Graduation Exercises Thurs.

Baccalaureate Service Held Sunday In Central; Dr. DeLong Gives Sermon

Sunday morning, May 24, 1942, marked the beginning of Commencement activities of Northwest Nazarene College, with the baccalaureate service in central auditorium.

The morning program began with the academic processional lead by Dr. Russel V. DeLong and Orval J. Nease, followed by members of the board of Directors, the faculty, the graduates, and the students.

The program consisted of a congregational hymn, "All Hail the Power," lead by Prof. R. J. Lush; prayer by Rev. Glen Griffith, district Supt. of the Idaho-Oregon-Utah District; two musical selections by the Acappella choir; scripture reading by Melza Brown, pastor of Nampa first church; and the baccalaureate sermon by Dr. DeLong. Dr. O. J. Nease, general supt. from the Church of the Nazarene pronounced the benediction.

Sunday evening was the scene of the annual sermon given by Dr. O. J. Nease in conjunction with the district assembly. Musical selections were rendered by a great mass choir and the King's Messengers Quartet.

SLA Presents Program Tues.

Did Nero burn Rome? This question was answered in "The Wages of Sin," the play presented by the Sigma Lambda Alpha athletic-literary society last night in the college auditorium.

Written by two of the students, Frank Lowman, program chairman of the society, and John Sutherland, it pictured the conditions which existed in Rome between 40 A.D., and 60 A.D., as a result of pagan rulers. It told of Christian persecution at that time and gave an inkling of what conditions would have been like if the Christians had had more influence.

Included in the cast were Wilbur Rogers, Paul Mangum, Yvonne Neuman, Alverna Ricketts, Rex Stanton, Dorothy Lowman, Leo Satter, Glen Reed, Forrest Coates, Bob Talbert, Tom Waller, Wilbert Mills, John Sutherland, Frank Lowman, Esli Young, Archie Wilson, Parker Maxey, Jim Kayser, Dan Painter and Morris Chalfant.

A.D.P.'s Present "Saul, Son of Kish"

Friday night, May 21, the Alpha Delta Phi Athletic-Literary society presented "Saul, Son of Kish." This play, under the direction of Melvin Finkbeiner, program chairman, was composed by a teacher in the local high school.

The cast wore unusually elaborate and beautiful costumes, for which credit is to go to Elaine Carlson, Costume Manager.

The play presented the life of King Saul from the time he was chosen King of Israel until his death and dealt with the changes which came to his life in that time. David and Samuel were also portrayed in the play.

Neuman—McDowell Engagement

Engagement of Miss Yvonne Neuman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Neuman, 167 Chestnut, Walla Walla, and Mr. Hugh McDowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. McDowell, N. 1412 Post Street, Spokane, was announced by Toastmaster Crawford Vanderpool at the formal dinner in Morrison hall Monday evening. Mr. McDowell is Student Body President of Northwest Nazarene College and Miss Neuman has been well known on the campus the last two years. The entire student body extends congratulations to this popular couple.

N. N. C. Alumni Meet Today

N. N. C. graduates are having a full day today with a breakfast at 9 a. m., picnic at Lakeview park at noon, and fellowship banquet at 6:30 p. m. in Morrison hall. The Beta Chapter, the normal school graduates, will be having their breakfast at the Idaho Pines at 9 a. m., and the Alpha Chapter, the college graduates, are to have their picnic at 12 noon at Lakeview park. The fellowship banquet in Morrison hall dining room will wind up the day's activities.

Guest speakers at the evening banquet will be Hallis Grubb of Snowqualmi, member of the class of 1922, Charles Croft of Wenatchee, and Ross Price of Billings, both of the class of '32, Dr. R. V. DeLong will be main speaker of the evening. Rev. Lauriston DuBois of Spokane, president of the association will be toastmaster.

This year's banquet will honor the graduates of the classes of 1922 and 1932. At the business meeting Wednesday evening, annual election of officers will take place.

Associated Women To Sponsor Tea

Associated Women Students of N. N. C. will sponsor a tea tomorrow afternoon in honor of Senior girls and commencement guests. Tea will be served in the parlor and court from two to four. Mrs. DeLong, Prof. Adler, Deans Wallace and Bollinger will pour. The band will play from three to three-thirty. Other features of the program will be vocal selections by Misses Yvonne Neuman, Harriet Bott and the Academy girls' sextet, including the Misses Doris Marie Culver, Ramona Vanderpool, Phyllis Roberts, Elizabeth Kisse, Gladys Franklin and Lois Brown. All commencement visitors are cordially invited.

