Wilson-Blickenstaff Team Places First at Debate Tournament; All NNC Teams In Finals

Bringing home first place honors in the lower-division women's debate were Donna Wilson and Velma Blickenstaff when Coach M. A. Wilson and his ten debaters returned last week from McMinnville, Oregon, where they attended the twelfth annual intercollegiate forensic tournament sponsored by Linfield College.

Placing all five N. N. C. teams in the finals, Coach Wilson's other woman's team composed of Ardath Miller and Gwendolyn Jennings tied for second place with a team from the College of Idaho, and Kenneth Webb and Wesley Young, N. N. C. debaters, tied for second place in lower-division men's debate.

Others entering the tournament were DeWitt McAbee, Archie Wilson, Edgar Kincaid, and Stanford Ernest.

Donna Wilson and Velma Blickenstaff presented Dr. R. V. DeLong, college president, the trophy which they had won for the school during chapel last Tuesday morning, when the tongue twisters gave an account of their trip.

"Resolved: that the democracies should form a federation to establish the eight Roosevelt-Churchill principles," was the subject debated throughout the tournament.

Faculty Buys Defense Stamps

Patriotism is the most recent attribute evidenced by Northwest Nazarene College faculty members. Last week at faculty meeting they voted unanimously to receive five percent of their salary in defense stamps.

Mr. Nevin reported on the work of the committee whose duty was to investigate the methods of local business firms in buying defense stamps. Professor Janosky was chairman.

This action was in accordance with the nation-wide movement to "buy defense stamps and win the war."

Prof. Vanderpool Returns from Trip

Mrs. D. I. Vanderpool, professor of English at Northwest Nazarene College, returned Friday from a 3-week trip to California. While there, she assisted Rev. Vanderpool in a twelve-day revival at First Church of the Nazarene, San Jose.

While on the trip, Rev. and Mrs. Vanderpool visited for two days with Mr. Vanderpool's mother at Pasadena, California.

Driving from San Jose to Pasadena, the Vanderpools missed by only an hour seeing the firing on American oil wells by Japanese.

"Make Right Popular"

Dear Editor:

A half glance at the "N.N.C. Crusader" impresses me with it as a good news sheet, well constructed and with splendid items of interest that go with college life and activities. It does seem that N.N.C. needs such a paper.

My hearty congratulations on your first issue and well wishes for its continued usefulness.

Succeed in Christ,

E. E. Martin.

Aller Leaves For Defense Work

Prof. Alvin R. Aller left Saturday for Chicago to answer his call to a government position. His call was from the Naval Training Division to become a ground school instructor for the Aeronautics Division of the Navy.

"I am extremely reluctant to leave during the semester. After 'wiring' for postponement, I received the answer: 'The need is immediate and urgent.' I regret to leave the institution which I sincerely love, but I have sought earnestly to find the will of the Lord in the matter. It is not my intention to remain out of religious education permanently," stated Prof. Aller.

Prof. Aller received his B. S. degree in 1931 from Bethany, Lindsborg, Kansas, and his Master's degree in 1932 from Kansas State College, Manhattan, Kansas.

Then he taught for three years in the Bresee College, Hutchinson, Kansas, which merged with Bethany-Penial in 1936. During the last year of his teaching in Bresee College, he was acting president in the absence of the president. (1935, 1936).

Since 1936, he has taught aeronautics, biological science, and history in Northwest Nazarene College.

Every student of N.N.C. admires Prof. Aller as a Christian gentleman and instructor. His many teaching duties and his place of leadership in the Sunday school will be a hard place to fill.

School of Prophets Holds Meetings

The school of the Prophets, an organization composed of all those called into active Christian Service, under the leadership of President Clarence Killion, met again Sunday afternoon, March 1, for their regular weekly session.

Miss Nind, Superintendent of Nurses at Samaritan Hospital, spoke on Pastoral Counseling and Prof. Myers spoke on How to Read Scripture. Miss Nind spoke on the methods to be used by pastors in counseling depressed individuals, a message which should be very valuable to every theological student. Prof. Myers illustrated to the group some things "not to do" in reading the scripture.

