McNatt To Hold Fall Revival Beginning Monday

Reverend J. A. McNatt, district superintendent of the Idaho-Oregon district, will be the minister for the fall revival at N.N.C. Reverend C. Hastings Smith, previously announced speaker is unable to come because of illness.

Services will begin Monday, November 5 at the regular chapel service which will be held at 11 o'clock. Reverend McNatt will preach each morning at that time and each evening at 7:30. Special music will be in charge of Professor Taylor and Mr. Swann.

Born and educated in Shelbyville, Tennessee, Reverend McNatt served as a First Lieutenant in the infantry in World War I. After his marriage, he pastored at Ibra, Missouri for four years.

Since that time, Reverend McNatt has been in the evangelistic field for 16 years and has preached in 42 states. He accepted the position of district superintendent for this district in May, 1945.

Reverend and Mrs. McNatt reside at 716 Roosevelt Avenue here in Nampa.

JEWISH SOCIETY PRESENTS BOOKS

A gift of almost twenty books was presented to the N.N.C. library by the Jewish Chautauqua Society recently. After receiving a favorable reply to a letter of inquiry as to whether the library would accept books of this nature, the society sent these and will send others throughout the year.

These books cover a wide variety of fields. Among them is a Jewish translation of the Bible, a prayer book and a book of Jewish ceremonies. One book tells of Jewish beliefs, another of their philosophy, and one is a commentary on the Psalms in the Jewish version.

Included in the group are two or three history books dealing with different periods of the Jewish age.

DEBATE QUESTION IS ANNOUNCED

With the arrival of the official intercollegiate debate handbook, work is beginning on the recently announced question, according to Professor Malalieu Wilson, N. N. C. speech professor and debate coach. The question is, RESOLVED: That the Foreign Policy of the United States Should Be Directed Toward the Establishment of Free Trade Among the Nations of the World. The annual invitational Linfield Debate Tournament held in McMinnville, Oregon every spring usually climaxes the study of the debate question.

Professor Wilson stated that work had already begun on the question in the debate class. He plans to arrange some practice debates with nearby schools before the end of November.

Speaking of new students, the debate coach said, "We want to get as many freshmen as possible started in debate."

Three members of last year's varsity debate team — Marguerite Spencer, Virginia Kirley and Ed Dowd—will be debating this year. Professor Wilson is hopeful that the senior women's team composed of Miss Kirley and Miss Spencer will again take honors.

Now that the war is over and medals will be available, Professor Wilson plans to present keys or medals to the outstanding debaters at the end of the year.

STUDENTS CHOOSE SCRIPTURE, SONG

Favorite song of the student body proved to be "The Great Celestial Choir," according to a vote taken Monday, October 29 at the regular chapel service. Scripture verse selected was John 3:16.

The poll was taken at the request of the Nazarene Radio League which sponsors the program, "Showers of Blessings." The chosen verse will be quoted and the favorite song will be sung over the program in order to provide publicity for N.N.C.

Other songs near the top of the list were: "Amazing Grace," "The Love of God," "The Old Rugged Cross," and "The Haven of Rest."

"Seek ye first the Kingdom of God" was the runner-up for favorite verses. Romans 8:28 was next on the list. "The Lord is my shepherd I shall not want" and "Come unto me all ye that labour" also had several votes apiece.

Professor Culver Visits Campus

Visiting the campus for the last two weeks is Miss Thelma B. Culver, Professor of History and Secondary Education.

Miss Culver is on leave of absence from N. N. C. working toward her Doctor's degree at the University of Colorado. She has accepted an assistantship to Dr. Mills, who is professor of education there. Her main duties at the University are supervising the practice teaching in the Boulder public high schools and running her three-room apartment.

Regarding her visit to N.N.C., Miss Culver commented, "I think the spirit this year is splendid and it's grand to be back even for a few days. Sincerely, N.N.C. has a real work to do and I believe it will not fail."

She further stated, "Boulder is a nice city and is situated almost in the heart of the Rocky Mountains. It is really beautiful in the Rockies."

Trophies Are Now Being Engraved

Engraving on the trophies and cups in the trophy case is being brought up to date once more, Dr. Gish announced this week.

