Miller Lectures Slated Feb. 23-27; Dr. Paul Rees Scheduled to Speak

Popular Evangelist Featured This Year

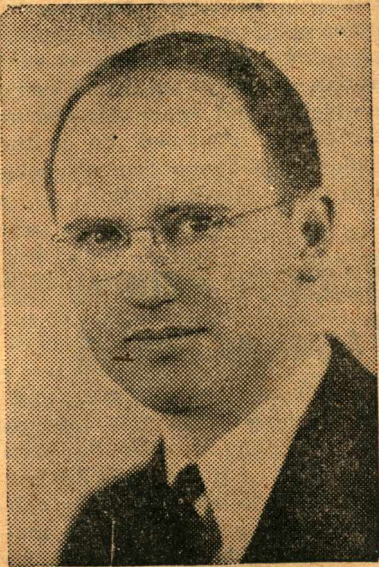

Dr. Paul Rees of Minneapolis, Minnesota, has been chosen to present the Miller Foundation lectures which are scheduled February 23-27.

Dr. Rees, a popular evangelist and lecturer, is one of the outstanding Holiness preachers of our day. Last year he gave a series of lectures at the Nazarene Theological seminary at Kansas City, Missouri. He is pastor of the Mission Covenant church at Minneapolis.

There will be two lectures each day, one at 8 a. m. for ministerial students and one at the regular chapel period.

The State Holiness association will meet in Nampa on February 24. They will attend the morning chapel service at the college and hold a public service at night in the college auditorium. Dr. Rees will speak at the evening services.

The Miller lecture series is sponsored by General Superintendent and Mrs. H. V. Miller. Dr. Miller was formerly a member of the faculty here.

Valentines Feature Heart Sister Week

A lot of under-cover work was being done this past week by the girls of N. N. C. Valentines, candy, and little favors were the main objects being given out through the domrs, administration building, etc.

On Monday each girl drew a name for her Heart Sister and through the week it was kept secret who she was, but interesting communications were passed around in the way of little presents each day.

After much curiosity and anticipation, Heart Sisters were revealed on Friday, Feb. 13. Each name was made known on the last present or valentine to a Heart Sister.

SLA's Take First In Speech Tournery

The S. L. A. society, under the leadership of Howard Zimmerman, declamation manager, took first place in the Spencerian Speech club's annual tournament which was held February 9, 10 and 11. This makes four consecutive years that the S. L. A. society has accomplished this feat.

Enrollment High; 75 on Honor Roll; New Classes Added

Enrollment figures for second semester exceeded 900, this week, according to Professor Wilson. This enrollment equals or exceeds that of any former semester. This includes over 700 in the college department and the rest are numbered in the grammar school and the college high school.

Seventy-five college students have made honor roll grades this last semester, and nine of them have straight A's or a grade point average of 3.00. To be on the honor roll the student must have a grade point average of 2.40 or above.

Two seniors, Dorothy House and Everett Nelson, made 3.00. Sixteen others made the honor roll.

Two juniors, Adelia Hoffman and Kenneth Sulston, had grade point averages of 3.00. Eighteen others made the honor roll.

Three sophomores made 3.00 averages. Anna Acheson, Kenneth Montgomery, and Virgie Vanderpool. Fifteen others made the honor roll.

Two freshmen, Stanley Nordmo and Ann Wilson, made 3.00. Eighteen others made the honor roll.

New classes added to this semester's curricula include: "Recent American Diplomacy and Arithmetic for Teachers," both taught under Miss Allison; "Animal Ecology," under Dr. Rice; "Psychology of Personality," by Professor Kauffman; "Advanced Survey of Mathematics," under Prof. Tilton; "History of England," by Professor Sutherland, and Dr. Culver's class for the College H. S. of "Visual Aids."

Council Gets Keys

Members of the student council received their keys this week and members are proudly wearing them around the campus. The pins follow the same motif that was selected in previous years.

'47 Oasis Given First Class Rating; First Time Yearbook So Honored At NNC; Copy Rated 'Par Excellent'

HAROLD DANIELS

Daniels Jubilant; Edes Gets Praise on Copy From National Assn.

By BETTY EDES

One of the most gratifying messages ever to be received by a student leader at N. N. C. was recently delivered to Harold Daniels, editor-in-chief of the 1947 Oasis. From the National Scholastic Press association came word that N. N. C.'s yearbook had been rated first-class, the highest rating ever received by any publication submitted by the N. N. C. student body.