Weekly services are held in the Music Hall each Sunday afternoon from 1:15 to 3:00. Prof. Mallalieu A. Wilson, Rev. Melza Brown, Rev. Lloyd Byron, and Prof. Ronald J. Lush have been among the speakers.

Farewell Breakfast Is Held for Allers

Prof. Alvin R. Aller was bid God's speed on his trip east at a farewell breakfast held by the student council of N. N. C. Saturday.

Mrs. Aller and Wayne were also present for a short program contributed by members of the student council, after which the Allers were presented with a gift. For the current school year Prof. Aller has been serving as faculty adviser for the student council.

Juniors Lay Banquet Plans

Committees Appointed, Busy Days Ahead for Class.

At a recent Junior class meeting, Dorothy Lancaster laid further plans for the Junior-Senior banquet by appointing all necessary committees. The class elected Mr. Andrew G. Hanners to act as toastmaster for this important event of the year.

Since second semester the Junior class has been minus a vice-president and treasurer until they elected Mr. Glen Fritch, vice-president and Ruth Mangum, treasurer at the recent meeting.

Class dues, Junior-Senior banquet, and class picnic are a few of the most important things which fill a Junior's mind at this time.

These are busy days but, in the words of Mr. Lee, Junior class president, "We can take it."

Dear Editor:

I received the first issue of the "N. N. C. Crusader" this week. Congratulations on your election as editor and on the splendid job you and your staff made of the first issue. Please convey my congratulations to all the members of your staff. The paper certainly reflects the many-sided spirit of N. N. C. in proper balance.

I wish for you and your staff success as you move into this new field of endeavor at N.N.C.

Sincerely,
Albert F. Harper.

Mary Lou Speakes Accepts Staff Position

The N. N. C. Crusader is proud to announce as new Organizations Editor, Miss Mary Lou Speakes, sophomore from Monroe, Washington. Miss Speakes will fill the vacancy left by Miss Beatrice Maxey, who was forced to resign because of her appointment to the position of head waitress at the college dining hall.

Miss Speakes will be in charge of news from class and athletic-literary organizations, as well as various music organizations of Northwest Nazarene College. This phase of school life has been very efficiently handled by Miss Maxey for the two initial publications of the Crusader.

Dr. Heimburger To Teach Science

"Friday, when I was visiting the classes, I had a feeling that I was coming back home," remarked Dr. Harry V. Heimburger, who joined the faculty staff last week as professor of biological science and history.

Professor Heimburger, who is taking the place of Prof. Alvin Aller, has had much experience in this field. After receiving his A.M. degree at the University of Illinois he took graduate work at the University of Michigan. He taught at several colleges including Hamline University, and Kansas Wesleyan University.

In 1934 he received the title of Doctor of Osteopathy at the Kerkville College of Osteopathy and Surgery. Since that time he has been practicing in Parma and Caldwell.

He was welcomed publicly by the school in a recent chapel service.

DISTRICT SUPERINTENDENT TO HOLD WEEK-END CONVENTION

Rev. Glenn Griffith to Present Messages Twice Daily in Chapel.

Revival fires will be fanned and burst into flames this week when Rev. Glenn Griffith, district Superintendent of the Idaho-Oregon-Utah District, Church of the Nazarene, conducts a series of meetings at Northwest Nazarene College. Beginning today and continuing through Sunday, services will be held each morning at 10:30 and each evening at 8:00 o'clock in the college chapel.

Rev. Griffith is well-known in the Church of the Nazarene, having been District Superintendent of the Idaho-Oregon-Utah district for four years. Prior to that he held a successful evangelistic ministry in the church. Rev. Griffith is a man of God, an excellent evangelist, and one who thoroughly understands the problems of young people of today.

Prayer meetings are being conducted each morning at 6:30 in room 19, Administration Building, under leadership of the Student Council. The number of students attending these early morning services is indicative of the high type of leadership in the student body of N. N. C.

Faculty and students alike feel the sense of deep spirituality which pervades the campus. Prayer meetings may be heard in private rooms at nearly any time, and an extra touch of devotion keynotes each class during the day. In the presence of such an atmosphere, and under the able ministry of Rev. Griffith, the constituency of Northwest Nazarene College will not be disappointed in expecting a true revival of God's Love in their midst.