This year Mrs. Esther Vawter, who is enrolled at N.N.C. has begun work on the plaques and cups that the school awards.

Completed now are the Ronald J. Lush Band Trophy, the Donnell J. Smith Debate Cup, the Bonnie D. Bean Orchestra Trophy and the Doris Gale De Long Music Award.

LETTERMEN ELECT HEMPEL PRESIDENT

The Letterman's Club of N.N.C., resuming after two years without organization because of war-time conditions, met on Wednesday, Oct. 17. Re-organization of the N-Club was completed by election of officers. Dean Hempel, returned service man, was elected president; Orrin Hills, vice president; Roy Litsey, secretary; Bob Kiel, treasurer; and faculty sponsors, La Mont Lee and Dr. D. R. Gish.

Dean Hempel, president, reports that the club has laid some well-formulated plans for future activity in basketball. The most interesting of these is the pre-season basketball clinic for members of the academy and college squads. The date and speakers are not definite, but present plans are to include lectures on physical training by Dr. H. Wesche, and sportsmanship by Dr. Gish and Monty Lee. Wallace Roseboro, coach, also have some new ideas to present to the men.

Professor Smith To Read Epic

Coming to the campus on Tuesday, November 13 will be Professor Joseph F. Smith, president of the Western Association of Teachers of Speech. He will read an epic poem, "Western Star" by Stephen Vincent Benet at 8 o'clock that evening.

Professor Smith, a noted speaker and reader, is also co-author of the book, Fundamentals of Speech, which was used as a textbook for N.N.C. speech classes for several years. He was also head of the speech department at the University of Utah for many years.

Of Professor Smith, head of the speech department Professor Wilson says: "He is probably one of the best known speech men in the United States."

For the past several weeks,

SIGMA LAMBDA ALPHAS PRESENT COMEDY IN FIRST CONTEST PLAY

YEEND, SPORLEDER PLAY LEAD ROLES

"The Wedding," a one act comedy, will be given by the S. L. A. athletic literary society, Friday evening, Nov. 2 in the college chapel at 8 o'clock as the first program in the series of athletic literary contest programs. Helen Yeend and Bob Sporleder will carry the leading parts.

Geneva Stanfield, director of the play, has chosen the rest of the cast which includes Nellie Harryman, Gerrie Gaines, Lowell Blum, Dave Friesin and Wes Johnson.

Helen Yeend as Alice is the lovely young bride and Bob Sporleder plays the part of Bob, the handsome, nervous groom. The other characters are: Gerrie Gaines as Mrs. Tisdale, doting mother of the groom; Nellie Harryman, Miss Julie the sophisticated aunt; Lowell Blum, Mr. Grayson, father of the bride, and Dave Friesin as Archie, the scatterbrained, experienced beast man. Wes Johnson will play the part of Ted, the comical groomsman.

N. N. C. Music Club To Be Organized

Arrangements are being made to organize students of the music department of N. N. C. into a music club. Membership in the club will be open to those registered in the music department, including piano, voice, pipe organ, violin, music theory classes, as well as other musical groups. The membership fee will be small,—just enough to defray expenses of membership in the state and National Federation of music clubs. This should open new opportunities for students in competitive performance auditions in the state and district.

The main purpose of the music club on the campus is to foster and support semi-monthly recitals to be given on the fourth Wednesday and second Thursday of each month, at 4 p. m.

The constitution and by-laws of the club are now being drawn up by the music professors, to be submitted to the Administration for approval.

Davis Speaks At Staff Meeting

Miss Wanda Davis, Crusader editor of last year was the featured speaker at a meeting of the Crusader staff held Thursday, October 25 at 4:00 in the Crusader office in the library.

Thursday's meeting was the first for a series of proposed lectures to the staff on various phases of journalism. "How to Be a Good Reporter" was the topic Miss Davis discussed.

"If you want to be a good reporter", Miss Davis told the staff "you must be accurate, punctual, and to the point."

