Alpha Delta Phi to Present Religious Drama "Saul, Son of Kish"

Play Friday Will Relive Reign of Saul; Under Direction of Finkbeiner

Featured Friday evening in the college auditorium will be the Alpha Delta Phi athletic-literary society when they present a religious drama, "Saul, Son of Kish," written by C. N. Harris, Nampa Junior high school teacher. Melvin Finkbeiner, program chairman, and Warren Franklin, society president, are in charge of the presentation, working in collaboration with Miss Ruth Fritch, literary adviser.

Unfolding the pages of Hebrew History in a new and interesting way, the ADP's will relive the reign of Saul, after the people's request for a king, the war against the Philistines, David, the shepherd boy, and witch of Endor.

Carrying leads in men's parts will be Bob Woodworth who will portray Saul; Warren Franklin, Samuel; Kenneth Webb, David.

Michal, the daughter of Saul, will be played by marita Lee; Abigail, Velma Blickenstaff; Rhea, Alice DeBoard.

Other members of the play cast include:

Jonathon, Arthur Motram; Jehu, Wesley Young; Angel, Crawford Vanderpool; Abner, Buster True; Elders, Bob Lee and Marvin Spordler; scribe, David Carter; Ahiah, Earl Rogers; messenger, Dean Campbell; Nobal, Fred Hills.

Mr. Harris, who earned his Master's degree in play writing, was the author of the religious drama, "Go Down Moses," presented by the A. D. P. society last year.

Elaine Carlson will act as head of costumes for Friday's performance, and Lewis Roberts is in charge of staging and decorations.

A chorus under the direction of Leland Johnson will be presented.

Associated Men's Club Organized

The Wheels of Progress Begin to Roll

The dormitory boys met in Gideon Hall parlor recently for the purpose of reviving the Associated Men's Club. Hugh McDowell, student body president, presided. It was decided not to wait until next year, but to start operations immediately.

The Wheels are Well Lubricated

Later, all the college men gathered in the Music Hall with Mr. McDowell again in charge. Officers were elected: president, Bob Woodworth; vice president, Frank Cook; secretary-treasurer, Don Bartlow; chaplain, Dewitt McAbee.

Membership in the club, which purposes to unify the men in Christian fellowship and in executing certain tasks, is optional.

Wheels of Progress

Keep them rolling!

Robert Woodworth Student Rotarian

Robert Woodworth, Sophomore President and member of the Student Council, has been selected by the Student Council as Student Rotarian for the month of May.

N. Y. P. S. Officers Elected Sunday

N.Y.P.S. society of the college church of the Nazarene conducted their annual election of officers following the regular Young People's service Sunday night. Junior class was in charge of the services presenting a touching play on Mother's Day.

Officers elected at the meeting were: DeWitt McAbee, president; Archie Wilson and Stanford Ernest, tied for vice president; James Kayser, treasurer; and Frances Killion, secretary. These will take office in their official capacity with opening of the school year next fall.

President during the past year has been Mr. Crawford T. Vanderpool, of the senior class.

U. S. O. Drive is Under Way Here

U. S. O. drive was presented in chapel here Monday, in collaboration with the nation-wide program for United Service. Seventy-five students volunteered to assist in soliciting money and assistance to aid in providing entertainment for young men in the armed forces of the United States.

Following a dinner in the college dining hall Tuesday evening, the volunteers canvassed residences in Kurtz addition, Nampa.

Dr. DeLong to Give Baccalaureate Ad.

Baccalaureate service for N.N.C. will be held May 24, at 11 o'clock in the Central Auditorium.

Wearing their caps, gowns and hoods, both the faculty and graduates will participate in the academic procession at the opening of the service. The colorful procession will include the white hoods of the liberal arts degree, the red of theology, the blue of philosophy, the pink of music, and the grey of speech. The tassels will also indicate the field of each of the students. At this time Dr. R. V. DeLong will give the annual baccalaureate address.

Dr. Orval J. Nease, general superintendent of the Church of the Nazarene, will deliver the annual sermon at the evening service which begins at 8 o'clock. These services will be united with the closing Sunday services of the Idaho-Oregon District Assembly.