Capt. Hook Presents Accounts of Alaska

Returns to Land Of Midnight Sun.

"I'm going back to Alaska. Uncle Sam told me I was," stated Captain Art Hook as he began his last lecture of the season at the college auditorium Friday evening. Captain Hook has spent thirty years traveling back and forth from Alaska to the United States telling about the Arctic and showing 2000 feet of outstanding moving pictures of scenes in the far north. Next week he will answer Uncle Sam's call to coastguard duty. He is captain of his own schooner, registered sea captain, and has

A Cappella Choir To Begin Concert Series March 15

A Cappella Choir of Northwest Nazarene College will begin their concert season by presenting a service at First Church of the Nazarene, Nampa, Sunday evening, March 15. Composed of thirty students under direction of Professor Doris Gale DeLong, the choir will present a full concert of Negro spirituals, sacred, and patriotic music.

Beginning March 20, the choir will leave for an eighteen-day tour of Washington, Oregon and Idaho, giving church concerts each evening, and also representing Northwest Nazarene college in high schools, community centers, and radio broadcasts. New robes, purchased by the sale of reserve seat tickets to current concerts, will enhance the appearance of the choir this year.

Complete details regarding the proposed tour, including choir personnel, program, schedule, and a picture of the A Cappella Choir, will be published in the next issue of the N. N. C. Crusader.

Have you been to the Music Hall recently? One of the latest results of the contest among band and orchestra members is the redecorating of Professor Lush's office. Red imitation leather upholstery enhances the appearance of the desk, the top of which has been refinished in black. Music students are to be congratulated on their fine work in the Music Hall.

LION
PROPHECY

If the traditional lion or lamb qualities of March 1 are accurately predicable this year, Nampa is in for bad weather in near future. Probably these natures of such opposite animals may be applied to conditions other than the weather, using the world situation, for example. The war activities of March 1, certainly did not tend toward "lamby" attributes, but hope is that the prophecy does not hold in this case. It is true, however, that if a student hasn't caught up on his semester's studies by March 1, the future looks "lionish."

A PRAYER

O Christ, we are truly in need of a revival. As I sit here in retrospectus I am wondering what my part must be. Thou hast been good to me and placed thy benedictus upon many of the things I have tried to do for thy name's sake. In mysterious ways thou has worked out thy plan for my life and hast performed wonders in order to clear the way.

O Lord, I am in need of a revival. My soul has long thirsted for an outpouring of thy spirit—My soul longeth, yea, fainteth for a revelation of thy divine presence. But I know Thou wilt not come until my own life is ready to receive thee. Search me, O God, and know my heart; try me, and know my thoughts: and see if there be any wicked way in me. Remove every barrier to the entrance to my heart. Remove any alien to thy presence in my heart. May that heart be an acceptable habitation for thyself.

O Christ, I soon must face life in a more real sense. Before I leave the portals of the school, give me one more glimpse of Pentecost. I must have it to meet battles which face me in the tomorrow, when disappointments and sorrows come, when unbelief is rampant, when the enemy moves his parachute divisions upon my soul, I need to point back to a definite time when every part of my being felt the hallowedness of thy presence.

A Pentecostal revival will come only at a cost. May I balance the ledger of my own life and remove all liabilities. Before the revival begins may the communication line to heaven be up. O Lord, begin that revival in me. —H. M.

WAR AND CHRISTIANITY

This war is unique. Although it is undoubtedly the greatest conflict the world has ever known, it is seemingly characterized by wide-spread lack of hate for our enemies. As expressed by a columnist in the "University of Washington Daily," "I have noticed how people in the university district do not cheer or applaud when a speaker calls our enemies nasty names or when he roars fiercely about killing and sneaking back-stabbers. I am glad that some of the people do not fall for that hate stuff." Could it be that a New Day is dawning for the United States—a day in which men will not hate each other, but work together in harmony and peace?

The leaders of our land are turning to Christianity as a vital help in the crisis of today. If the church as a whole gets behind this movement, inestimable good may result. There must be prayer and sacrifice, and we must help each other to bear the load, if we are to succeed.