The next meeting which will be held November 1, will feature Marguerite Spencer as speaker. Miss Spencer has also been editor of the Crusader and at present holds a (Continued on page 4)

A CAPPELLA CHOIR ELECTS OFFICERS

A Cappella Choir officers for this year were elected Wednesday, October 24, at the regular class period.

Chosen to lead the group was Neva Newell, Senior, from Spokane, Washington. Other officers are Merle Bozarth, vice president; Betty Paulson, secretary; and Doris Rodman, treasurer.

Boys' robe monitors are Howard Zimmerman and Harold Daniels; Jeanne Durrand and Jeanette Robbs are robe monitors for the girls. Platform managers are Lowell Blum and Eldon Snyder. Selected as Sunday School teacher was Jerald Johnson.

Committee Presents Bench Regulations

New idea initiated by the Bench Committee this year is the warning list to be put up on a Friday, the students on it having until the next Wednesday to make up work before the bench list is posted the next Friday. To those on the bench the following rules apply: part cannot be taken in athletic games or in intramural programs of any kind, and required hours must be spent in study each day in the library. An F, two Ds, or an incomplete puts a student on the warning or bench list. These will be posted once a month and revised weekly.

Students, Faculty Pledge For Peru $2187 TO GO FOR LARKIN'S CHURCH

"The money is coming in very rapidly," reports Don Peterman, president of the General Missionary Society, which chose the building of a chapel in Chiclayo, Peru, as their project for this year. Pledges taken at a regular meeting Thursday, October 18, amounted to $2187.

The General Missionary Society each year chooses a project to which it sends its money. On behalf of Rev. Darrel Larkin, a former student of Northwest Nazarene College, the chapel in Chiclayo is being built.

This city in South America is to be the headquarters of the missionaries in that vicinity. After completion of the church, the Bible School, now located at Monsefu, will also be moved to Chiclayo.

Rev. Larkin is the director of the Bible School at the present time. He came to N. N. C. two years ago after several years in the pastorate. While here the call to Peru was received and within a year he was there. His sister, Maxine Larkin, a student nurse at Samaritan Hospital shares his call and expects to join him in a few years.

Spiritual Vim and Vigor

- We all have witnessed an athletic contest of some sort at one time or another. Some of us have taken an active part; some of us have been onlookers.

But think for just a minute. Do you remember the last major athletic event you've seen? You've sat on the sidelines pulling for your team conscious of a continually growing tension awaiting the opening of the game. Then when the players have finally come streaming onto the playing court, have you been increasingly conscious of that tingling sensation within you at some undetermined spot—a tenseness which quickens with every thrilling play like gasoline poured on fire already burning? Furthermore, have you in your own tenseness, been aware of the individual players? Have you noticed their fine coordination of mind and body in their attempts to be successful in that play, that pass or that vitally needed punt?

If you've noticed these things, you've seen how each player is wrapt up in the ensuing contest. Each individual is straining himself to contribute towards victory for his team! Have you detected any of them withholding their potentialities when their efforts were so sorely needed at the right time? You certainly have not if the player in question was a faithful teammate. If such a player does prove unfaithful, we all know his position as an active team member is not for long, because a wise coach will not tolerate inconsistencies unless they are inexcusable.

At this time of the year here at N.N.C. we might draw a parallel to the forementioned. Certainly we have one of the greatest teams of Christian young people this country knows—the student body and faculty is "our" team. Jesus Christ is our Divine Strategist!

Our adversary is powerful, cunning and determined. Our foreknowledge of his deceitfulness and trickery plus the promise of our Coach who will direct our paths and guide our ways is more than enough to guarantee victory. In a few days our fall revival will be upon us. Are we prepared in our own heart? Have we gotten rid of the weights and mire that would lower our efficiency and channels through which the Lord can and must work?

A good football team doesn't put off ridding itself of inconsistencies until a matter of hours before game time. What about us? Have we been faithful to our team-mates and to our Coach who has so great a need for each of us in His work? Are we at the place spiritually where we can "carry the ball"—our share of the burden?

Are we putting all our might and effort in a coordinated manner against our most powerful adversary, the devil? Our hearts, are they tense from a burden of prayer for some fellow student whose relationship with God is not what it should be?