The N. S. P. A. of Minneapolis, Minnesota, has for over a quarter century pointed the way toward better yearbook production, accomplished chiefly through the All-American Critical Service. This guidance consists of a detailed criticism of the present book and suggestions for improvement for the next book. All yearbooks entered in the Critical Service are classified according to kind of book and type and enrollment of school. Emphasis in judging is placed upon the editorial consideration of production. As it affects the final result, the technical side of production, appearance and durability of the finished book, is also considered.

The copy, edited by Betty Edes, received the highest rating possible and was marked "par excellence" in many places throughout the book. The pictorial quality of the portraits was also excellent, and much of this credit should go to Mr. Cuneo, the photographer of last year. Technical details, explained above, were top-notch, and the advertising section was outstanding, showing much hard work on the part of Business Manager Lindbloom. Due credit also goes to Caxton Printers for their final contribution in top-quality printing and binding.

Seniors Vacation At Anthony Lake; Skiis Get Finkbeiner Down

"The seniors will sneak at four o'clock in the morning tomorrow, Thursday, February 5. You will need to do these things: Keep it secret! Meet at Ervin Edgar's at 4:00 a. m. Bring your bedding and heavy clothing. . . KEEP IT SECRET!"

Thus read the letters that the seniors found in their mail boxes Wednesday, February 4.

The class decided to spend their sneak at a resort at Anthony Lake, Oregon, which belonged to Norwegian-born Olof Rodegarde, famous Olympic ski champion.

According to those who went the sneak was a great success.

The buildings were buried in snow with long icicles hanging from the eaves. Steps of snow led from the doors to the snow surface.

The girls lived together in one dormitory containing 15 beds and a barrel stove which needed to be filled every few hours, just like Al Loeber.

Skiing was the chief attraction of the sneak. Equipment could be rented and instructions were given (Continued on page 2)

Artists On Second Appreciation Trip

February 15, Professor Finkbeiner and a group of art students took the second in a series of art appreciation trips. They conducted both the young people's meeting and the evening services at Nyssa, Oregon.

Mary Shaffer was in charge of music for both services. Zola Alyea drew a chalk picture and Abe Bennett drew a series of cartoons in YPS.

For the evening service, June Tock gave a chalk-talk; a flannel-gram was presented by Rita Pinkston and Betty Ann Pederson and Professor Finkbeiner gave an illustrated sermonette.

Professor Finkbeiner revealed that the art trip for March will be to Bend, Oregon.

Abe

Says..

All that a person must do in order to discover the ropes and pulleys behind the scenes is to get himself elected to the student council. In council meetings, we discuss many problems concerning the entire student body.

One point of discussion is the Friday evening situation. Friday evening programs are designed to provide the students with profitable entertainment, enlightenment and all-around culture. Yet it seems that many persons have this attitude: "They want me to go to that program. Well, they can't tell me what to do. I won't go!" It is needless to say that such a view is quite detrimental to its possessor. The council plan-

S. S. Reporter Quizzes Students, Professors; N.N.C. to Win

By TOM KELLY

The Sunday School inquiring reporter went on a rampage today and buttonholed several of the many intelligent regular Sunday School attenders. He asked them two questions: Who's going to win the Sunday School contest between Olivet and N. N. C., and what do you think it will take for us to win the contest? Many and varied were the answers.

Jr. House: "N. N. C. If the people have a mind to work, we will win."

Rev. Samuel Bhujabal: "Non-partisan. If you get into the spirit of the contest and everybody cooperates, you will win."

Ronnie Weatherford: "No doubt, N. N. C. Clean the domrs out for S. S., especially Chapman."

Abe (Hank) Bennett: "I reckon we will win. Get the lazy ones out and have a lot of co-operation."

Prof. Sutherland: "Last Sunday makes it look shaky, but we will still keep fighting. Get up on Sunday morning."

Harry Heighton: "We are, of course. Accept the responsibility of getting ourselves out."

Prof. Wilson (with arms waving like a GOOD speech student should): "Hope they make us work for it. Stop breaking the Sabbath on Saturday night."

Don Farrand: "N. N. C. by a long shot. Call time out and get together and talk things over."

Prof. Ray: "Definitely N. N. C. Have more out than they do."

Mr. Johnson: "Us. Loyalty." (A brief man in a hurry.)