Giving the address at the Commencement service to be held May 28, will be the Reverend Hardy C. Powers, superintendent of the Iowa District. Reverend Powers, who has spoken at the college before, is popular with all the students and is well qualified to speak at such an occasion. The Commencement exercises, which include the academic procession, address, presentation of diplomas, announcement of honors and conferring of degrees, will also be held at Central Auditorium.

Prominent Educator and Theologian Elected by Regents April 29th

To Take Office July 1; Launch Summer Campaign

Dr. L. T. Corlett

Dr. L. T. Corlett, Dean of Theology at Bethany Penial College, accepted the presidency of Northwest Nazarene College after being elected by the Board of Regents April 29, in Spokane, Wash. Announcement was made to students, Monday, May 4th by Rev. Melza Brown, secretary of the Board of Regents.

Dr. Corlett, a prominent educator in the Church of the Nazarene for the past eight years, has been successful both in the fields of teaching and administration. The new president is outstanding in homiletics and practical theology.

The administrator completed his undergraduate work at Penial College, Penial, Texas, and took graduate work at the Union Baptist Seminary in Dallas, Texas. The Doctor of Divinity Degree was conferred upon him by the school where he is now Dean of Theology.

The new president has taught at Pasadena College as well as enjoying a successful pastoral career in Montana, California, New Jersey, and Texas. He is the author of the Missionary Study Book of 1939-40 and is a steady contributor to the Preacher's Magazine and the Herald of Holiness.

Sunday evening, Dr. Corlett in a visit to the college presented a stirring message at the College Church using as his text, Isaiah 28:16, 17. He spoke of Christ as Conqueror and Victor, a foundation for the Christian which stands secure regardless of how men and devils may rage. The cornerstone of the Church, Christ may be tried in every circumstance of this old world.

STUDENT BODY OFFICERS ELECTED

Final returns from elections of new student body officers for the coming school year were announced recently, and those elected to take office at the close of this school year are as follows:

President—Lamont Lee, Yakima, Wash.
Vice-President—Robert Woodworth, St. Paul, Minn.
Treasurer—John Brasch, Boise, Idaho.

Secretary—Dorothy Lancaster, Alberta, Canada.
Sgt. at Arms—Virgil Vail, Nampa, Idaho.

S.C.A.S. Campaign Launched
In a recent chapel service held by the student council, LaMont

Lee, student body president elect, announced the launching of N.N.C.'s annual summer Student-Get-Student Campaign. State bands met following that meeting, and officers of the various state bands were elected. There are over 20 states represented by present student body of N. N. C., and the campaign will include seven Northwest states and a universal band from the remaining.

Motto Presented
"Optimism for N. N. C. in '43" was the motto presented by Mr. Lee in optimistically launching the campaign for an increase in enrollment next fall with each student doing his part to advertise and propagandize for N.N.C.

COMMENCEMENT

Once again Commencement season is approaching N. N. C. A thrilling time of year it is, when the breath of spring fills the air, and all nature seems to sing of a new awakening. Then comes this annual epoch, the consummation of the college year. It is a season that many have waited for, and dreamed of, for many months. It marks the point where young people leave their schools and go out into the world to face life's situations.

At this commencement season, we have much to be thankful for. We are very fortunate that we have been permitted to remain here at N.N.C. and that there is still a Northwest Nazarene College to attend. We can be thankful for the Spiritual blessings that have been ours during this school year—for God's presence in revival efforts, prayer meetings, regular church services, and in each one of our daily lives. Let us praise Him for that.

Let's keep the Spirit of God in our midst as we approach this commencement time. We can make it wonderful if we, the students of Northwest Nazarene College, all work together to do so. Some of the greatest Spiritual outpourings at N.N.C. have been at commencement in past years. Is there any reason why this one cannot be the best yet? It will be, if we trust God to make it so, and then one do his own part. —V. C. B.

DISCOURAGEMENT

You're beaten to earth? Well, well, what's that?
Come up with a smiling face!
It isn't against you to fall down flat;
But to lie there—that's a disgrace." Selected.

Success and achievement of a goal come only through long and hard struggle and perhaps after many unsuccessful attempts. Edison made thousands of "attempts" that wouldn't work, but he kept on until he found the invention that would do the work. Abraham Lincoln made a "flop" of everything, seemingly, but he kept on plugging until one day he became one of the most noted and best loved of our United States presidents.