Officers of the Associated Women, elected recently, are as follows: President, Dorothy Lancaster; Vice-President, Wilma Kern; Secretary-Treasurer, Wanda Davis; Social Chairman, Marjita Lee; Librarian, Charlotte Hume; Chaplin, Beulah Sheppard.

Fine Arts Program Presented Monday Evening

Presented by students of the music department was the Fine Arts program given Monday evening in the college auditorium. Those who participated have been, during the school year, the pupils of Professor Ronald J. Lush, Doris Gale DeLong, Ella Leona Gale, and Elizabeth Nelson.

The program was as follows: Invocation, Professor M. A. Wilson; "March of the Little Lead Soldiers," Gabriel Pierne; Valise Triste, Jean Sibelius, by College Orchestra; Organ, "Allegro Pomposo," F. H. Halloway, by Wayne Antrim; Soprano solo, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," Saint-Stens, by Jessie A. Scheithe; Piano, "Ballade" in G. Minor, Frederic Chopin, by Doryce Ross Fraser;

Minor, Edward Batiste by Hester Williams; contralto solo, "Kashmiri Song" (violin obligato) Hope, by Lois Franklin; piano, "Malaguena" from Spanish Suite, Ernest Lecuoma, by Elaine K. Carlson; organ, "Triumphal March," Dudley Buck, by Eleanor Lenton; soprano solo, Aria from "La Traviata" (Ah, was it He My Fancy Saw When in the throng of Pleasure), Verdi, by Alverna Ricketts; trombone solo, "Clair de Lune" Debussy-Arr. R. J. Lush, by Bonnie Dhu Bea;

"The Lord's Prayer," Moloete, "Homing," Teresa Del Riego, by Ladies' Glee Club; tenor solo, "Nocturne," Pearl Curran, by Richard Lindbloom; organ, "Grand Chorus," William Spence, by Jessie A. Scheithe; "American Crusader," Lester Brockton, "Star Spangled Banner," Key-Arnold, by College Band; benediction, President R. V. DeLong.

Oasis and Crusader Editors Elected

Announcement has been made of the recent student body election for editors of N.N.C. publications for next year, with Lewis Roberts chosen editor of the OASIS, college yearbook, and Robert Woodworth heading the CRUSADER, school newspaper.

Lewis Roberts, Nampa, will be a sophomore next year and has been active in all college publications. Graduating from Nampa high school as business manager of the school newspaper, he assumed that position on the staff of the N.N.C. Crusader this year. His work on the Oasis this year has been in photography and art. He will succeed Leland Johnson, present editor of the Oasis.

Robert Woodworth, St. Paul, Minn., popular president of the sophomore class, held the position of managing editor of the N.N.C. Crusader this year. Elected to fill the position of vice-president of the associated student body for next year, Woodworth will also preside over the newly organized Men's club. Student Council, the Messenger's male quartet, and a cappella choir likewise claim his membership. He will succeed Victor Bundy, present Crusader editor.

Academic Processional to Keynote Annual Exercises Tomorrow Night

Oasis To Be Issued Today

...students wondering... staff working... teachers hoping... Oasis coming out. Quality engraving, excellent printing, Johnsonian ideas will make a superb annual.

Yes sir! The day the staff has been working for, the day the students have been looking for is almost here. The 1942 Oasis, and is it a honey!, is just about to come off the press. Wednesday, just after the noon hour, every lad and lassie will gather in the chapel to witness the ceremonies attached to presenting the annual.

Those "in the know" confidently assert that the 1942 annual is the best ever to picture life and activity of N.N.C. Leland Johnson, a man of ideas, has concentrated his talents to give the students an Oasis worthy of portraying the year we have just passed thru.

So get your student body and picture fees paid and prepare to have one of the most pleasant experiences of your life. A few of the questions to be answered today will be... What is the color of the annual?... To whom is it dedicated?... What is the theme carried out?... and last but not least... How does my picture look?

