Dr. R. T. Williams Honored By School

Dr. R. T. Williams, late senior superintendent for the Church of the Nazarene, was honored "In Memoriam" at the chapel of Northwest Nazarene College, Friday, March 29.

The program presented was: Organ prelude, Mrs. Alline Swann; Scripture reading, Dr. Delbert R. Gish; silent prayer, all; taps, Wayne Johnson; solo, "The Lord's Prayer", Roger Taylor; tributes, Professor Bertha Dooley, Registrar M. A. Wilson, Reverend John E. Riley; Benediction, Reverend Neuschwanger. An organ postlude was played by Mrs. Swann.

In speaking of Dr. Williams' attitude toward this work in the church, Professor Dooley stated, "He was something more than a great person. The scripture, I think, which can best describe his spirit is 'The Zeal of thy house hath consumed me', for truly he was consumed with zeal for the work of the church." She further commented, "Dr. Williams was one great man, one great friend of N. N. C."

Registrar Wilson related, "He was a man who preached the gospel with dignity. . . and I feel that we as the Church of the Nazarene have lost our 'Big Daddy.'"

Quiet hours were observed by all houses on the campus from 1:00 p. m. 'till 3:00 in honor of Dr. Williams.

Two days of campaigning for the presidential nominees: David Messenger, Bob Sporleder, Warren Franklin, and Woodrow Smith preceded the primary elections held in the chapel, Wednesday, March 27. Nominated by ballot in the primaries, Woody Smith and Warren Franklin were student body presidential candidates for 1945-47.

Oasis and Crusader editors were elected Wednesday, April 3 along with the final elections for student body president. Nominees for Oasis editor were Betty Jean Edes and Bill Butler; for Crusader editor Doris Rodman and Mary Wesche.

The Wednesday following the presidential election, the student body will nominate for office: vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and sergeant at arms. The candidates for these offices will then be voted upon one week from the date of their nomination.

The date of publication made it impossible for publication of the elections held in Chapel today.

Planned Class Events Climax A Capella Trip

Because of the many athletic-literary activities, the coming A Capella tour, etc., individual class events are rather at a standstill now. There will be some activity in the near future, however, as plans now indicate. The Junior-Senior Banquet, will take place sometime in April, and then, too, the many commencement activities in May. Each class of the underclassmen is planning some social after the A Capella tou. Quite definite plans have been made for a freshman picnic, and I quote the president, "It's going to be the best picnic any freshman class has ever had!" Each class will also present a skit in the gym Jamboree night.

"Mighty Men Must"

"There comes, in the course of human events, a time when all men must pass, and in their passing leave to tender hands the torch of their heredity."

We are sincerely touched by the passing of the late Dr. R. T. Williams, senior general superintendent for the Church of the Nazarene. We do not like to think that our great leader has passed for he meant much to us, but we rejoice and are glad when we realize that one more saint has entered Heaven. We thrill to think that now is ours the duty of carrying on the ideals and ministry established and upheld by him.

To N.N.C. Dr. Williams was much more than a great man, he was a friend, a leader, and an ideal Christian. He stood for friendship, loyalty, evangelism, and Christian education. It was during the time of N.N.C.'s greatest crisis that Dr. Williams came to the front for the school and saved her from destruction with the help of the Lord.

His influence has possibly been the greatest of any of the leaders of our denomination and his many years of service made him a pillar upon which to lean. Now we feel his absence.

It is indeed a privilege to have known and learned of him in our generation. It is a far greater thing to continue in his way, catch the lighted torch of holiness from his hands, pick up the burning embers of his christian zeal, weave into our lives the sound doctrine of his theology, and enrich our lives from his.

We may not know what lives he has inspired, what stars are to be in his crown, or to what depths his messages have gone, but we can know that "in that day, many shall rise up and call him blessed."

POLITICS

Politics is one of the most important privileges of the American people. It has been their privilege from the time of the first constitution till now. Rights of suffrage are sacred rights. They are the means by which we ourselves govern our actions in society and the world.

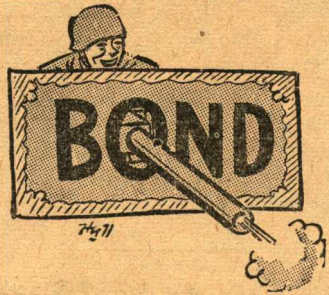

College students and those in High Schools often abuse their privileges. They do not "take to heart" their elections and choose wisely their leaders.