The man who has never met defeat has never tried to accomplish anything. But the man who sets his face toward a goal and starts toward it gets knocked down and slips time and again. Everything seems to be swooping down and crushing his endeavors. But a man doesn't quit when the going gets rough. He gets up and wipes his brow and brushes off the dust of his fall and goes right on.

What if things aren't what you dreamed they'd be? Do you have to be pampered? Want to be a softie? You aren't finished because you fell down! Take a lesson from the kid who tumbles when he's learning to walk. He gets up and wobbles on again. Do the same—"get up and get it." Discouragement never won anything but defeat! There's a big future for the man with grit—"Come up with a smiling face!" —M. L. S.

This offer is a very attractive

OUR TIMES

by John Sutherland

History will long note the first ten days of May. For in that period the United States lost Corregidor and won the battle of the Coral sea. Yet in the larger sense of the word we did not lose a battle when we lost the island fortress that guards Manila bay. Altho Corregidor is now in Japanese hands, yet the men defending it were never outfought nor out-classed.

To the annals of American military history, which includes such notable examples of bravery as Custer's last stand, the Alamo and recently, Wake island, now is added the name—Corregidor. Strategically located in Manila bay, it commands the entrance to the harbor and Cavite naval base. Admiral Dewey's toughest job in his historic battle was to get by Corregidor. He did it at night and would have succeeded had not one of his firstline ships sent a shower of sparks from her funnel.

But this new chapter has been added to the record of the ancient Spanish fortress. A chapter written with the blood of American men. Written in the book of the greatest military conflict ever known to man, it is a chapter that does proud to the lads of Uncle Sam. Perhaps the ghost of Bunker Hill, Valley Forge, San Juan, the Goliad, Chatteau Thierry, Ballieu Wood and the Argonne watched and smiled as a new American army proved its metal in the blood bath of Manila bay. Perhaps the signers of the Declaration of Independence saw and realized at what cost the principles they set forth are now being defended. Perhaps American people will read of Corregidor and prepare themselves to wipe out this menace to their ideals.

A victory and a defeat, The Coral sea and Corregidor. The latter was our defeat, if you could call it such. But just as Bunker Hill and the Alamo have been emblazoned upon the pages of American history as monuments to American bravery, so Corregidor will not be forgotten in the annals of our land. And of its men, can we say, they upheld the motto of the leathernecks, "semper fidelis."

roduction by Dr. DeLong, Dr. Corlett was greeted by students with tremendous applause. The new president spoke briefly in appreciation of his election to office and of the work of Dr. DeLong in recent years. He called N. N. C. the finest sort of school he has ever been in.

Dr. Corlett stated that Dr. DeLong has done the "outstanding institutional and educational work at N.N.C." He also said that he has been close to responsibilities and that God had definitely led him to accept the election. The administrator said, "I cannot succeed and will not try without the definite following and leadings of the Holy Spirit."

Dr. Corlett will accept the responsibilities of office formally on July 1 and is expected to launch an intensive summer program for next year. Known for his courageous enthusiasm and expository preaching, Dr. Corlett will be welcomed by the Northwest as an educational leader.

MORE CORN

Greetings, salutations, and all that kind of stuff! Still stiff and sore from the picnic? Wonderful, wasn't it? Now, for more details: Lorraine Jensen and Jack Howard—Howard Zink and Dorothy Hagemier—Rex Stanton and Dolores Castle—Violet Johnson and Vic Bundy—Gladys Johnson and Joe Yoder (How's these King's Messes to get around!)—Clarence Chittenden and Elizabeth Kisse (they were in the "brush" and nearly got left by the trucks)—Bob Lee and Pauline Lewis—Earl Berndt and Donna Wilson—Ruth Mangum and Morry Chalfant—Ruth Scholten and Bob Rowen. I shutter to think what might have gone on up in the mountings!

Education is that stuff that if you don't study the most of which your grades aren't as high as if. (That's the kind of education I seem to be getting.)