Let's not be unfaithful teammates during and after our fall revival but rather let us be faithful avenues through which the Lord can bring our fellow students in need to a knowledge of a full and practical salvation.

Can God count on us?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Have you ever gone to chapel on one of those occasional boring times and immediately searched for something distracting? Invariably you take an inventory of the photographer's studio.

Have you ever walked into some big auditorium or church and seen pictures of previous teachers or preachers grouped around the walls? No, because it just isn't

Service Men

By GERRIE GAINES

This year there are several students on our campus who were not with us last year. I have in mind those fellows who wear a little gold button in the lapel of their coats. It is grand to have these fellows with us again, and we want them to think it is equally nice to be back.

You have all seen that short vet who has a smile for everyone—Howard Thompson, or just "Tommy". Tommy first came to N.N.C. in 1938. He was a bashful freshman and "had no dates the whole year." (He has just had one continuous date since he has been here this year.) He was in school for three years and then took off for Alaska where he worked six months.

Then came Pearl Harbor. In April, 1942 he decided something had to be done. So he joined the cadets and whipped the Japs. It took him three years to do it, and he came out a First Lieutenant.

Returning to school this fall as a senior, Tommy was elected vice-president of the L.S.P. society, treasurer of the Men's Club and is now dean of Gideon Hall.

From Saipan comes word from David Messenger. Like all the rest of the fellows who are still with Uncle Sam, David is looking forward to returning to N.N.C. The Lord willing, he will be here for second semester.

He writes, "The realization that school was again starting gave me a very homesick feeling. Jim (Kribs) and I have spent many evenings reminiscing our swell days at N.N.C. When one of us has a blue spell we go find the other and call him off to some place where we can have a chat, which usually turns out to be a very good tonic. And never a talk goes by without a mention of school."

Clarence L. Carter is stationed at Camp Butner, North Carolina. Clarence had hopes of a discharge but it did not materialize because, "It is believed that this soldier's services are more important in his present position than in the position for which he seeks release from the army. Finding as many opportunities to testify here as I do I cannot be sorry, but only pray that I may be able to say with Paul, 'the things which happened to me have fallen rather unto the furtherance of the gospel.'"

Clarence has been assigned to the Division Chaplain's office at Camp Butner and is enjoying his work very much.

served for the benefit of posterity, I suggest that they be moved to the library or in the hallways and each one labeled so strangers will know something about them. Some were great presidents no doubt, but the chapel is no art gallery. Two noted and well-placed pictures of Christ would create a more reverent attitude in chapel and at the same time be more inspiring and

SEEK YE FIRST

By Roy Howell

Jesus answered them and said, "Verily, verily, I say unto you, 'Ye seek me, not because ye saw the miracles, but because ye did eat of the loaves and were filled'". (John 6:26).

Later in this chapter Jesus teaches the people that He is the Bread of Life. To obtain spiritual sustenance it is necessary to take Him by faith. As He attempted to lead them to a sense of their deep need, many turned back and followed Him no more. We may well imagine something of the deep paths that must have sounded in His voice as He turned to The Twelve and said to them, "Will ye also go away?"

Then Peter, with the spontaneity of holy enthusiasm that was so often manifested in his impulsive nature, replied, "To whom shall we go, Thou hast the words of eternal life."

Here is a scene that has again and again been repeated in the record of human choices. It involves a decision between relative values. Physical endowments all have their place, but, if we look at them as Jesus did, we will assign them to serve spiritual ends rather than being an end in themselves. John Wesley said, "Get all you can; save all you can; give all you can." You may apply this to many activities of life, whether in business or some other venture, such as getting an education. Our success in any worthwhile undertaking increases our capacity for stewardship. By improving their opportunities such men, for instance, as Robert LeTourneau in the business world, or E. Stanley Jones among religious leaders, have greatly increased their capacity for service. Rather than sell our lives to the service of Mammon, we are called to consecrate them to the God of our salvation.

With the highly mechanized development of modern life, there is a tendency to attribute an inflated value to that which is merely material. On the other hand, spiritual realities must be given their rightful place, lest life becomes submerged in a quagmire of selfish interests into which we will sink, hopelessly buried beneath the burden of our own doubts and fears.

