

Another class has been graduated from N. N. C. and its members are preparing to take their place in the world of affairs. Practically every member of the class has settled the question of their vocation in life and a few are already working at it. N. N. C. has been noted for the majority of preachers and missionaries among its graduates, but the 1925 class have almost all chosen the teaching profession. If every one of the class who teach are true to the principles and ideals of their Alma Mater their opportunity to advance the Kingdom of Heaven will be as great as those who go as missionaries or preach.

For your information we shall briefly give the class roll.

1. Harold Bottemiller has accepted the pastorate of the Nazarene church at Cottage Grove, Oregon.

2. Edith Carter is going to teach the primary grades in a school near Emmett, Idaho.

3. Addie Chism is "engaged!"

4. John Dean is going to be principal of the grammar school at Marsing, Idaho.

5. A. H. Eggleston is going to be pastor of the Nazarene church at Lethbridge Alta, Canada.

6. Calvin Emerson is going to teach.

7. Harold J. Hart is going to be pastor for another year of the Nazarene church at Marsing, Idaho.

8. Lauren Irwin is going to continue his work as teacher of piano in the city. He will be a state accredited instructor soon.

9. Rachel Paylor is going to teach the primary grades at Lone Star school near Nampa.

10. Audrey Phillips is going to teach high school at Montour, Idaho.

11. Harriet Sharp is going to teach high school at Kuna, Idaho.

12. Verne Tock is going to teach.

13. Clara Ueltschi is going to teach upper grades at Lake Lowell school near Nampa.

14. Myrna Waller is going to teach primary grades at the Lake Lowell School.

15. Glenn Wallace is going to be principal of the High School at Star, Idaho.

Dr. Winchester is in Canada representing N. N. C. at the District Assemblies. She will also speak at some of the churches.

in things which show our progress. The master painter appreciates the most delicate touch of the finest tint; the master musician hears the softest tune or notes the sweetest harmony. The truly great man is he who knows the worth of little things. With him nothing is insignificant. He does not overlook the finer touches in life.

A third indication of the progress of life is that we are learning to walk slowly with God. At first we want to run, to fly, to start large but if we amount to ought in life we must slow down and learn to patiently wait for things to come to pass in God's own way and time and manner.

A fourth sign post of progress is a growing sympathy and tenderness and consideration for those about us. If we progress we will become less hasty to judgment and less inclined to harshness and criticism. We will attempt to put the best construction on everything we hear.

These facts among others are to be our signs of progress. Can we do it? With the help of Jehovah we will.

School Notes

Prof. J. E. Janosky, Bursar and head of the Commercial Department of N. N. C. has been granted a furlough by the officers of the institution in order to take graduate work in commerce in an eastern university probably Northwestern at Chicago. He will remain in the office here this summer however to attend to the correspondence and such reports as must be made.

Prof. L. S. Tracy, principal of the Academy will go east this summer to take graduate work in Missions toward a Master's degree. He with his family expect to spend the summer traveling across the continent, holding missionary meetings under the direction of the Nazarene Board of Foreign Missions. Their course will probably cross Montana, North Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois and on to Eastern Nazarene College where he hopes to place his daughters Martha and Olive in school next fall.

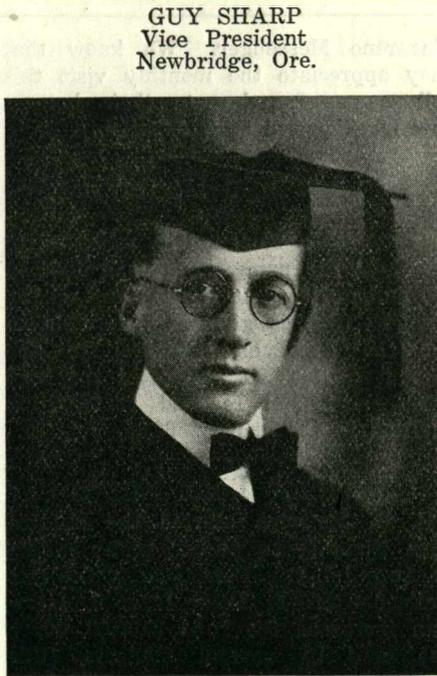

We must not fail to mention that Mr. and Mrs. Guy Sharp are the happy parents of a baby girl. Guy declares she is the finest the world has ever seen and that she cries continually when he is away. As Professor Tracy so aptly put it at the Alumni banquet, Guy has acquired another degree, D. A. D.

Both Mrs. R. H. White and son Paul have been operated on by Dr. Mangum and are recuperating in the Nazarene Missionary Sanitarium. They are doing nicely and we hope will soon be out and around again.

Alumni Banquet

The annual meeting of the Alumni Association of Northwest Nazarene College was held on the night of June the second following the Commencement program. The event took place at the home of Prof. A. M. Paylor.