Senior Class Gives Program

The annual program of the Senior class will be given Thursday, May 28 at 1:15 in the College Chapel. After the program, everyone will go out to the traditional tree planting ceremony. The program will be as follows:

Invocation
Scripture, Ecclesiastes 12, Male Quartet
Speech, Senior President, Guy Nees
My Prayer, Solo, Lois Franklin
Valedictory, Speech, Geraldine Huhnke
Class Will, M. A. Anderson, A. Brassfield and L. Lindsey
Class Prophecy, L. Johnson and B. Maxey
Negro Spiritual, Selected, Male Quartet
Salutatory, Speeches, Fay Twist and Lorene Morrow
Sweet Will of God, Fanny Crosby, Senior Trio
Amazing Grace, John Newton, Senior Octett
Benediction, Dr. R. V. DeLong.

Band Concerts Held Recently

Like an oasis in the desert, a refreshing pause from curricular duties was afforded the students of NNC by the school band, led by Prof. Lush, as it gave a concert Thursday evening, May 14 in Kurtz park. The National Anthem was the first number, followed by "Remember Pearl Harbor."

The scheduled one hour program with numbers by the orchestra and the King's Messengers as well as by the band was cut short due to the customary and sudden appearance of rain.

Commencement Exercises to be Thurs.

Annual Commencement exercises Thursday evening will climax an eventful week at Northwest Nazarene College. Rev. Hardy C. Powers, district superintendent of the Iowa district of the Church of the Nazarene, has been chosen to be the special commencement speaker. Rev. Powers is well known to NNC students, having held a successful revival here last year.

Commencement exercises will take place in the auditorium of Central Junior high school through courtesy of the Nampa public school system. This change in location has been made this year in order to accommodate the huge crowds which have overflowed the College Auditorium in past years.

More than 120 graduates will march in processional into the auditorium, with faculty members and regents leading and the entire student body following from seniors to grammar school students. Commencement address will take place presentation of diplomas and certificates, including Christian Workers' Normal School certificates, and Academy and Grade School Diplomas. Then will come announcement of honors and conferring of degrees by President Russell V. DeLong. Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science (Nursing), Bachelor of Theology, and Master of Theology degrees will be given.

The Master's degree in Theology will be given this year to Eugene Culbertson, George Weldon Franklin, and I. Parker Maxey.

Commencement exercises mark the closing of a year at Northwest Nazarene College that has been successful in every way; numerically, financially, scholastically, and Spiritually. This year saw the largest enrollment in the history of the institution, 609 students being enrolled in all departments.

Speech Contest

Last week an intra-collegiate speech contest was held in the Chapel in which dramatic and humorous readings and poetry were featured.

Miss Erlene Elmore, College Freshman, took first place in the Dramatic Reading section, Bethel Fritch took second place and Beatrice Maxey third place.

In the poetry division the award for first place went to Hughlon McDowell, College Senior. The award for second and third places went to Archie Wilson and Alice Brassfield.

The humorous readings were given the following morning in the chapel. LaMont Lee took first place, followed by Dolores Castle and Bethel Fritch in second and third positions.

A fourth section of the contest, after dinner speaking, was run off at the formal dinner held in Morrison Hall dining hall on Monday night, May 25. In this section John Sutherland took first, Andrew Hanners second, and Mrs. Lydia Markusen third places.

CONGRATULATIONS, SENIORS

Here's to you, Seniors: You have reached an epoch in your lives for which you have waited long. We congratulate you. You have come up through toils and trials; there have been hard days and easy ones, dark hours and bright hours, but through them all you have remained steadfast and kept your eyes on the goal until at last you have triumphed. The romance of college days has been yours; you have enjoyed in the fullest the physical, spiritual, cultural, and educational advantages of an institution such as Northwest Nazarene college. They have contributed much to your lives.

The world of today is very dark; you are equipped to make it brighter. The people of today need Christ; you are equipped to bring Him to them. Some of you will be Ministers; some will be Christian laymen; but you all will have your places to fill in society. You have the training to make a success of anything that may come across your pathway. Thus, to college seniors and graduates of various other branches of Northwest Nazarene College, the world is yours. Make of it what you will. And may the God who has seen you through the difficult years of obtaining your education bless you and guide you in life's problems. That is our prayer for you as you leave the halls of Northwest Nazarene College.