As we vote in our school elections let us fully consider the qualifications of the candidates. Let's not look at them from a narrow, prejudiced point of view, but rather from a broad, all-inclusive ground. It is our obligation to choose wisely, for they whom you elect will do much to shape your destiny. They will influence N. N. C. and you in many ways, even unseen. Not only is this true for Campus elections, but it is especially true in national and state politics. The man you vote for should be the best or you have failed your privilege.

Let's live our elections! Let's keep clean and above board, with no mud slinging. Elections aren't over yet and we are still on the "ballot" stretch. "Observe (study) to show thyself approved, a voter (workman) that needeth not to be ashamed.

To live well in the quiet routine of life, to fill a little space because God wills it, to go on cheerfully with a petty round of little duties and avocations; to smile for the joys of others, when the heart is aching—who does this, his works will follow him. He is one of God's heroes.—Farrar.

Church Militant

By DAVID NYBERG
St. Michael's Cathedral

Unveiling of the portrait of Daniel S. Tuttle on Sunday, March 24, marked another step in the progress toward completion. The Rt. Rev. Tuttle was the first bishop of the missionary district of Idaho. It has been announced that new lighting fixtures and the finishing of the sanctuary are promised within a few months.

His portrait was painted especially for St. Michael's Cathedral by Howard L. Hildebrandt of New York City.

Church Union?

The March issue of the Idaho Messenger, a publication of the Episcopal Church in Idaho gives several accounts of meetings between the Episcopal Bishop of Boise and Presbyterian Church groups in southern Idaho. May we read into these a campaign for an organic union between the Episcopal and Presbyterian (U.S.A.) Churches. Readers who are interested, watch for further developments here!

New General Superintendent

With the sad news of the death of Dr. Williams, we begin to wonder about a new General Superintendent. The Manual prescribes the method of electing a new General Superintendent in a case of this kind. If the Board of General Superintendents decides that the vacancy should be filled, then the District Superintendents elect an elder of the church to fill the vacancy until the adjournment of the next General Assembly.

Service Men

By GERRIE GAINES

Each issue of the Crusader brings us just that much nearer to the end of school. Spring always comes at this time and with it—"Spring fever." All the time these veterans are harrer to find around the campus. They must be out studying nature or something.

This semester we were glad to have Gale Newell join his two sisters here in school. Gale had been spending his spare time, (all the rest too) with Uncle Sam. He was in the Medical Corps, attached to an Anti-Aircraft Battalion. Out of three years in service, all but four months of that time was spent overseas. He was in Africa and Europe with the 5th Army, and was in the Battle of the Bulge. Gale received that long-awaited piece of paper that permitted him to wear civies again.

Upon entering school, Gale found a much different life. He was again a real individual and accepted at face value. The thing that impressed him most was the sign above Gideon Hall's front entrance, "Christ Needs Me." In Gale's own words, "That is the reason I'm here in school, so that God can use me for the betterment of His Kingdom."

And now we have James Mulligan, who holds the record so far

SEEK YE FIRST

"... Than That Which Is Laid"

By DAVID SULLIVAN

"For no other foundation can one lay than that which is laid, which is Jesus Christ." (1 Cor. 3:11, American Revised).

In every building the two elements are foundation and superstructure. Although the houses of our city may differ widely in appearance yet each shares certain common principles in the structure of its foundation. So in human life the diversities of individual personality converge in a few basic rules of living. In the building of a house or of a life the enduring quality is found not in the ginger bread which adorns the completed structure, but rather in solidity of the foundation.

When life is finished, God will judge us not as to how high we have gone, but rather how deep, not how elaborate the exterior of our life, but rather how solid the inner structure. Daily we see the gilded mansions of the world crumble when fortune disappears or health fails. But the person whose inner life is established finds that bane or blessing, pain or pleasure bring him nearer to his Lord, until he can say as Paul did "For me to live as Christ, and to die is gain."

However, if we would serve God and man in the fullest measure, let us not shun the heights of living. Let us not hesitate to build a useful and attractive superstructure. I once saw a skeleton hotel, one which had been abandoned after the frame work had been completed. The foundation was excellent; it had stood for years. Yet that gaunt structure with the winds whistling through its girders had provided less shelter and less cheer for men than the humblest cottage in the city. So our lives can be useless unless we develop them. We need to cultivate our bodies to serve us long, to train our minds and to fill them with facts, to develop our personalities so that they will be attractive.

The thing which most impressed me when I first came to Northwest Nazarene College was the way that Christ was taken into the classroom, to the game, the party or the program. In life we must strive hard to maintain this same balance of activity and spirituality. First we must know Him who is our true foundation. In Him we must ground our lives, for there is no other. Then with every step in material achievement we must make a compensating step deeper in Christ so that the outer structure of our life is solidly supported by the strong girders fastened to the Rock.