This Wide World

W.P.B. to C.P.A.

Reconversion has become a reality in Washington! President Truman announced that on November 3 the War Production Board would be abolished. A smaller peacetime agency is to take its place—the Civilian Production Administration to be headed by J. D. Small, former W.P.B. operations chief.

France Insults Pierre Laval

Facing a Paris court, Pierre Laval, former Premier of France, knew that the death sentence was his.

Charged with plotting against the state and delivering France into the hands of an enemy, Laval defended himself with his glib tongue. "Reserve judgment until I have fully explained myself," he pled, "I am the victim of an ugly legend."

During the trials, he lost his temper. "Condemn me, kill me! But you cannot insult me by calling me a traitor to France," he shouted. He was taken from the court room. He had made mockery of the trial.

Archbishops Figure in News

Three Orthodox Archbishops have recently figured in the news. Greek Orthodox Archbishop Damaskinos, Regent of Greece has returned to Athens after a series of conferences with allied leaders in London and Paris.

In London he conferred with Prime Minister Atlee, Foreign Secretary Bevin, U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes and with exiled George II of Greece.

He returns to Athens to administer the king's powers among a troubled people.

His struggles against Premier Metaxes and King George II as well as his opposition to the German conquerors have brought him fame.

Russian Orthodox Archbishop Alexei is in the United States to persuade American Orthodox Catholics to re-ally themselves with the Metropolitan of Moscow.

Last spring American bishops rejected such an invitation from Moscow because they claimed that the American churches did not adhere to the Soviet Union's political ideals.

Archbishop Alexei hopes to visit Episcopal and Greek Orthodox cathedrals and to confer with leaders of Episcopal and Orthodox churches.

Archbishop Theophilus, Orthodox Patriarch of Jerusalem, was assassinated while he was in Egypt for the election of a new Coptic Orthodox Patriarch. No details of his death were given by Exchange Telegraph, the British agency that reported the story from Cairo.

New Constitution for Ceylon

Ceylon, a British Crown colony, whose status is much like that of Hong Kong is in the process of changing its constitution.

The present constitution, which was designed to make for complete internal self-government was adopted in 1931. It provided for a State Council of fifty elected and eight appointed members.

Due to the war the constitutional changes were delayed, but now that the war is over a commission is studying this very knotty question. The process is made difficult because the racial and religious groups cannot agree. Racially, they are divided into seven groups, and religiously they are divided into four groups, the Buddhists dominating the scene.

Council Currents

By VERONA TAVES

You may ask the question, "Just what does the student council do at the meetings?" Since it's impossible to crowd all of you into the small student council room for a visit, we shall try to give you a short résumé of the business discussion.

Some of the projects suggested for the year were new sidewalks for our campus, having the library lawn made into something to be proud of, the N.N.C. sign painted or replaced, and a "high school senior day" in the spring for all the prospective college students in the Northwest territory.

The traditional Sadie Hawkins party was planned in an interesting fashion to suit the whims of you students. We hope you liked it.

Plans are being made for variety and value in the student council chapel programs. We are corresponding with interesting speakers who may come through this area and also our local educators and leaders for our programs throughout the year. I'm certain we've all enjoyed the student amateurs, faculty, and the returned service men's program — also the speaker of the morning, Mr. Giese, one of our prominent Nampa real estate men, who has enlightened us on the fair city in which we attend school.

We are here to serve and please you. We trust that this column will inform you regarding the business

CAMPUS CONNOISSEUR

Today is Hallowe'en according to our own private convictions. . . regardless of what a number of die-hards on the campus may wish to tell you. Because we were sincerely puzzled we conducted our own poll, and although Gallup might not approve our methods, we found dozens of students who shared our belief. We even asked a professor, "When is Hallowe'en?"; and in true academic style he gave us a challenging answer, "some time this month."

All of this is just a build-up enabling us to drag a few skeletons out of the collegiate closet before the malady known as pre-deadline jitters renders us totally ineffective.

Most of the coeds are actively engaged in the fight against inflation since the Sadie Hawkins party Friday night. . . our candidates for Women of the Week are those gallant fens who managed to hold their dates down to a steak, two sundaes, a hamburger, coke, and a bag of popcorn. Most of the fellas scorned such bird like appetites and really ate.