A promise is given to the forces of righteousness in Joel 2:11: "And the Lord shall utter His voice before His army; for His camp is very great: for he is strong that executeth His word . . ." What a glorious hope is embodied in the words of this scripture! May we take hold of God's word; may we press on in righteousness; may we ever keep a calm and firm determination that, with God's help, we will win this war and end the horrors of armed conflict for the ages to come.

OUR TIMES

by John Sutherland

Dominion Over Palm and Pine

"—Beneath whose awful hand we hold dominion over palm and pine." Today the British lion roars with decreasing vigor in the Far East. Hong Kong, Singapore, one by one the great British bastions that guarded the Orient are falling to the Japanese. For the first time since the days of "good Queen Beth" will the sun set on the British empire. "Far called our navies melt away"—call the roll—the Ark Royal, the Hood, Repulse, Prince of Wales, Royal Oak, Dorsetshire. "On dune and headland sinks the fire—" —Flanders, Dunkirk, Malta, Crete, Hong Kong, Singapore. "Lo all our pomp of yesterday is one with Ninevah and Tyre."

To Mr. Hirohito, "son of Heaven." From the "free peoples." Your men have been quite successful; we congratulate you. Your men, too, are dying; we sympathize with you. Your men wish to dominate, we warn you.

Yes, you have taken Singapore, you have driven our men in the Philippines into a corner, you have cut the Burma road, but Mr. Hirohito, you have not won the war. We have a president who told us to "have faith that right makes might and in that faith to do our duty as we understood it."

We have faith, we know our duty and we shall do it as we understand it. So go ahead, Mr. Hirohito, let your men conquer Java, let them take Australia, let them attack our west coast and bomb the Panama canal. Nevertheless we shall win the war.

Our course is fixed. We have set our ship by the "Polaris" of Almighty God. And some day we will show the world that the plan of God will not be thwarted by either the ambitions of your war council, Mr. Hirohito, or by those comic figureheads of Europe.

We promise you, Mr. Hirohito, to fight now like "wildcats." But when the war is over, we promise to point you and your people to the true "son of Heaven." Then you shall glory, not in the "rising sun," but in "the bright and morning star." Then you shall call truly beautiful—not the chrysanthemum, but rather—"the rose of Sharon."

Until that time comes, we assure you, Mr. Hirohito, that our course is fixed. And neither you nor Mr. Hitler nor Mr. Mussolini can change it.

Defiantly yours,
America.

"A Setting by the Sea"

"By the old Moulmein pagoda—from Rangoon to Mandalay." Words of Kipling's famous poem come back as names such as Rangoon, and Burma flash across the headlines. And the Burmese girl will be wishing—not for one British soldier, but for regiments of them. For another soldier has come to Moulmein. A little yellow man from the land of the "rising sun" now guards the bay. And while she waits millions of Americans, Britishers, Chinese and Russians vow that she'll not have long to linger.

Hil Ain't life wonderful?—'Er is it? I jus' aint talkin'— 'er am I? Some people the last few weeks are really finding life deeeeeeelightfull! Jus' place your "peepers" on some of the couples that are really on the beam: Jean Shute and Jim Kaiser . . . "Splutt" Shelby and Dorothy, alis Betty, Nielson . . . Hey—has anybody noticed—that after being at college four years, Bea Maxey has finally found her "Leavell."

The other day in Chapel they told us that all of life was just one big geometrical design.—Jeanne Bemiss even agrees, she says, quote—just look at the triangle I'm in!—Unquote.

Ruthie "Karen" Mangum never has time to do anything anymore.—She's always busy washing hair-nets!

Those sure must be "Corny" notes Wilbur Mills gets during the Ballgames. Everyone within a radius of eight seats always seems to get a bang out of them!

Did you kids hear about the Idaho Potato that married an Irish Potato and they had a baby. They called it a "Sweet Potato."—She grew up and went off to college and then to New York. While there she met, and fell in love with Walter Winchell.—Her folks objected, tisk, tisk.—He was just a Commentator!!! Thats me.

before day, he rose up and went out and departed into a desert place, and there prayed." Mark 1:35.