MISS ELIZABETH COLE

Those students who attended N. N. C. in '42-'43 will remember Miss Elizabeth Cole, R. N., who was then dean at Morrison Hall and also a student. At that time she was on furlough from Swaziland where she had been serving as a nurse in a leper colony. Being a rather quiet person, she startled faculty and student body during a missionary chapel by revealing that she had once been a cow girl and her chief passion was horses. Her quiet wit was also revealed when she told of loosing her hat. "That", she said, "was the last straw."

Miss Cole is once again in Swaziland after a long delayed journey via South Africa.

Since her arrival there she has completed a six months course in Midwifery training at Mother's Hospital in Durban, So. Africa. Of this course she says, "Quite a while ago God showed me He wanted me to take this training. Humanly it was impossible, but God undertakes in a miraculous way just as He always does when He calls us to do something."

Listed as another representative from N. N. C. in a foreign field, Miss Cole is serving in a place of great need. She speaks of a need for workers not only as nurses, but also to fill almost every profession. Particularly she mentions teachers. In her words, "They are needing well trained teachers very much."

for being in the service for the longest time among our veterans. He was in the Air Corps five years and four of these years he was overseas. James was an airplane mechanic and saw plenty of combat duty. His overseas' duty was in Central America and Europe. He was in the 36th Fighter Group in the 9th Air Force and was in Normandy after "D" Day.

James says that he liked the friendliness and courteousness of everyone here at school. It is much easier to live a Christian life on the campus, but it is also possible to live a Christian life in the Army. James is majoring in Music and plans to to work with the Bands or Orchestras.

Of all the places he was stationed, he says that Belgium has the nicest people he has ever met.

THE RAVING REPORTER

By VIRGINIA RICKMAN

Nine weeks exams over, promise of a beautiful spring in the air, students playing tennis, golf and softball after classes are over, and the sound of birds chirping in the trees all add up to spring fever in my little corner of the dorm.

Such a time as this is when writing a column is a pleasure if you are a poet. I'm not, but it's a pleasure anyhow.

I was talking about hair styles with Arthur Gwynn the other day. It seems that he is advocating a new style for men—parting the hair in a circle in the center back.

Window cleaners are not the only men whose occupation is hazardous. I recently read of a magazine editor who dropped eleven stories into the waste basket.

Seems like old times again. Have you seen that bunch of red hair attached to a girl running around here with another girl with a bunch of red hair? Well, in case you were wondering, it is that Margaret Howard, Carolyn Pyrtle duo again. It's good to see you again Margaret. Come around again soon.

A farmer was explaining to a city woman what a menace insects are to farm products—how potato bugs ruin potato crops and corn borers destroy corn.

The woman listened attentively, then exclaimed: "And the poor dairy people. How the butterflies must bother them."

Campus day! I just love work! I could sit and look at it for hours.

"What's a Grecian urn, Danny?"

"I guess it depends on what he does."

"I jest cayn't remember" (for further reference see "Trail of the Lonesome Pine", Friday night) a thing more so will call it quits for now. But before I do sign off, have you heard of the little moron who put iodine on his check because his pay was cut.

AROUND CAMPUS

Those who know him call him "Coony". We are glad to welcome Don Coonrod from Camas, Washington to the campus and we hope that his visit here with his cousin Jimmy Williamson has been a pleasant one.

Also we have seen Hester Frazier's mother and brother, who are from Yakima.

Other visitors to the campus were Mrs. Floyd Ward and her two daughters.

Lillian Nutt has returned after going home for the funeral of her father and we see that Louise Roberson is returned after the weekend.

We wish to thank Frank Richards and Wilbur Wheeler for their fine work of hanging the mural in the Library and changing the position of the clock.

Noticed working hard was that "man about campus," Mr. Malon Stewart.

Miss Margaret Howard, who is a student from last year, was the guest of Miss Carolyn Pyrtle for a couple of days. Margaret is teaching high school English and physical education at Fork's, Washington.

Graciously received were Mrs. and Dr. Benner of Kansas City, Missouri. Dr. Benner visited in the interest of the Theological Seminary.

"Teamwork"

It's all very well to have courage and skill

And it's fine to be counted a star

But the single seed with its touch of thrill!

Doesn't tell us the man you are.

For there's no lone hand in the game we play

We must work to a bigger scheme.