As was heard the other day: "I've lost another good pupil," said Prof. Reed, as his glass eye rolled down the sink! . . . A witty Senior in the dining hall said: "This steak is like the weather. Raw." As Mr. Seifarth would reply: "Your bill is like the weather, too. Unsettled. . . . And when Ernie Seifarth was eating down town the waitress told him not to be impatient, that he'd get waited on in time. Ernie said: "Yes, but I'd like to eat before the price of food rises!" . . . Then when Frank Cook suggested that "Splutt Shelby skip economics, Splutt replied that he just couldn't miss that much sleep.

A sign in Gideon Hall says: "Whoever stole Art Reisdorf's horn, please keep it until the end of school—(signed) his neighbors." Then another sign nearby says: "For sale—One Cheap Horn to anyone not residing in Gideon Hall!"—sounds like doings of social justice, Art.

Didja know More Corn is less corn this time 'cause there's a priority on the stuff. Gotta have rational books, ya know.

THE RESPONSIVE CHORD

The story is told by J. William Jones that in the early spring of 1863 when the Confederate and Federal armies were confronting each other on the opposite hills of Stafford and Spottsylvania, two bands chanced one evening to begin at the same hour to discourse sweet music on either bank of the river. A large crowd of soldiers from both armies gathered to listen to the music, the friendly pickets not interfering, and soon the bands began to answer each other. First the band on the northern bank would play "Star Spangled Banner," "Hail Columbia," or some other national air, and at its conclusion the "Boys in Blue" would cheer most lustily, and then the band on the southern bank would respond with "Dixie," "Bonnie Blue Flag," or some other southern melody and the "boys in gray" would attest their approbation with an old Confederate yell. But presently one of the bands struck up, in sweet plaintive notes, which were wafted across the beautiful Rappahannock, were caught up at once by the other band and swelled into a grand anthem which touched every heart, "Home Sweet Home."

At the conclusion of this piece there went up a simultaneous shout from both sides of the river—cheer followed cheer, and those hills which had so recently resounded with hostile guns, echoed and re-echoed the glad acclaim.

A chord had been struck responsive to which the hearts of enemies—enemies then—could beat in unison; and on both sides of the river,

Something down the soldier's cheek
Washed off the stains of powder.

This should bring to our minds the fact that one chord has been struck responsive to which all

Library Rustlings

In the light of present world conditions, especially after Dr. Hall's address, you should enjoy reading "My Last Meeting with Hitler" by Prince Starhemberg in Harpers for May. After humbling himself enough to arrange for a private interview with Starhemberg, Hitler spent forty minutes of the conference period declaiming on interior and exterior architecture—a subject which, as far as the prince could see, had no bearing upon Austria's political problems.

Are Commencement activities wearing you out with their stress and strain? Rest a little while by enjoying a trip to Old Virginia via May's Geographic ("Tidewater Virginia" by Atwood). With its lavish use of colorful illustrations the article will give you the feeling of a real excursion into America's beautiful past—and present.

It has been said that Russia is Hitler's mistake, that the Fuhrer has been repeating Napoleon's story. Read C. Fadiman's reactions to this theory in "The Ghost of Napoleon" (Atlantic, May).

hearts are made to beat in unison. No matter how divergent men have become in their customs and modes of living, the common center and meeting place around which every heart is made to beat is Jesus Christ. He alone answers the universal heart cry of the human race.

From Idealism To Realism

Who put the extraneous matter in Mrs. Murphy's chowder? Who threw the rock in Mrs. Uppington's window?

Who threw the water in on the members of the seminar in metaphysics?

The discussion at the time concerned the grounds on which natural realism is rejected by personalism. The class was a bit restive. The instructor had just finished reading a poem on the cosmic urge. Then it happened. Through the open window came a deluge. Hugh McDowell was thoroughly drenched as were several near the window.

What did these worthy intellectuals do? All upper classmen, and studying a field that involves the fundamental causes and processes of things, they might be expected to attribute the act to an expression of the cosmic urge and then proceed to discuss the fundamental causes and processes of things. But did they do that? Not on your life.

A recess was declared immediately and they stormed the campus in search of the offenders. Maurice Chalfant and Bob Soule were unanimously decided upon as the criminals. Chalfant was nowhere to be found, but the unfortunate Mr. Soule was roughly seized and though dressed in pajamas, cast rudely, headlong into

"Who Is Ethyl Chloride?"