THANK YOU, NNC

In a feeble way, NNC, I shall try to pay a small portion of the tribute which is due to you. To me you are more than just an institution of knowledge. You are a distinct personality. And as a personality you have been the recipient of a heritage and environmental influences which have molded you into a personality. Sacrifice, struggle, adversity, the lifeblood of consecrated Christians have gone into the making of that personality.

And so we thank you because of what you have given to us, the ones who are leaving your halls. You provided a place in which we struggled thru a maze of intellectual problems and came out with our Christian principles more firmly rooted and grounded on the faith which our fathers bequeathed to us. You gave us Christian instructors who carefully watched and directed not only our mental pursuits but the forming of our own personalities. You were very considerate toward our financial embarrassments and did everything you could to make the way possible.

More than that, NNC, thank you for the spiritual influence which you so graciously cast about our every activity. Basketball, debate, programs, dining hall meals, classrooms, all have felt the touch of that phase of your personality. Prayer meetings which took place in your chapel shall never be forgotten. Revival tides came sweeping again and again to permanently mark our lives. For this, NNC, we thank you the most.

And we're not holding a funeral service for you this semester, either. We have the faith that thru the years to come that vitality which marks a well-rounded life shall be poured out into the lives of the young people who are following us. Only when the Christ who has been our Master ideal closes the pages of mortality will we know the totality of your influence.

May God bless you, NNC. You've been a swell friend, an honest guide, and a constant inspiration. We'll never forget you. We'll never get away from you. And for the colors of Orange and black which represent the school which gave us our purpose in life for us, Character-Culture-Christ, we say "Keep 'em flying."
Hugh McDowell

OUR TIMES

by John Sutherland

An open letter to a College Student:

Things have changed quite a bit since you enrolled last fall. Oh yes, the picture looked pretty black over in Europe. Germany controlled most of the continent and was grabbing more all the time. The Russians, however, were doing a pretty good job of teaching the Germans not to take so much in one mouthful. General Rommel and the British were see-sawing back and forth in Northern Africa while Britain was frantically preparing against the time of the dreaded invasion.

Over in the United States we hardly knew that a war was going on. True, we were shipping goods over and there was a draft to think about. But Americans were pretty well living as they always had. You could buy anything you wanted, go anywhere you wanted and do most anything you wanted.

Then came a Sunday in the first part of December. You had just come home from church, eaten a fine Sunday dinner and were getting settled for the afternoon. Perhaps you were listening to the radio. If you were, then you heard H. V. Kaltenborn in his crisp voice, a little more excited than usual, break into the broadcast with, "Ladies and Gentlemen I've just received an important communique from the President. The Japanese have attacked Pearl Harbor . . ."

Boy did you ever come to with a start! What's that? Pearl Harbor? Why isn't that our biggest naval base in the Pacific? And the Japs attacked that? Just who do they think they are anyway?

Yes, the Japanese had attacked Pearl Harbor. News came so fast for the next few days that it made your head dizzy to think of it. In a few days we had declared war on Japan, Germany and Italy. England declared war on Japan. Then followed other countries in rapid order. You were living in a country at war!

That's the picture. Not a bright one, is it? We could make it more cheerful by telling you that the Allied cause looks better now than at any time since Pearl Harbor.

Dawn is not far away. Already the faint streaks of morning appear on a war darkened sky. A short time and the Indian scout will stand above the camp looking toward the distant mountains of warring nations and give the cry, "Ee-dah-how," to a waiting world below.

That's your job. To in some little way bring that day just a bit closer. For the sake of that soldier "somewhere in the Pacific," for the sake of millions of enthralled people in Europe, and for the sake of Uncle Sam, lets do our best.

Rev. Penn, former missionary to Africa and Superintendent of the Nazarene missionary station there, was guest speaker at Northwest Nazarene College chapel one day last week. Rev. Penn gave an interesting talk telling of his first trip to the field, and amusing incidents that occurred while he was learning the language.