And the thing that counts in the world today

Is how do you pull with the team?

Music Groups To Travel In School Interest

"Musical groups will travel as representatives of the School this coming summer", stated Dr. L. T. Corlett, president, Monday, March 18.

It is the desire of the school to get at least one such group to appear in every church on the educational zone. The groups will be selected at some later date.

Accompanying the groups will be Reverend L. W. Johnson, field representative for the school, and Reverend James D. McGraw, who will head the department of religion here next year, respectively.

NEW BOOKS

By EUNICE LINTZ

The following five fiction and four non-fiction books are now being prepared for use in the library:

The Story of Dr. Wassell, Good-bye Mr. Chips, Immortal Wife, Green Light, Sing of the Lark, Sayings About the Crucified, Effective Reading Instruction, Studying Law, and School Board in Action. These are soon to be available for reading.

"Political Ballyhoo"

Political! What does a woman know about politics? But that's what the editor said—write a feature on political ballyhoo and so I sit and beat at my pate, but knock as hard as I please there's nobody home. Thirty minutes before press and I'm still pressing for my "30."

As you all know there has been some clever campaigning going on around campus. I guess it doesn't matter whether you are a Republican or a Democrat or a Whig or a Tory (Franklin and Woody say they don't wear whigs but that's their tory!)

One thing I have noticed about this campaign, there has been no boasting. Of course, you know what a boaster is— it's a person who every time he opens his mouth, puts his feats in it. Some people have so much conceit—you know a form of I-strain.

We had some very good campaign speeches in chapel last Wednesday. A campaign speech is the art of diluting a two-minute idea with a two-hour vocabulary.

I bet that super salesman Bethel Fritch could sell a double breasted suit to a man with a Phi Beta Kappa key. Bobby Spencer sure had a "punch" to her speech.

Half the lies they tell about guys in political speeches aren't true. I heard one nominee say, "You've no idea what a poor opinion I have of myself—and how little I deserve it."

Samson had the right idea about campaigning. He took two columns and brought down the house.

Modern man will stand for anything—except a woman in the bus.

An honest politician is one who when he is bought will stay bought.

But as any kind of a politician I would make a very good soda-jerk-er!

It is not always the hours a man puts into his work as much as the work he puts into his hours.

WINTER is the season when we try to keep the house as hot as it was in the summer when we complained about the heat.

The bigger a man's head gets, the easier it is to fill his shoes.

Points Counted On Activity Letters

It has been recommended by the point system board and passed by the student council, that activity points earned during the first semester may be counted toward an activity letter, this year only. This excludes seniors, who are required to make 40 points during the second semester in order to receive a letter.

COUNCIL CURRENTS

By VERONA TAVES

Our Student Council meeting of March 18, took place on the bleachers in Kurtz Park—after a hasty motion was made to the effect—and was even more hastily seconded and carried.

During the session, we decided upon several items of current business. One of these was, that we present immediately the activity letters to the students who have earned them.

It was moved that we place the Student Union money in a reserve fund for a student union building if plans cannot be developed for such a purpose in the near future.

The nominations and elections of student body officers was discussed. Dates were set for both nomination and election.

Picnic day is coming! with fun and frolic for everyone. Rex Stanton has been appointed chairman of the committee, and plans are being made for a big time in the hills on May 6.

SPORT SLANTS

By ORRIN HILLS

We are having a great sport season this semester with the sports schedule posted and running off according to order. We have a very busy spring ahead so let's not put things off 'till the last moment. For those who have failed to keep up on the sport events, the L.S.P. boys and Olympian girls walked off with the Volleyball championships. The A.D.P.'s won first for the first time this year when the boys surprisingly won the Ping Pong doubles championship.

With golf balls flying in most every direction almost every afternoon, it might be well for you students to keep your eyes open and also your ears. For those beating the ball around, make sure your not aiming at someone's head. I was a little surprised to the amount of interest in the sport and I would like to make the suggestion that golf be given a more prominent position in our Intra-Mural program. May I also ask why the girls are not playing golf? I would say that they enjoy playing it as much as the boys.

Baseball!! What a let down! I was certainly disappointed when the first baseball practice was called. Where were you fellows? There has never been more than 18 boys out to any one practice, usually about 12. I don't see how we can plan for much of an Intra-Mural program if you fellows don't come out at least enough so you can play for your society. There haesn't been enough fellows from any one society, out to practice yet, so that society could field a good team. The L.S.P.'s are favored to cop the baseball title, but don't count the other societies out. Come on fellows, how about a little baseball practice? The equipment is out on the field almost every afternoon.