We have expressed in the above Scriptures the two main emphases of the Christian life. The characteristic tenure of our day is toward work to the extent of eliminating prayer. Service is the popular note of the day. This is expressed in our worship by the type of hymns that are most frequently sung. Our failure in prayer is due in part to the spirited enthusiasm of our present day. This has resulted in the exclusion of prayer culture on which, finally, the quality of our spirit and the ultimate resources of power depend. This is the answer to why we have attained a mechanical efficiency and have reaped a spiritual shallowness. Let us maintain the characteristic efficiency of action peculiar to our generation and add to that a "back to our knees" movement until we recover the "practice of the presence of God."

A Prayer We Can All Pray

"O God, forgive the poverty, the pettiness, Lord, the childish folly of our prayers. Listen, not to our words, but to the groanings that cannot be uttered; hearken, not to our petitions, but to the crying of our need. So often we pray for that which is already ours, neglected and unappropriated; so often for that which never can be ours; so often for that which we must win ourselves; and then labor endlessly for that which can only come to us in prayer.

"How often we have prayed for the coming of Thy kingdom, yet when it has sought to come through us we have sometimes barred the way; we have wanted it without in others, but not in our own hearts. We feel it is we who stand between man's need and Thee; between ourselves and what we might be; and we have no trust

Library Rustlings

"Fear is cured by vitamin." Well, that's what it says. "A constant sacred feeling, short tempers, poor memory, easily hurt feelings, and tearfulness can be cured from thirty minutes to twenty hours by injections of vitamins." If you don't believe me, just look at the March Science Digest and see for yourselves.

And while we're on the scientific line, did you know we have half a dozen brains? The only thing which lifts us above the chimpanzee, "our nearest relative" (?), is our newest acquisition, the forebrain. That's in the Digest, too —"Brain Surgery."

How much do you know about your South American neighbors? The Pan American, even though it is just a January issue, is chock full of interesting bits. Among them is this information: the place for a henpecked husband is in Guatemala.

Meet your nation's wartime capitol. Colored illustrations in the Geographic for March make you feel as if you're really in Washington. Imagine a real clock twenty-six feet in diameter made of growing flowers; that's what you'll find in the Lincoln Memorial Park. There's a picture of England's Gagna Carta, which is over here "for the duration," too.

You're too tired to read? Well, then, don't miss the cartoons in the Social Studies for February. They'll rest you, even though they may make you start thinking.

in our own strength, or loyalty, or courage.

"O give us to love Thy will, and seek Thy kingdom first of all. Sweep away our fears, our compromise, our weakness, lest at last we be found fighting against Thee. Amen."

THINKING BY THE HOUR

- 8:30 a. m. Just woke up and found out that I've slept through half my first period class. Think I'll start building character and make it on time tomorrow.
- 9:40 a. m. Walked into English class and was pleasantly surprised to see Prof. Vanderpool back once again. Sure do miss people we like when they're away.
- 11 a. m. I hereby resolve: To do those things I should do, and and leave undone those things I should not do.
- 2:30 p. m. Just remembered to send my congratulations to Prof. Adler and the basketball squad for the super performances they rendered this year. More power to them!
- 3:30 p. m. Decided I could get my lessons for tomorrow now, and go to meetin' early this evening with everything prepared. Hm, I might suggest the same schedule for my next door neighbor.

Boise News Man Cites S. Am. Travels

"It was a very interesting experience to me trying to interpret relations between our country and South America," said Mr. Victor Westphal as he told at chapel service last Friday of his visit to that continent.

Editor of "The Seattle Star" at the time of his trip, Mr. Westphal made the journey in order to gain material for news stories. Since he went before the United States began to actively cultivate the South American businessman, he viewed the country from an economic slant. Everywhere he sought an answer to the question, "What can we do for the business man?"

There were several problems which he found in every city he visited. The men couldn't understand the North American's distrust and lack of confidence. Prices in the two countries were very different; also, our prices were stated in dollars instead of in currency of that country. The United States didn't put forth an effort to develop their trade. However, the recent conference between the two continents did much to correct this feeling. And the North American is getting to know the South American field better.

Mr. Westphal, who is the managing editor of the "Boise Statesman," joined "The Seattle Star" staff in 1928. Formerly he was with the Boise "Capital News."