According to the grapevine, Rudy Klundt acquired a goodly share of feminine graces and allowed Ardie Grover to wait on him hand and foot, while Dean Hempel ran into a corner to hide every time Doris Rodman dashed ahead to open a door for him.

And while we're on the subject of the Sadie Hawkins party, a whole lapful of orchids should be tossed in the direction of the entire student body for their whole-hearted cooperation in rounding up costumes and being such good sports all the way around.

First churchers were inclined to be a trifle suspicious of our president's statistics Sunday morning when he told them, in a talk outlining the need for our expansion program: "One former student wrote me to prepare for a thousand students next year. He said, 'I'm coming back to school and I'm bringing my wife with me.'" Dr. Corlett's audience was thoroughly convinced, evidently, for they pledged over $3000.

And because professors naturally lend themselves to anecdotes, we can't help referring to Dr. Gish's classic statement in a recent class: "This woman was in the habit of praying as she sat with her sewing or tattooing." It couldn't happen in Christian America, we keep telling ourselves.

In laying plans for the college expansion program, has anyone considered widening the grove in the grass between Ad building and Kampus Korner? The administration has talked of everything from bear traps to trolley cars in an attempt to persuade students to give the grass a fifty-fifty chance, but to no avail. . . of course an atom-minded age may come up with the retort, "It's all the administration's fault for not having coffee piped directly to the class rooms."

Verona Taves

WHO'S WHO

By Twila Stratton

And now for a peek into the personal life of Verona Taves, one of the winners in the Who's Who election.

Home economics is Verona's major in college. Her spare moments she spends in trying new recipes.

As supervisor of the dining hall this year, Verona finds that few calamities of dining-hall routine other than "glassical" music annoy her. She rather likes the spontaneous applause between announcements, sentences, phrases, and words.

Muddy and somewhat bedraggled from the eventful Senior Sneak which included a recent tumble into the irrigation ditch, Verona dashed into Morrison Hall, snatched up the telephone and fairly screamed into the mouthpiece "Western Union!" That's right. It was the little message from Dean. Need more be said?

The tall, slender Miss Taves hails from the small town of Casselton, North Dakota. She's the middle kid of a family of three boys and three girls.

Incidentally, Verona has plans for the future. After graduating this spring, she plans to teach Home Ec for one year. Just where, she's undecided, but she rather thinks that eventually she'll try Pioneer Home Ec. in North Dakota—with an assistant.

AMERICANISM

By Rosella Scott

Just who are Americans? That question has arisen in my mind many times. We often speak of a Negro, a Japanese, a Chinese or an Indian as being foreigners where in many cases they are more American than we ourselves. To me a good American is a person whom people will refer to after he is gone as a man who made America better for his having been one.

How can we help America or make her better?

In the first place we must love her. We must learn of her foundation and her famous men who gave their lives for her so that we may appreciate more what she really stands for. When we salute the flag, we must do so from the bottom of our hearts. When we sing the national anthem, our hearts should be so full of the meaning of those words that we can feel the tears rising to the surface. Perhaps this is exaggerating it but that is the way I feel.

We should be ready to help her in time of need. We must pray for her and for her leaders. When someone is elected as a leader of America, we should not criticize him but should do our best to stand behind him regardless of political party because after all, he is the people's choice.

We should not only be willing to die for her but also to live for her. We should do our best to live clean, wholesome, Christian lives and to be ready at all times to help her when down and out and

CLASS OFFICERS LAY CONSTITUTION

Under the supervision of Principal D. G. Laughlin, Academy Class presidents and sponsors are drawing up a constitution for the academy student activities.

"Although we will need to meet a few more times before it is complete, the work is coming along nicely," states Professor Laughlin.

A Proposed Invention

By Earl Emerson

If I had my choice of one gadget to make I think it would be one that would automatically write essays and compositions for English 4. Then, when Miss Wilson gives one of those wicked assignments, all I would have to do would be to select a title, write it on a sheet of paper, put the paper in the machine, and flip a switch. This wonderful invention would then write the theme on the paper, and I mean an A plus theme. A dial could be set on the gadget to limit the number of words.