Has anybody seen Ethel Chloride? David Long hasn't; nor have the girls in the general office. David was instructed by some of the (chemists?) of the school to run a little errand. These (chemists??) wished to know if there was a phone call for a certain Ethyl Chloride on record in the general office.

It seems that no word for the young lady had come. David returned quite solemnly to announce the same. He was thanked graciously by these (chemists???)

The startling part of the whole affair is that to this day, the girls in the general office are still waiting for a call for Ethyl Chloride. No fooling!

the little irrigation ditch on the lawn in front of Gideon Hall.

The moral is: if the cosmic urge overtakes you, make such preparation necessary to insure that the seminar class cannot.

P. S. Chalfant is still wearing his swimming suit underneath his trousers.

Another national selective service registration will take place July first. Most male N.N.C. students who are not registered will be effected.

ACADEMY ACTIVITIES

Academy Biologists Make Field Trip

"Oh, there's a starling, no, it's only a female blackbird," was a familiar remark which might have been heard by a "mouse in the corner" while visiting the Academy Biology trip last Thursday. Since the trip was limited to the campus or thereabouts, the results were not as satisfactory as they might have been although a total of 22 different birds was seen by the members of the class. All of the birds were common except two or three species. David Messenger was the best observer of the morning, having seen 16 varieties. Joan Sharp was next with 14 birds to report. Professor Adler was in charge of the expedition which was spread out from Kurtz park to the creek behind Gideon hall.

Jr.-Sr. Banquet To Be Held May 19

In high school, Freshman are busy getting adjusted, Sophomores, are learning something, Seniors are worrying about their graduation, but the Juniors worry about the banquet. Strange as it may seem, however, the worries usually come to naught, for the Junior-Senior banquet is one of the major events of high school life.

The banquet this year will be no exception, for the various committees are working hard on the plans for it. Gladys Franklin, as general chairman is showing remarkable talent in planning for

N. N. A. Singers in Music Contest

Thursday morning, four Academy seniors left for Pocatello to enter the Regional Music Contest there. All of those who went felt that the trip was very satisfactory from the standpoint of results, and also that of fun, for, as Ramona Vanderpool put it, "We really had gobs of fun," and Richard Lindbloom and Gene Speakes and the girls of course, know "jolly well" that they wouldn't have missed seeing the Pocatello baseball team defeat Salt Lake City for anything. Quite naturally, "Shorty" got the most possible out of her ride.

Mrs. Fraser and her four charges are very grateful to Miss Gale for sponsoring the trip. Mrs. DeLong deserves much credit for work in helping the soloists, and Mrs. Fraser for being such a sympathetic accompanist.

It is felt that each singer did his best for the ratings in this event were highly satisfactory. Doris Marie Culver, Ramona Vanderpool, and Eugene Speakes rated 2 and Richard Lindbloom, accomplished tenor, rated 1 among the artists from the various states which were represented in Pocatello. The results were compared with those of the District Festival and the ratings computed from that standpoint.

this. So, to the Seniors, the Juniors wish to promise an interesting banquet at the Idaho Pines. Note to the wise: All of the escorts have not been secured as yet.

NNC Treks to Woods Friday, Annual Picnic

Leaving the campus last Friday morning at an early hour, five truck loads of students headed for Ten Mile Creek, where the annual school picnic was held.

As soon as breakfast was eaten, everyone set out to have a day of fun and relaxation. Hiking the nearby mountains proved to be the most popular activity. Wading in the stream, playing ball, and stretching out on the grass to sleep were some other things done by the young people.

Much interest was aroused by the visit to Idaho City on the trip back. Once, one of Idaho's most prosperous cities, it is now merely a ghost town. The many empty store buildings and houses are evidence of this fact.

Another stop was made at Daggett Creek, where the day's activities were brought to a close with a weiner roast. When it was all over, everyone agreed that "the picnic was tiring, but it was lots of fun!"

Exacting Exams (preview)

Bowed by the weight of Calculus he leans

And on his mind the burden of —an F.