Monday evening, Dr. R. V. DeLong, president of N. N. C., spoke at a Nampa Townsend Club meeting. Music was furnished by the King's Messengers male quartet.

Rev. W. A. Eckel To Visit NNC

Former Missionary from Japan Week-End Speaker.

Next week will bring to N. N. C. students another time of spiritual inspiration in a three-day convention with Rev. W. A. Eckel, district superintendent of the Rocky Mountain district, church the Nazarene, as speaker. The convention will begin Wednesday and last through Friday, with services each morning at 10:30 and each evening at the college chapel.

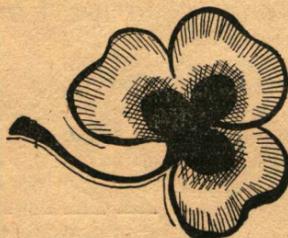

Rev. Eckel is a returned missionary from Japan, well qualified to speak in the light of present world crisis. His wide knowledge and interesting style of speech will be of great benefit to Northwest Nazarene College.

Irish to Honor St. Patrick Soon

"Did your mother come from Ireland?"

Where are your Irish colors then?

Green garbed girls and guys should soon be seen celebrating the popular Irish patriarch, St. Patrick.

Most outstanding Irish names at N. N. C. is Pat MacMillan. Ira "Irish" True says he's that way from his great grandma, and the Fritches are never reluctant to claim their Erse lineage. Maybe the known Irish characteristics can explain some things then. Jean Kelley and Don Kelley cannot be left off the name list either, although no definite statement can be made concerning Dr. DeLong's curly red hair of his boyhood.

Probably the holiday originated from an Irish order of merit founded in 1783 and called Saint Patrick. The queer thing about the original shield which bore the national emblem, shamrock, is that it was blue instead of green.

Harpist Presents Concert Wed.

Mildred Dilling, world famous harpist, presented one of the most delightful concerts of this season Wednesday evening at Caldwell. It is doubtful if there is any instrument that surpasses the harp in depth of beauty of tonal rendition, and Miss Dilling gave account of her instrument with unusual vigor and feeling.

She made a classic picture as her sensitive fingers gave voice to the patriarch of instruments for the floodlights threw a silhouette on the back drop that reminded one of an ancient Greek muse hovering over her favorite. But the most striking thing about her was her own personality. Dignified, yet gra-

Student Council Conducts Chapel

The Student Council of N. N. C., under the leadership of Hugh McDowell, student body president, conducted the morning Chapel service of February 25. Mr. McDowell gave a challenging devotional message.

Isaiah 35:1—"... and the desert shall rejoice and blossom as a rose." God's purpose for N. N. C. is the building of Christian character. To succeed: "We must keep our eyes on Christ; be firm in our purpose in life; be firm in our purpose at N. N. C. and keep a close walk with Christ."

The message was followed by a song, "I Know He Has Redeemed Me," by the student council quartet composed of Marlyn Anderson, Robert Woodworth, Paul Mangum, and Warren Franklin. In conclusion, Mr. McDowell read the stirring poem, "Blessed Assurance."

cious, her charm captivated her audience from the beginning. As she told the history of the harp, from primitive man to the present day, her quiet voice identified her as one who had enough culture to be human and sincere.

The high points of the evening were "Claire de Lune" by Debussy, "Liebestraum" by Listz, the old Welsh air "March of the Men of Harlech," and Miss Dilling's own arrangement of "The Blue Danube Waltz," and the "Volga Boatman."

NEWS NIBBLES

Mrs. Winter and son from Salem Oregon have been visiting the past few days at the college. Mrs. Winter is the mother of Fern Winter, well-known senior.

Board of Regents of Northwest Nazarene College will meet in their annual spring session here next Wednesday.

Mr. Parker Maxey is wearing a cast on his arm due to an attack of myositis.

ACADEMY ACTIVITIES

Debaters Attend Boise Tournament

Dean Hungerford, David Messenger, Elizabeth Kisse, and Virginia Kirley bade farewell to an envious group of N.N.A. students Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock when the team left for Boise. Both teams enjoyed the tournament and the meal at the Mechanafe. Coach Clarence Killion feels that the debaters gained much valuable experience on this trip. Mr. Killion stayed with Governor Clark and visited with him in the Capitol.