And from the women's viewpoint:

Mary Ellen Peterson: "The most enthusiastic side. It will take enthusiasm and interest."

Dorothy Shafer: "We will win, we did it last year and can do it again. 'Wake up' the people to see their need of attending."

Helen Waller: "N. N. C., of course. Our loyal support, unstinted co-operation, and sincere heart interest in S. S."

Roma Mitchell: "We've done it before and we can do it again. Quote: 'Mind over mattress.'"

Alice Schmidt: "We'll have a jolly time winning it. Put as much enthusiasm into it as we do into our basketball games."

Today the World!

By HELEN G. WILSON

Some years ago the thinking of the American public was challenged by a term ascribed to German diplomatic aims—"Tomorrow the World." The implication was that Nazi leaders were building well in the todays for complete conquest in the tomorrows. History has recorded the near-success of their efforts.

Today we live in a world of impending crises which will not wait for the tomorrows. A weary 1948 world citizenry is finding that the clamoring demands of peace can be as perplexing as the exigencies of war. And today's problems of sociology, economics, and political science must be solved TODAY if the nations are to survive.

N. N. C. has her problems, too. Join almost any student group on the campus and you will find citizens of our college community discussing ways and means of improving our student life.

Yes, at home and abroad, there are emergencies to face and problems to solve. But how our hearts rejoice when we recall that the Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ has always served well in such times as these. The Gospel is good news for bad times! As the Rev. Riley has said, "Christ is the everlasting Contemporary."

We as Christians must adopt as our motto, "Today the World." We have a vital, practical solution to today's issues—TODAY! We have a Saviour who meets men's needs TODAY! We have a Way of Life that will work TODAY! With all this glad reassurance, however, comes the sobering thought that our responsibility, too, is for TODAY.

Thousands of years ago in an Oriental palace God whispered these soul-searching words to a young Jewish girl: "... who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdom for such a time as this?" These words were spoken through the lips of Mordecai. Today God is calling to each one of us—preacher, business man, missionary, nurse—and His marching orders sound out strong and clear: TODAY THE WORLD!

Vets Views In The News

as seen by
Willis Walker

(Editor's Note: When Mr. Walker wrote this column, the bill to increase veterans' subsistence checks had not yet become law. Since then, President Truman has signed the bill making it into law. The law as it now stands, provides for an increase in the single veteran's check to $75 and the married couple's pay to $105. Those veterans with two or more dependents will receive $120. These increases are scheduled to become effective Apr. 1.)

Last call! All vets who were former students of NNC be sure to give your name to Miss Bonner immediately if your name is not on the NNC honor roll. About six names have been turned in so far. Surely there are others. Check the roll and see if you can think of some one who is not now enrolled here. Let's make the roll as complete as possible.

We extend greetings to all the new vets that have made the wise choice of attending our fine institution. We hope you will make yourselves at home and enjoy the good fellowship of Christian roommates and classmates.

With the change of semesters we have lost some of our vets. Some found college life too demanding, especially in a Christian college like this where standards are held high for the benefit of all. Others have finished their work. We are especially sorry because of the loss of two former air corps officers, Warren Franklin and Al Iverson. However, we are glad to know that Al has a fine job as an accountant for a firm in Boise, and that Warren is going to continue his study of music in Chicago.

Disabled veterans in training under Public Law 16 reached a new high of 253,400. Veterans in training under the G-I Bill (Public Law 346) reached a new peak of 2,546,000.

Swann, Knighton Be Heard on KDSH

Alline Swann and Ray Knighton will go on the air February 29 over KDSH at 5 in the afternoon under the sponsorship of the State Federation of Music Clubs.

Professor Swann will play "Balade in G Minor" by Chopin, and Professor Knighton will sing "Nemico della Patria" from Andre Chenier by Umberto Giordano; "Eili, Eili," a melody from Polish and Russian Yiddish Liturgy; and "When I Think Upon the Maidens" by Michael Head.

Students to Leave For Col. Congress

Plans to send delegates to the Pacific Northwest College Congress in Walla Walla, March 3-6, are under way and one delegate, Ervin Edgar, expects to make the trip and Deloris Bloomquist will accompany him. Upon their return, they will give a report of the proceedings.

Colleges from the Pacific Northwest and Western Canada will be represented at the congress, where students will formulate collegiate opinion on matters of world organization and maintenance of peace.