Those present of former classes were: Marion Benton Howard, '18; Thos. E. Mangum, '19; Emily R. Mangum, '21; Esther Cook, '22; Elizabeth Paylor, '23; G. F. Owen, '23; Guy Sharp, '23; Fairy Chism, '23; Gladys Aikens, '24; L. S. Tracy, '24; Mrs. L. S. Tracy, '24; Florence Southwick, '24.

A number of guests were also present and enjoyed the evening. Marcus Cook, the president, being absent, Vice-president Guy Sharp took the chair and Florence Southwick was elected Secretary pro tem in the absence of the Secretary, Dorothy Sheldon. Mr. L. S. Tracy then took the floor and after a few well chosen and appropriate remarks moved that the class of '25 be received into full membership in the association. The action was carried.

Next in order were refreshments consisting of cake and ice cream. Needless to say this was a very enjoyable part of the program. The next order of business was the election of officers for the ensuing year. Those elected were: Fairy Chism, President; Guy Sharp, Vice-president; Elizabeth Paylor, Secretary-Treasurer. We are sure that these new officers will be efficient and will strive to create and maintain a real live interest among the alumni of N. N. C.

It was also decided to keep alive the Alumni Page in the Nazarene Messenger. Roy Swim was reappointed Editor-in-Chief of this page and Calvin Emerson was given a place as Assistant Editor. Before adjourning the association voted to have a midwinter meeting of the alumni for the purpose of formulating some definite policies of alumni activity and of establishing a more definite fellow feeling among our graduates. Fairy Chism, Elizabeth Paylor, and Calvin Emerson are to be in charge. More will be said of this in later issues of the Messenger.

The meeting adjourned at the early hour of 2 A. M.

No New Catalog

We will not publish a new catalog this year. The last catalog was such a good one and the expenses are virtually the same so that a change is not necessary. Please consult your 1924-25 catalog or write for information.

Donations

We are indeed thankful to the many friends of the college who remembered us this year with donations to the dining department. Among those who so cheerfully assisted us are the following churches and friends:

Dundee Church, 1 barrel fruit; Monroe Church, 2 barrels fruit; Medford Church, 1 barrel fruit; Newberg Church, 1 barrel fruit; Onoway Church, 1 barrel fruit; Brother Carr, Meridian, 1 barrel fruit; Spokane Church, 3 barrels fruit; Brother Baldwin from Caldwell, 300 pounds comb honey; Mrs. Zella Wattles, 50 gallon barrel of vinegar; Sister Mason, fresh raspberries and currants; Mrs. S. J. Hostetter and Mrs. Janosky, milk.

Cash donations were received from the following: Leslie Young, A. O. Young, E. J. Fleming, Science Students, Missionary F. C. Sutherland, Nampa Y.P.S., John Spickerman, J. H. Morvee, Mrs. S. B. Reichard, Nampa Church.

We thank God for such a host of loyal friends. May the blessings of our Heavenly Father be yours to enjoy.

Space will not permit us to give a list of those who donated toward the Nazarene Messenger. We know that they appreciate the monthly visit this college paper makes to their homes; this is evidenced by a donation.

A Timid Doner

Last year a student who asked us to with-hold the name, gave us a deed to 160 acres of land in Canada and on the strength of this gift we were able to use the deed as collateral to the amount of $366.85. We sold the land this spring and realized $1696.66 in addition to the above $368.85.

Students Loan Funds

E. D. Emerson started the student Loan Fund seven years ago by giving us two Liberty Bonds on which we realized $196.40. Later Isaac J. Herrman increased the fund $100.00 which was used by several students (this $100.00 was withdrawn from the fund and donated to the College toward the indebtedness.)

Last year the Laurel (Montana) Y. P.S. started a fund which we have named the Y.P.S. Loan Fund. We hope other Young People Societies will join in making it possible for students to get an education.

The Mary E. Stephens Loan Fund for $2000.00 started by E. F. Stephens, who helped with the coal, was given us in the form of land which was sold but later returned to us because of the financial depression and at present the loan is inactive but will be revived upon the cancellation of the college indebtedness.

Thank the Employees

There were four donations made during the year for which the Bursar is doubly thankful and we take this space to publicly thank the following who were on our pay roll, for turning back to the Current Account a portion of their hard earned salary. Professor Emily Gustafson, our faithful instructor of History and Economics; A. H. Eggleston, a member of the Senior class who is going as pastor to Lethbridge, Alb., Canada; Miss Beryl Hostetter, our capable bookkeeper and stenographer, and Miss Mae Walton, Grammar School teacher.

The Coal Situation

Two years ago we went before the Chamber of Commerce of our fair city and asked them to give us a ten days' supply of coal to tide us over between semesters. This they immediately did. Last year E. F. Stephens, who has been a warm friend of the college for years and who has helped financially several times allowed us to use some of his stock in a coal mine thus enabling us to purchase all our coal at quite a saving.

Saturday, June 13, he gave us an order on the Mutual Coal Co. for a reduction in price on six cars to be used next winter. This donation amounts to $380.50. Let everybody say thank you.

A number of the students from the college are attending Summer school in Boise.