WISPS OF WISDOM

In an Academy meeting Friday morning, Professor Adler had a heart-to-heart talk with all of the N.N.A. students. The outstanding feature was the fact that the students didn't have the English test or Algebra class.

When the Usual rush started at 7:59 for the Typing books in Typing II class, Phyllis Roberts was afraid to have anyone look in her book because, "It might not have my name in it."

Have you noticed the change in Ed Williamson? He's taken a new grip on life since he's been studying "Gareth and Lynnette" in English. That look of valor, you know, is a sure sign of "Spring fever."

Doris Marie Culver, Joan Sharp, and Ramona Vanderpool made straight "A's" last semester. A complete list of honor students will appear later.

Oh yes, Elmore Vail's new theme song, "I dream of Jeanie with the light brown hair."

N. N. A. Cagers Trounce Notus

In a fast basketball game Thursday night in the Notus gym, the Academy five defeated Notus varsity by a final score of 32 to 22. Elmore Vail and Dean Hungerford were high-point men with 10 points each.

Zone defense of the Academy worked perfectly, with Hungerford and Lee on the backboard. Though the game was fast, the N.N.A. boys played consistently. In the last quarter the Academy chalked up 12 points leaving Notus scoreless for that period. The fact that the Academy five made 6 out of 10 free throws shows that all of the boys played a steady game. The N.N.A. second team lost a close game by a small margin of 1 point. Dudell was high-point man with 7 points, Griffith and Sutherland following close behind with 6 each, with a final score of 21-20. These games officially closed the basketball season for Northwest Nazarene Academy with 10 wins and 8 losses.

Elmore Vail, captain and forward, has been high-point man for the season.

Crusaders Even With Albion

In two exciting, thrill-packed games played in the N. N. C. gymnasium on February 23 and 24, the N. N. C. Crusaders came out on top of the Albion Normal squad to even the four game series. The first two games earlier in the season were taken by Albion by close margins.

Crusaders were paced by Chalfant, star forward, who chalked up 32 points, one point short of his high record for the season which was made against Eastern Oregon Normal.

Although the Crusaders were somewhat handicapped by the loss of regular Guard Buster True, because of a knee injury, they came through nicely with Ernie Siefarth filling in. What really won the game for the Crusaders was their early start for they scored eight points in the first three minutes of the game. Albion never caught the N. N. C. boys, although they threatened to several times. The half time score was 35-25 and after a steady climb by the Crusaders during the second half, the Teachers threw in the towel. The score was 56-42.

In the preliminary game, the College of Idaho Freshman snatched a 26-25 win from the Junior Varsity.

The Albion Teachers came back on Tuesday night determined to flatten the Crusaders—which proved a harder thing to do than they thought. Although the Teachers were in the lead for nearly the entire game, five staunch N. N. C. warriors—among them three seniors playing their last game—refused to be beaten. Doggedly, determinedly, they passed and shot their way out of their plight to snatch victory from the confident Norma quint. Albion lost the game to the Crusaders on free throws, making only 7 to the Crusaders' 14.

One peculiar thing about the game was the five points which spelling victory for N.N.C. were made by the three seniors, Vanderpool, Mangum, and Powell respectively. The fourth senior of the squad was Bus True, who was rooting from the sidelines. The final tally was 26-25 for the Crusaders.

The Teachers seemed to have found Chalfant's number for they held him to only 11 points whereas Albion center, Millard, accounted for 17—the same as on Monday night.

The M. I. A. team of the Nampa City league defeated the Junior Varsity in the preliminary, 58-34.

For the benefit of the seniors of the squad, we give you the official box score for both games.

Let's Play

—by Kae

Mighty proud of our basketball boys—aren't we? This season has been a thriller from start to finish! Great games we saw not too long ago. Of course, the "niggahs" showed us up a little—but we don't care. Have you caught your breath since the last Albion game? Wes Young hasn't, nor his voice either. Excitement was no name for it! Bus True, out with his knee, worked as hard on the bench as he would have on the floor.