From the haggard faces of the Professors, from the distressed mein of usually carefree students, and from the well used books which a week ago had scarcely been opened, a person can draw but one conclusion—EXAMINATION WEEK. And since I was a participant (Twasn't my idea, however) I can confirm that suspicion. Yes, (Whew!) it was "Exam Week." Like a great and terrible plague, it has swept through our class rooms, eliminating many and greatly weakening those that it left. Whence comest this subtle destruction?

The dictionary defines examination as, "The act of... being examined." Ugh! No one has ever been submitted to the ordeal could hold himself so in check. Might we, on the basis of superior experience along this line, suggest a more realistic definition?

What's In a Name?

I have a name; you have a name; everybody has a name.

The thing I haven't as yet been able to figure out why we don't all get together and have the same name. Some people change their name lots of times; other people keep the same name forever. Perhaps the reason for this is the fact that in the United States one-half

State Educator Speaks to F. T. A.

Miss Hilts, state certification clerk in Idaho for teacher certification and placement, spoke to the Future Teachers of America here recently about teacher applications to school boards, forms for and technique of application to the state employment service, and requirements for applicants.

A general discussion ensued in which the members received valuable information about the art of teaching, and the more important procedure of getting a school and keeping it. The war situation is challenging our teachers to the limit, and the teacher shortage is one of the problems of the educational system today. Miss Hilts mentioned, however, that the shortage was not so acute as it has been thought, for there are out-of-state teachers to take the place of the Idaho teachers who are employed by Uncle Sam.

This was Miss Hilts' first visit to the campus of Northwest Nazarene College, and she was very much impressed with the physical equipment of the school, especially so with the tour through Morrison Hall.

In another meeting of the association, the problem of morale in our education system was discussed, and it was thought that the school teacher of today had more to do about building up high morale in this country than perhaps any other organization. Teachers of today are perhaps not the first line of defense, but they surely are one of the vital cogs in the great wheel of defense, and without that cog, our country would fail. Northwest Nazarene College is the third largest educational school reporting in the state of Idaho. It is graduating nearly fifteen students to go out and teach every year.

OLYs, LSPs Present Double Feature

The second and last double feature program of year was presented in college auditorium Friday evening May 1, by the Olympian and Lambda Sigma Pi societies.

Lambda Sigma Pi presented "Sod," a one-act drama portraying an episode in the life of the early settlers.

Sally Barnes (Dolores Castle) came from Indiana to share the hazards of homesteading in Western Nebraska with her husband, Jim Barnes (Ray Cotner). Sally had never adjusted herself to the new environment and had planned and saved through the years to send her daughter, Tessie (Oletha Creek) back to her people for an education so that she might not live the life of toil and hardships in the sod plains. However, Tessie chose the life on the prairies by marrying a neighbor boy, Carl Carlson, (Bob Lee); thus she upset her mother's plans, shattered her dreams, and provided the basis for a heart-penetrating situation.

Other features of LSP program was a trombone solo by Ramon Vanderpool, a reading by Bethel Fritch, and a quartet number by Elwood Smith, Jack Howard, Theophil Delzer, and Ramon Vanderpool.

The Olympians presented a program on the lives of Biblical women. Laddie and Lamont Lee narrated as the various characters stepped out of a large imitation Bible. These characters were:

- Ruth, Virginia Kirley; Naomi, Ruth Matthews; Orpha, Betty Dillon; Esther, Phyllis Roberts; Prime Minister, Wilfred Bottemiller; Jezebel, Virginia Lee; Naboth, Dick Kisse; Woman, Kathryn Carlisle.

Nellie Stratton had charge of the costumes.

Richard Lindbloom and Gene Speakes sang a duet.

Students of N.N.C. have been registering along with other townspeople for the national war-time rationing of sugar. Registration has been held afternoons this week at Junior high school.

Crusader Baseball Nine Downs Boise Junior College Broncos 21-15

As many Army bombers zoomed overhead on May 6, at Boise, the Crusader's baseball nine, playing a fine game, led the Broncos 21 to 1 in the first eight innings; but as the sun dropped lower and lower the Broncos were still walking around the bags in the last half of the ninth inning. The Crusaders used three pitchers before the Broncos ninth inning rally of fourteen runs was halted.