Who knows, maybe some day I might even make a small profit on these gadgets. Then I would really be in big business.

to cooperate with her citizens. Some feel that it makes no difference whether or not they vote or carry out the various duties of a citizen. Some think that one less can't make much difference, but that is where they are fooled. Each person in this world is an influence for good or evil. What are you going to be? As for me, I'm going to do my best to be a good American and to make my country proud to have me as one of her representatives.

Culver Guest At Special Faculty Party

Faculty members and their wives or husbands set aside their dignity at an informal party held in honor of Professor Thelma Culver Tuesday evening in the music hall. Miss Culver, who has been visiting on the campus for the two weeks, is returning November 2 to the University of Colorado at Boulder where she is studying for her doctor's degree.

Games and refreshments constituted the indulgences, except for a special song which Mrs. Swann played for the honored guest. Special guests were the Siefarths and Miss Mildred Culver.

Oly Girls Tie L.S.P.'s For Softball Championship

A.D.P.'s WIN OVER S.L.A.'s

Defeating the L.S.P. champions by a score of 4-3, the Olympian girls tied for first place in softball Monday, October 29. This game leaves both teams with one defeat; the tie will be played off sometime next week.

The game was close with both teams holding each other scoreless until the last half of the second inning when the L.S.P.'s brought in two runs.

In rapid succession the Olympians ran the score up to 4-2, most of the runs being made on errors. The L.S.P. girls then made one more score on a home run by Spry, and the game ended with the Oly's in the field.

In the first game of the afternoon, the A.D.P.'s defeated the S.L.A. team to take third place, leaving the cellar-dwelling S.L.A.'s in fourth position.

Because of the weather, the game did not start until 4:30 and only lasted until 5. The S.L.A.'s started off with a bang—Alley and Day both made runs in the first inning.

The A.D.P.'s made their hits good, however. The crisis occurred when the bases were loaded for the S.L.A.'s and Webber went out at first, ending the game.

Olympian Girls Trounce A.D.P.'s

Spooked by the effective hitting of Connie Lee, with four hits, including a home run, the Oly's gave the A.D.P.'s their worst drubbing of the season on October 22. The game offered little excitement after the Oly's smashed out eight hits in the first inning to bring in six runs. Also getting four hits apiece were Theiss and Foster.

Rutledge led the scoring for the A.D.P.'s by making two out of the three runs. Although the weather was extremely cold, there was a good turnout of spectators.

L.S.P. Softball Team Beats Olympians

Closest and best-played softball game of the season occurred when the L.S.P.'s eked out a slim victory over the Olys 4-3 on October 22.

With the L.S.P.'s leading by a score of 3-0, the game went into the last inning. In the top half of the inning the Olys caught fire and pushed across three runs before pitcher Al Sullivan could put out the rally.

The L.S.P.'s then came to bat determined to bring a run around to give them victory. After they had loaded the bases with only one out, Dick Foster came in to relieve Crow as the Oly pitcher. He struck out the next batter, but, with a count of three and two, he walked Wendell Long to force in the winning run.

Hey Fellas! Wait a Minute!

Would you like an active part in the N.N.C. CRUSADERS' activities this season.

Would you like to travel with the team on their out-of-town games — their season road trip and be an active member of the "VARSITY"?

How? Listen—

Even if you can't play, here's a chance for one of you up-and-coming chaps to take an active part in the CRUSADERS' activities this season.

Are you athletic minded? A real sports enthusiast? Then we want you as student manager of the CRUSADERS! Your duties will include care of the team's equipment and general assistant to Coach Lamont Lee.

Do you have what it takes?

See Lamont Lee or Dean Hempel. Decisions will be made by the N club.

Dorothy Long, Geneva Stanfield, Lucille Elmore and Evelyn Day, and lights, chairman, Malon Stewart, Elvin Ernest and Bill Osterhaut.