MORE CORN

Aha, the final issue—and now for some of you people I've left out so far this semester, and some of you do make the cutest couples too! For instance—Merle Bozarth and Beulah Sheppard . . . David Ellsworth and Leona Birks . . . Don Bolton and Viola Satter . . . Jamie Callahan and Paul Nolte . . . Hester Williams and Ernie Seifarth . . . Bob Swartz and Genevieve Stanton . . . Godfred Pearson and Olive Nyberg . . . Joe Schaffer and Esther Nyberg . . . Ray Freeburg and Hazel Bittleston . . . ! Oh dear! It's more than I can understand! What fools these mortals be!

Pat McMillan isn't nearly as big a flirt as she used to be . . . She isn't reforming either, . . . she's just reducing!

When Hanners asked if he were to remain after school, Prof. Washburn said, "No—I see enough of you during the day!"

And when someone asked Rickard what he was all puffed up about, he replied "Oh, Kay gave me the air."

Buster True was visiting the zoo and while there asked the zoo keeper where the monkeys were. The keeper said, "They're busy making love." Bus wanted to know if they would come out for some peanuts, and the keeper replied, "Would you?"

This is Homer Powell's conception of English: You see a girl walking in street. She is, of course, feminine. If she is singular, you are nominative. You walk across the street to her, strat being verbal, and then get dative. If she is not objective, you go into her house and sit down. Her little brother is a definite article. You talk of the future. She changes the subject. Later her father becomes present. Things are tense, and you become past participle. (Too bad Homer's major wasn't English.)

And when the Bowman twins were bragging about their brother, Clarence, they stated the fact, "That he is working with five thousand men under him." (He mows lawns at the cemetery.)

And this is what I heard Donna Ranum say to Lois Speer the other day when Lois asked Donna if she didn't speak to the boys anymore. "No! Whenever I see any I give them the geological survey." "Geological survey?" "Yes, what is commonly called the stony stare."

Did you kids know what the penalty for bigamy was? —Two Mothers-in-law!!!

Kay Callahan is not very fond of spiders, but she sure got caught by a Webb this time!

A cow recently walked into a library in search of "Green Pastures."

And when Lamont Lee asked Hugh McDowell why he had his shoes on the wrong feet, Hugh said, "Really,—and jus' think, they've been thataway for ten yeears, and I thawt I was club-footed all the time. (I could tell you more about Hugh regarding parliamentary Procedure, but—t'would only lead to bloodshed! Just ask him.)

Here are some couples of last Friday night: Louis Harris and Ella Zimbleman . . . Dick Kisse and Alverna Ricketts . . . Bob Soule and Bob Spencer . . . Jack Howard and Betty Miller . . . and Merle Bennet and Mae Durbin.

'Nuff said. Vacation's here. Be sure and have a grand time this summer and then come back next fall. Bye, 'n remember—Corn on the cob is better off!

It's nice to look back over five years of ones life with pleasant memories. When I first came to N.N.C. as an Academy senior, I was a little frightened with the full, fast-moving program, for I am somewhat a slow person. But I soon got adjusted, found many wonderful young people who I could really call my friends, and finally snapped out of my shyness. It was here where I became established in my Christian experience, making life even better than it had been.

N.N.C. is a good place to take artificiality out of you, knock off the rough places and polish you up so that you will be worth something to society and to the Kingdom of God. I know I had to be made over to some extent.

I cherish the years that I have spent here, and I expect because of my training at N.N.C. to be a more efficient soul winner. than if I had not been here.

Thanks to the faculty, student body, and my friend Jesus Christ.
—Lois Franklin

Commencement Etiquette for College Grads

Commencement exercises will be held May 28, at 8 o'clock in the Central Auditorium.

Faculty, graduates, and students will line up at 7:30 for the processional. The line of march will be as usual, with the board of directors first, then faculty, graduates, A Cappella Choir, seniors, normal school graduates; college juniors, sophomores, and freshmen; academy juniors, sophomores, and freshmen, and grammar school.

According to custom, the men will remove their caps at the invocation and will leave them off until the ceremony of conferring of degrees. Women will wear their caps throughout the exercises. During the conferring of the degrees the men will don their caps as they rise and leave them on until the conclusion of the ceremony. When the degree is conferred, each candidate will extend his left hand to receive the diploma from the president and will place the tassel on the left side of the cap with the right hand. It is suggested to look at the president when receiving the diploma, and that a smile is entirely in harmony with the occasion.