Bhujabal Arrives; Will Audit Courses

"Gandhi was a great influence, and his death is a blow to India," commented the Rev. Samuel J. Bhujabal, Hindu Nazarene from India. "If a Moslem had killed him, India would now be in the midst of a bloody war," he continued. Rev. Bhujabal arrived in America on January 30, and will audit courses in English, theology, homeletics, evangelism, speech and others, and will be on the campus approximately a month and a half.

Business Club Meets

The Business club met last Wednesday afternoon to take up matters of business and lay plans for the future. President Gordon Helliwell announces that special plans are being made for an interesting meeting the first of next month. A special speaker is being contacted and other interesting things are scheduled. Be on the lookout for announcements relative to the March meeting.

Beanery Renovated Fountain Added

The Beanery is going to be completely modernized; new machinery for making ice cream has been purchased, a Heinz soup kitchen will be installed, and grills, coffee makers and milk-shake machines are to be added.

To increase efficiency, booths will be installed and the Beanery will be open full time for snacks and fountain service.

The new, modern Beanery will be ready early in March and a formal opening will be announced later.

FTA on UNESCO

The last meeting on Feb. 6 was highlighted by an interesting discussion on why we should or should not support the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization, commonly known as UNESCO. It was pointed out that individuals can do a lot to help further world peace through this organization.

Chapel Talks

By VERNICE VROMAN

For his first message in chapel this semester Dr. Corlett spoke on "Placing before every newcomer the welcome mat." Also he gave a few useful and constructive hints on how to make college life the "balancer" of our poise and personality.

Bill Griffith, one of our own students, who comes from Canada, challenged us with the "Call for reapers" to evangelize "our" brothers just across the northern border. We know, God might be calling you!

L. Wesley Johnson brought to the student body a very inspiring lecture on "Getting Some of the Best Things Out of Life." He stressed the thought of taking no less than the best when Christianity offers all to us. We have but to begin the process of developing our character and after we've once started "continue in the way."

George Narita, who has come from Japan to attend N. N. C., gave to us a complete picture of the mighty need for Christian missionaries in the Eastern hemisphere, "for they, too, can know God."

en to those who cared to pay for it. Many tumbles were taken in an effort to learn the art. Prof Finkbeiner was enjoying the sport until he took one spill which resulted in a sprained ankle.

Upon their return, a traditional party was given the seniors in the dining hall by the junior class.

Abe Says . . .

ned a party for Friday, the 13th; then we found that a basketball game at BJC was previously scheduled. Thinking of those who would be unable to go to Boise, we decided to go ahead with the party. To be democratic, however, we let the A. S. B. make the final decision by a standing vote; to our knowledge, this is the first time that such action has been taken in regard to scheduled activities. One hundred eighty-four voted against the party, 144 voted for it; approximately 274 did not vote at all. Perhaps those 274 were going to study that night? To restate the matter, where does everybody go who doesn't turn out for Friday evening functions?

A grave problem is that of getting people to accept responsibility. To some of us leaders it seems that the majority of young people today are undeveloped along this line. It is far safer for a person in authority to do a job himself, despite his being pressed for time, than to trust the average student to do it on time. Ask, among others, the editors of our publications and the class presidents about this situation.

There is a different type of problem, which concerns the A. S. B. budget. It is our desire that the budget be set up so as to manifest the maximum good to the body as a whole. Last semester we gave the minor organizations more money than usual, affording them ample opportunity to function constructively. We figured that they would be careful not to spend the money unless they really needed it. Each year more minor organizations form; they put in a bid for an apportionment, and then sit back and take their ease. Near the end of a semester they suddenly think: "Now, we haven't done much to spend our money; we must spend it some way or the council will cut our budget for the next semester." It is too bad that this downright selfish attitude is prevalent on our campus.

Girls' Basketball Hooked by SLA's

A steamrolling SLA sextet pounded through undefeated to win the first half basketball championship.

With Kitzmiller and Becker carrying the scoring punch the SLA's never tasted defeat in their six game schedule, whipping each team twice.

The ADP's pulled up second with a four won and two lost record as Doris Patrick led them with her point-prolific playing.

Tied for the cellar were the LSP's and OLY's who exchanged wins over each other, but were no match for the champions or runners-up.