I notice the girls are beginning to practice softball in the park in the afternoons. That calls for some good games when the season gets underway, with the L.S.P. and Oly girls defending first place.

Coeds Try Tennis; Tournament In April

With spring and warm weather peeping around the corner, in fact it's all ready here, the Coeds of N.N.C. are trying their hand at tennis. And some of them are plenty good. I understand Vesta Franz, a nurse at Samaritan, even gave Klundt some competition at the sport. Well, I sure hope a lot of the other gals hurry and get on the ball or behind the ball in tennis.

The tennis tournament does not begin until April but we've all got to practice so there will be plenty of competition in all societies. If you're interested in tennis find some girl in your society who plays also and do some practicing on doubles. It's lots of fun and plenty of exercise.

Boys And Girls Prime For Ball Season Soon

Although the intramural season in baseball and softball does not begin for another two weeks, both boys and girls are getting ready for the games to come. Every evening Montie Lee has been holding baseball workouts for all who wish to practice. He also issued uniforms to the boys he expects to use in the few exhibition games he has scheduled for the team.

Toss Ups

By BETTE

I know it's a little late to mention what happened during volleyball season, but this one is too poor to pass up. When the Oly's played the A.D.P.'s, I understand that Claree Laughlin served a whole game. In case you don't know, that's really something and I'd like to toss roses to Claree. The A. D. P.'s must have really been off the beam—and I know too that Laughlin has a wicked serve. Well anyway she's a plenty good volleyball player and deserves some recognition!

The ping-pong tournament really went off swell. To my knowledge this is the first time we've played women's ping-pong and I'm sure it's because of Monty. So personally I'd like to thank him for planning it and I'm sure everyone enjoyed it.

OLYs Lead Field In Paddle Battle

In the ping-pong tournaments which were held last week and finished this week with the playing of boys' singles, the Olys now lead the other societies with two firsts and a fourth.

In the girls' doubles the Olympian team of Foster and Theiss took first place followed by the LSP's Durrand and Newell. Rutledge and E. Laughlin grabbed third place for the ADP's while the SLA team of Harding and Webber took fourth. The Olys also took first place in girls' singles as C. Sporleder won all her games. Hutchings gave the LSP's another second and Angel of the SLA's carried the third spot. O. Kincaid came in fourth for the ADP's.

The ADP's took the first place in the boys' doubles as their team of Klundt, Messenger, and Newell alternated to overcome all opponents.

The SLA duo of Tame and Hemple grabbed second and Vail and Laughlin gave the LSP's the third position. Haldy and Shields of the Olys trailed the field.

Seniors Take Final Semester Exams

"Comprehensive examinations in religion, bio-science, education, philosophy, business administration, sociology, art, history, home economics, mathematics, speech, music-theory, and English will be given in the near future," stated Professor M. A. Wilson, registrar, recently.

The purpose of these tests will be to comprehend just what knowledge of his major field each senior has before he graduates.

The grades from such tests will be all in at the registrar's office not later than April 20th.

Lamba Sigma Phi Present Program

Friday evening, March 29, a challenging and inspirational contest program was presented by the L. S. P. Athletic Literary Society.

"Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap"—This verse of scripture was illustrated in the preliminaries to the play by depicting "Spring" as the sowing time of life and "Autumn" as the reaping time. Al Sullivan with his narration vividly pictured the different seasons. Vocal and dramatic selections were given in accordance with the seasons under an archway of lattice work and a white picket fence which was high lighted with flowers.

A drama "The Whirlwind" was presented after the musical and literary numbers. Woody Smith played the part of Dr. Lawrence who turned from drink to serve humanity with the help of God. Lois Scholten was presented as his efficient nurse who did much in leading him into the right path.

De Volts Enjoy Concert Visit Here

"This is one of the loveliest colleges we have ever visited. We have enjoyed every minute of our visit here," were the words of Artiss De Volt, harpist with the DeVolt ensemble, upon their first visit here, Thursday, March 21.

With the explanation of her two thousand dollar Lyon and Healy harp, Miss DeVolt opened a new field of interest to many students. She also told some of her experiences abroad as student and concert artist.

Charlotte De Volt, violinist, is well known in the eastern part of this country and Europe as concert artist, teacher and a member of Who's Who Among American Women. Her husband is a physician at Wabash University.

"As a teacher, I think that the appreciation of the fine arts is one of the most important means of relaxation and enjoyment to any person no matter what their field may be," was her response to the question of what she thought to be one of the most important phases in the life of a well rounded student.