L.S.P. SIX DEFEAT S.L.A.'s IN GAME

In the biggest upset of the season the L.S.P. football team edged past the S.L.A.'s 6-0 October 26. The S.L.A.'s were trying to capture the fifteenth consecutive win but instead found themselves out-rushed and outplayed by an inspired L.S.P. team. The L.S.P. line accomplished the feat which no other line has done this year, that of stopping Bob Sporleder. This fact was really the difference between the two teams.

The only score of the game came on a lateral from Midby to Kiel who tossed a long forward pass to Sullivan. Sullivan caught it in the end zone.

In the first game the A.D.P.'s showed some of the best football of the year in rolling over the Oly's 19-0. With Roseboro scoring two touchdowns and Bozarth one, the winners completely overwhelmed their opponents. The only Oly threat came when Finkbeiner ran the kickoff after the first A.D.P. touchdown the length of the field only to have the score nullified by a penalty.

This win coupled with the S.L.A. loss places the A.D.P.'s and S.L.A.'s in a deadlock for first place with three wins and one loss. The L.S.P.'s are third with two wins and two losses while the Oly's have four losses and have yet to win a game.

Ernest Elected Spencerian Prexy

The first meeting of the Spencerian Club was held Wednesday, October 14, for the election of officers.

Elvin Ernest was elected for president; Marguerite Spencer, debate director; Eunice Powell, declamation director; Joanne Burkhardt, secretary-treasurer; and Alden Fischer, publicity chairman. Professor Wilson is sponsor of the group.

Bob Sporleder celebrated his 20th birthday, Wednesday evening with a surprise party in the dining hall.

SPORT SLANTS

By ORRIN HILLS

I can't help but notice the kids remarking "we sure have a lot more enthusiasm at our games this year." I am very glad the competition has become keen enough to draw the kids out to play and enjoy the games. One exception, at the softball game last Tuesday the A.D.P. boys were a little backward about showing up. Come on you A.D.P.'s, let's get down to business.

I can easily remember when all we had at the games were the ones that were playing and believe it or not, you had to beg them to play.

I have heard a number of students talking about why we don't have another round of softball for boys instead of three rounds of football. I mentioned this before but with the interest that has been shown, I think it's worth mentioning again. Even with football and its popularity, there is still plenty of interest in softball and an opportunity for ten to play instead of six.

You will no doubt know by the time this edition comes out whether L.S.P.'s girls are softball champions or not. Of course the Olympians will do all in their power to upset them. Personally I think they can.

I have been wondering, as well as others, why it is we don't have any write ups for our games. I really thought that was what the Sports page was for, instead of advertising. There has been quite a complaint about not having write-ups. If my memory serves me correctly, there have been no write-ups of girls' games and very little for the boys' games. The scores are not usually announced in chapel. How are we supposed to find out about the games?

I might say a word about the bench. It is one of the smallest lists I have seen and I don't believe many of the athletes are on it. The enthusiasm must be carrying over into the studies. (how wonderful!) Even the closed night attendance was greatly increased.

There seems to be a little mix-up on the L.S.P.-Olympian boys' softball game. Actually it is still a 3-3 tie. The L.S.P.'s at bat, the score tied, bases loaded and there were two outs. It so happened the Oly pitcher walked the next batter forcing in a run and giving the game to the L.S.P.s but unfortunately the batter that walked forgot to go all the way to first and touch the base. As soon as he left the base line he was automatically out which cancelled the run that crossed the plate on the play; consequently the score remains a 3-3 tie. It seems to be an error on the referee because he failed to call that man out. Due to the ref's error we should not penalize the Oly's. So the score remains a 3-3 tie between the two teams, whether they give it to the L.S.P.'s or give us a chance to play it off. Rules are rules whether we play by part of them, all of them, or none of them.

L.S.P. Girls Battle To Triumph Over S.L.A.'s

In the closest and most exciting game played this season in Kurtz Wrigley Field, the undefeated L.S.P. girls battled the S.L.A.'s to a tie for three innings on October 22. Hoidal knocked in Jenkins to win the game for the L.S.P.'s 3-2.

It looked as if the S.L.A.'s might upset the champs, but the fast pitching of Hoidal retired one of the S.L.A.'s heaviest hitters, Alley, which ended the game.