Dr. H. C. Dale, University Pres. Speaks in Chapel

"Never in the history of our country was the need so great as it is now for trained college and university students," said Dr. Harrison C. Dale, president of the University of Idaho, when he delivered an address before N.N.C. students in chapel Friday morning.

Dr. Dale, who has been affiliated with the University for 13 years, has filled the capacity as president for the past five years. This was his first appearance before N.N.C. student body.

"Formerly, students went to college to improve themselves," President Dale continued, "but in addition to that, young people today are desperately concerned what they can contribute toward the welfare of the world at large."

With a big, friendly smile, Dr. Dale remarked that N.N.C. students looked no different from college and university students everywhere who were interested in building up a "stock pile" of educated people.

Marines Announce Enlistment Plan

United States Marine Corps has announced acceptance of candidates for commission in the Marine Corps Reserve, according to a recent communication received recently by the CRUSADER from Marine Corps headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Qualified students and graduates are enlisted in the Marine Corps and are sent as members of the candidate's class through a ten-week training period before being commissioned as second lieutenants. A new regulation allows men up to 30 years of age to enlist.

Details and complete information are available at local Marine recruiting offices or from college authorities.

I Have Seen

Paul Mangum stuffing a candy bar under the long sleeves of his gown before going into class . . . Betty Miller looking bleary eyed after wrestling with an algebra book into the wee hours of the morning . . . Frank Lowman feeling artistic and not romantic for once . . . Leland Johnson being pestered about the date when the Oasis is coming out . . . Andy Hanners "trying" to pull another joke . . . David Long curious as to who "Dusty" is . . . David Carter "rounding up" his studies for the year . . . Norval Nelson wondering why the day doesn't have 48 hours (so that he could spend 36 in bed) . . . 6 cats looking a little bedraggled.

Mr. and Mrs. Is the Name

It looks as though wedding bells are going to be pealing quite frequently this summer for N.N.C. students. Rumor—and certainly—has it that the following are planning marriage this summer. By the way, if we're mistaken, excuse it—we just heard:

Donald Lammers, Fern Winter; Parker Maxey, Edith Morehouse; Leo Bailey, Joy Russell; Ira True, Jr., Esther (Dixie) Schwab; Roy Butchart, Mary Lou Speakes; Elvin Leavel, Beatrice Maxey; Ray Frieburg, Hazel Bittleston; Jay Budd, Lorene Piper; Aleck Ulmet, Ethelyn Bruner; Weldon Franklin, Ethel Thomas;

Andrew Hanners, Rachel Jansick; Byron Lee, Bettie Dysart; Crawford Vanderpool, Mildred McDowell; Donald Bolton, Viola Satter; Gottfred Pearson, Olive Nyberg; Joseph Shaffer, Esther Nyberg; Morris Rimbey, Elizabeth Gunter; George Nichols, Mabel Tish; Orville Smythe, Katherine Carlisle; Bob Swartz, Genevieve Stanton, Bob Mills, Naomi Graves

Among the alumni: Charles Zink, Dorothea Carroll; James Lisk, Doris Snyder.

And it's in the faculty, too, for Professor Oscar Ferguson Reed is to be wed to Grace Bugh in September.

The staff of the NNC Crusader wishes to extend heartiest congratulations and best wishes to each of these couples.

Intelligentia To Dine Thurs.

The "Intelligentia" of N.N.C. will gather tomorrow morning to partake of a breakfast served only to the favored ones whose brains have proved more than equal to grapple with the intricacies of a college education and to come out "more than conquered." That is to say, the members of the Delta Chapter of the Phi Delta Lambda, Honor Society of our Nazarene Colleges, will hold a breakfast in the Dewey Palace hotel tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock at which yeoulds ham and eggs will be partaken of and muchly enjoyed by all.

The permanent members of the Phi Delta Lambda are being invited as special guests.

Keys will be presented to all seniors who have obtained honors throughout their college years and who are now permanent members of the Phi Delta Lambda.

Formal Dinner Held In Morrison Hall

A semi-formal dinner last evening in the dining room of Morrison Hall was sponsored by the Associated Men of Northwest Nazarene College.

Featured at the dinner were the newly elected officers of the Associated Women's Club and the Associated Men's Club. Crawford Vanderpool was Master of Ceremonies.