Vail pitched five hitless innings for the Crusaders, allowing only one run. In the fourth inning N. N. C. put 12 runs across the plate. Ulmet pitched three innings and allowed 3 hits and no runs; but in the ninth he lost his arm and was replaced by Kissee after walking four men in succession. Kissee couldn't find the plate, for he walked 2 and hit 2. Then Bottemiller tried his arm. He hit 1, walked 1, and allowed 5 hits, before the Broncos were stopped, leaving the final score 21-14.

Vail struck out 3; Ulmet struck out 4, allowed 2 hits, and walked 6, Kissee walked 2, and hit 2; Bottemiller hit 1 and allowed 5 hits.

N. N. C. had 17 hits compared to B. J. C's 7. Chalfant accounted for 4 hits for N.N.C.; Barnes of B.J.C. connected with a home run to long left field off Bottemiller. N.N.C. had 7 errors to B.J.C.'s 9. Burton and Westbrook were officials.

We will play B.J.C. Friday here. Score by innings.

LSP Girls Down OLYS

The LSP girls softball team defeated the Olympians last week 9-6. After trailing throughout the game they went on a scoring spree in the first of the last inning, changing the score from 3-6 to 9-6. The Olympians, who had not been defeated this season, were unable to get in another run. The LSPs and Olympians are now tied for first place in softball.

In the second game the ADPs defeated the SLAs.

King's Messengers Sing at Twin Falls

King's Messenger Quartet represented Northwest Nazarene College in services at Twin Falls and Gooding, Idaho during the past week-end. Mr. H. H. Nevin, Assistant Business Manager of the college, appeared with the quartet and was in charge of the services. Church of the Nazarene at Twin Falls was the scene of the morning concert, while the group appeared at the Gooding church in the evening.

Tick Tocks

"Ow! That's my tick arm!" So they yell, as they carry their swollen arms at half mast, ready to protect it in case some careless student inadvertently bumps it. What's it all about? Well, you see, that's ticks in them thar hills, and the students, unfavorably impressed with what they have heard of spotted fever, are unwilling to meet the little red varmints without being "forearmed." And so they submit themselves to the hypodermic needle loaded with the serum which hurts "like the John" but makes you feel plenty safe after it quits hurting.

Dr. Heimburger, who mercilessly shoots his wide-eyed victims, reports that up to Monday of last week 349 had registered for shots, and that up to that time he had used over a pound of cotton and three pints of alcohol—rubbing alcohol. No casualties reported.

Music Organizations Sing for Rotary Clubs

Music organizations of N.N.C. will entertain at local Rotary club luncheons this week. Wednesday noon a cappella choir is singing for the Nampa Club, and Thursday Dr. DeLong will speak and the King's Messenger male quartet will entertain Boise Rotarians.

BJC Girls Play Tennis

Three BJC tennis players visited our campus last week. In the singles match Virginia Lee defeated the visitor 6-2, 6-4. In the doubles the BJC team defeated our team in a three set match 7-5, 2-6, 6-4. The match score for the afternoon was 1-1. This was the first visit a girls team has made to our college.

OLYs and LSPs Triumph

Olympian girls defeated the ADPs in softball 18-3 last week. The ADPs found it impossible to hold the OLYs down.

The LSPs beat the ADPs in the second game with a final score of 6-1. The LSPs have been defeated only once this season.

"LET'S PLAY"

by Kae

Oh those sore muscles and aching backs! Smile, chilluns, and just be glad you didn't get spotted fever—yet. They say it's several days before you come down with the stuff. Hiking and rope jumping were the sports of picnic day. Prof. Reed seems to have found his calling. He and Axie just about wore the "rope turners" out. Well—Dean Wallace says you should excel in something. Pat MacMillan went swimming—and in overalls. Deah, deah.

Girls' baseball is getting mighty interesting. Both Olympians and LSPs have lost one game—and that to each other. Each team is determined to win the championship. Hmm—the Olympian boys have kept right in there on the baseball diamond, walking off easily with first place.

School is about out, kids, and that means track day isn't far off. Better leave your studies long enough to get in little practice. Remember, you get more than a blue ribbon for breaking those records.