Beards Use Razzle Dazzle; Win 54-42

Our NNC Crusaders definitely threw a scare into the House of David team last week at Central auditorium, but they finally won in the last 12 minutes of play, 54-42. The bearded men didn't have any chance to clown the first half as NNC led 29-21, but when Monty started substituting the be-whiskered gentlemen poured it on and had time at the end of the game to use some razzle dazzle.

SPORTS

Athlete's Foot

by Peter Burkhardt

A coming highlight of the intramural season is the Mills-Cunningham basketball jamboree. Four years ago Messrs. Mills and Cunningham of Nampa high school presented to the college the fourteen-inch gold and blue trophy which now rests in the trophy case in the interest of promoting intramural sports on the campus. The Olympians won it the first two years, and the LSP's last year. The trophy is presented to the president of the winning society after the jamboree by one of the two donors. Mrs. Cunningham is an alumna of N. N. C.

The trophy will be the permanent possession of any team that wins it three consecutive years. As is observed, the OLY's would have taken possession last year had not the LSP's tripped them. The OLY's and LSP's were tied until they met each other, but the LSP's emerged victorious after a point for point struggle.

When SPC leaves, the basketball season will be just about wound up for this year, and the boys will be turning to the horsehide and oak. No definite plans for the baseball season have been announced by the athletic department, but plenty of the fellows are getting itchy palms.

LSP Boys Win Five Out of Six

Three successive wins over the ADP's and OLY's brought the first half intramural basketball crown to the LSP cagers.

The winners took five of their six games losing only to the third place SLA's. Spearheaded by Taylor and Powers, they edged the ADP's twice in succession and then overcame a 20-9 half-time deficit in defeating the OLY's 24-29 to clinch the championship.

The ADP's copped second place one game behind by winning four and losing two, both to the LSP's. The SLA's broke even with three wins and three losses, gaining two triumphs over the OLY's and one from the champions.

A hopeless OLY five rested in the cellar without a victory, losing all six contests.

Librarian Marries Elmer Bittleston

In a ceremony performed Friday, Feb. 6, at 8 p. m. at the home of Dr. and Mrs. L. T. Corlett, Miss S. Geneva Mumau, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Mumau of Shelby, Ohio, became the bride of Elmer E. Bittleston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus A. Bittleston of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. The Rev. John E. Riley officiated.

The bride wore a navy blue suit with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses and white hyacinths. The ring used in the ceremony was a Mumau family heirloom.

Miss Wanda Davis and Mr. Jack Hawthorne attended the couple.

After the wedding a reception was held in the Corlett home, and refreshments were served. Guests attending included Mrs. Cyrus Bittleston, mother of the bridegroom, and the following: Miss Helen G. Wilson, Miss Ethel Allison, Mrs. L. T. Corlett, Mrs. John E. Riley, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Caldwell and Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Teare.

Christian Band Meets

The Christian Workers Band held their first meeting of the second semester on February 7. A service was also held on February 14. The second semester students are invited to attend these services which will be held on Saturday nights unless there is a serious conflict.

ALICE SCHMIDT

Miss Alice Schmidt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schmidt, was born some time ago, in Biesecker, Alberta, Canada. She went to grade school there, and during the six years she was at home before entering high school, Alice attended Provincial Technical school at Calgary, Alberta, where she was elected "Lady of the Campus."

Alice went to high school at Canadian Nazarene college in Red Deer, then came to Northwest Nazarene college in 1946 where she is now a first semester senior.

Since coming to N. N. C., Alice has held several positions. During the last semester of 1947 she was program chairman for the A. D. P.'s. She is secretary of the student council for 1947-48, assistant dean of Morrison hall, and was crowned Tip-off queen of the basketball series with Pasadena, January 31, 1948.

Sewing and scrapbooks are her hobbies; Philipians 4:13 and 19 are her favorite promises; her favorite sports are ice skating, horse-back riding, and softball; and as with any popular young lady, she has a favorite man. Yes, Alice has somewhat more than a temporary interest in Jerald Johnson. In fact, the date is set for some time in August, 1948. Alice is majoring in religious education and plans to assist Jerry in his evangelistic work.

Harding Auctioneers: Girls Attend Sale

Saturday evening, Feb. 7, proved to be a time of gain and loss for the girls of Morrison hall. An auction sale, with Betty Harding as auctioneer, was held in Morrison parlor from 6:30 to 9:30. A platform was set up in the center of the parlor on which some of the girls modeled clothes to be auctioned. Other dresses, suits, coats, hats, shoes, and sweaters were hung on racks and put on tables.