Dr. and Mrs. R. V. DeLong, Prof. and Mrs. M. A. Wilson, Prof. and Mrs. Ronald Lush, Rev. and Mrs. D. I. Vanderpool, and Dr. Bower were among the guests of honor.

The after dinner speaking contest, sponsored by the Spencerian Speech Club was another feature of the evening. John Sutherland won first place in the contest. Second place was won by Andrew Hanners, and third place by Lydia Markusen.

At the close of the contest, Velma Blickenstaff, of the Spencerian Speech Club, awarded medals to the winners in all divisions of the public speaking contest which have been held at N. N. C. during the past two weeks.

Gold medals were awarded to John Sutherland, first in after dinner speeches; Hugh McDowell, first in the reading of poetry; Erlene Elmore, first in dramatic reading; and LaMont Lee, first in humorous reading. Silver and bronze medals were awarded to those winning second and third place.

The program included music by the Sophomore Ladies trio and the King's Messengers quartet. Hugh McDowell, President of the Student Body, spoke briefly.

She: My dad takes things apart to see why they don't go!
He: "So what?"
She: "You'd better go."

ACADEMY ACTIONS

N.N.A. Faculty Plan For Summer

Academy faculty members plan to engage in varying activities for the summer.

Professor Adler wishes someone would tell him what he plans to do, since his plans are very indefinite, but he will remain in the vicinity of Nampa.

Miss Culver will finish her work for the Master of Education degree, and will return next year to take up her duties, teaching education and history.

Mrs. Fraser, teacher of English, French, and music has finished four very successful years of high school teaching at NNA and plans to join her husband in Seattle for the summer. The students and faculty wish her success in the future as she has attained it in the past.

Miss Ruth Fritch will make a brief visit in her home, and then plans to attend the University of Minnesota to work on her Home Economics Education degree, and will return next year to teach Home Economics.

Dean Sharp, Bible and mathematics teacher, will work in a defense program and plans to return next year.

Mrs. Don Caine, having successfully completed her NNA career as a typing teacher, and having established the teaching of shorthand now plans to join her husband.

Academy Seniors Present Program

Senior talent of NNA will appear on the annual Senior program in the chapel tonight. Several solo and group numbers are to be featured. The valedictory, and salutation will be presented by the intelligentia of the class. This is to be a musical program since the class of '42 seems to excel in this particular field. The Senior class extends a cordial invitation to all students, faculty, and friends to join with them in making their last appearance for Northwest Nazarene Academy.

N. N. A. Classes Enjoy Banquet

Tuesday evening the faculty, Seniors and Juniors of Northwest Nazarene Academy gathered for the annual banquet which was held at the Idaho Pines.

The theme of the banquet was "The Rainbow". This plan was carried out in the decorations, programs, menu, and in speeches of the evening. Robert Sutherland, Junior class president and toastmaster, extended a welcome to the guests present. Richard Lindbloom in his response, expressed the sentiment that the Senior class was happy to be present but that they were leaving NNA with some feeling of regret. Participating in the evening's entertainment were Ramona Isgrigg, pianist; Gladys Isgrigg, pianist; Gladys Franklin, reader; and Elberta Travis and Laura May Smith, singing a duet.

Dr. DeLong, main speaker of the occasion, spoke concerning the "Pot of Gold" to be found at the end of the rainbow. He stated that there were five personality factors which made one's vat or pot hold the desirable ingredients which are given to others. "The five factors are self-respect, love, kindness, reverence, and friendship," said Dr. DeLong in his ministerial address.

Special guests of the evening were Dr. and Mrs. DeLong, Professor and Mrs. Lloyd Adler, Rev. and Mrs. Guy Sharp, Mr. and Mrs. Don Caine, Miss Thelma Culver, Mrs. Glenn Fraser.

Academy Boys Have Tennis Tournament

The tennis courts have been busier than usual the last few days literally swarming with Academy boys who are hoping for the defeat of certain acknowledged experts in order to give the others a chance.

Gene Speakes has been searching for more recruits to aid in running off an Academy tennis tournament. Virgil Vail, Elmore Vail, and Gene Speakes were the final entrants. Elmore Vail, captain of the varsity basketball squad came out on top in his final match with Virgil Vail, thus making him NNA champion tennis player.