We're still wondering how you did it, Morrie. Paul, Bus, Vandy, and Homer, we hate terribly to see you leave. It won't seem like basketball without you. Here's to you, fellas. You've played the finest, scrappiest ball this school has ever witnessed. It's been a privilege as well as a pleasure to sit in the cheering section and watch our team play ball.

Four Seniors Play Last Game

Four seniors played their last basketball game for N. N. C. against the Albion quintet on February 24. These men, who are all four year lettermen for N. N. C., are Captain Paul Mangum, Crawford Vanderpool, Homer Powell, and Ira True.

Captain Paul Mangum, speaking for the seniors, says, "We've certainly enjoyed playing on the varsity during the last four years and it has really been an honor to be representatives of N. N. C. It has been a pleasure to associate and play with such a clean, Christian group of boys and to play under such a good Christian coach!"

N. N. C. hates to see these boys leave our athletic ranks, but there is deep satisfaction in knowing they have done their part in living up to the true ideals and standards of N. N. C.

Globetrotters Trot 56-50 Over NNC

On Saturday evening, February 21, before a capacity crowd at the Central Gymnasium, the world-famed Harlem Globetrotters cavorted to a 56-50 win over the N. N. C. Crusaders.

The Crusader quintet kept pace with the Trotters for the first seven minutes of the game when the score was tied 11-11, but then the Harlem boys pulled away quickly to run up a 20-11 lead at the end of the first quarter. In the next quarter, the Trotters scored 20 points to the Crusaders' 6, making the half time score 40-17.

From the half time on, the Harlem boys cut loose with their comedy and trick plays, for which the crowd was waiting. The antics of the Professional World Champions were more amusing than ever and kept the crowd roaring. Besides fancy ball handling and passing stunts, the Trotters pulled off baseball and football plays that were really entertaining.

The excitement reached its peak when two of the Globetrotters, Price and Ford, climbed into the "crow's nests" with the referees and proceeded to take over as officials, calling fouls and keeping up a running patter of comment over the loudspeakers to the great amusement of the audience. What finally "brought down the house" was Ford's climbing down on the Crusader basket and sitting there batting away possible shots. Then he evened things up a bit by dropping a few through for the Crusaders.

During the third quarter, he Trotters only made enough shots to keep just ahead of the N.N.C. team, devoting most of their time to clowning and comedy. The score at the close of the third period was 52-35. They made still fewer points in the fourth quarter with the game ending 56-50 for the Harlemites.

Maurice Chalfant shared high point honors with Captain Babe Pressley, each netting 16 points. Harlem's Price followed with 14 and Crusaders' Powell accounted for 12.

But Crusaders Have Chalfant

Eastern Oregon may have her Rostock, Notre Dame may have her Rockne, and Minnesota may have her Franck, but N. N. C. is proud of her Chalfant.

In his first year of varsity basketball, having only played in intramurals at Bethany-Peniel College, he has scored a grand total of 465 points in 23 games or an average of 20.2 points per game. A natural-born player, he has an uncanny eye for the basket and has an average of about 50 per cent of his shots the past season.

Coming from Danville, Illinois, Chalfant is a Junior at N. N. C. and is studying for the ministry. He will be back next year to again make basketball history. Hats off to a clean young man and hats off to his clean teammates who helped make his success possible.

SIDELINE ROOTER

Those of you who have taken part in any major athletic sports and have had to cease because of some injury or other cause know what it is like to watch your teammates play from the sidelines. Well, that is just what our own "Bus" True had to do in the last two games of the season which have been the last for his varsity career.

It must have been hard—especially in the last game when N. N. C.'s case looked so dark, but Bus didn't give up. He had faith in those teammates of his and those teammates did not fail him.

Three cheers for a man who "played the game" the hard way—from the sidelines—and who never doubted, though things looked dark.

N. N. C. FLATTENS WEISER TWICE

The Crusaders downed the N. Y. A. club of Weiser in two games—one played at Weiser on Feb. 17 and one at N. N. C. on Feb. 20. Although the Weiser club played very good ball and showed up surprisingly well, the Crusader quintet outclassed and out-played them both times.

Word was received recently that Ervin Edgar, former N. N. C. student, left on February 13 for the training camp at Fort Walters, Texas, where he joined the Parachute troops.
