Hoo-Doo Hall To Be Site of Witches Reunion

Kilties Quartet Performs Friday

Next Friday night, Oct. 29, the Caledonian Kilties quartet will present a concert in the college auditorium. The quartet is now on its thirteenth annual tour covering many sections of the United States and Canada.

The Caledonians were organized by Chief Nimmo, in 1914, in Cincinnati, Ohio. Chief Nimmo is still with the quartet and sings bass.

Chief Nimmo will play his famous highland warpipes, a set which was carried for over 45 years by one pipe major in a highland regiment, and were used during the Boer war in 1896.

The costumes worn by the Kilties are made from the tartans of the Royal Stewart, Cameron, Gordon, and the famous Black Watch. It is said that the group are very striking in these Scottish costumes.

The program will consist of classical and semi-classical music with a little novelty.

Campus Studio Schedule

Campus Studio will be open all day Thursday. All remaining faculty members and seniors will have their photos taken on Thursday.

Juniors will be taken on Friday. There will be a schedule posted on the bulletin board for your appointment time.

Juniors and remaining seniors must make their photo payments this week at the Oasis office. If you cannot pay, report and make arrangements so that you can have your photo taken at the appointed time.

Speech Tourney To Be Nov. 16-17

The annual inter-society debate and declamation tournament will be held November 16-19. Two people from each society will be engaging in one-man debates the 16th and 17th, on the question, "Resolved that the United States should abandon its present system of free enterprise in favor of Hoo-Doo hall, commonly known as the gym, is to be the haunting ground for the Bad Luck party on Saturday, October 30, at 8:00. Spooks, ghosts, and witches are prepared to make this the most terrifying night of the year.

Fred Fowler, with a wicked gleam in his eye, promises chills, thrills—and pills—for those with weak hearts. He warns that the Hood-Doo hall will be no place for sissies. The entertainment, to be provided by the faculty and various students, will be enough to make even the bravest shudder.

Representative Goff Speaks To FTA, IRC Club

Abe Goff, Republican representative from the first district of Idaho, spoke to the members of the Future Teachers of America and the International Relations club on Oct. 20.

Representative Goff, who served in both the European and Pacific theaters during the last war, gave a brief account of present world conditions in the light of his experience.

He emphasized the fact that, although the world wants peace, no honest co-operation in this quest has been put forth by Russia. He stated that the Russians are ignorant of the supplies sent to them by our country during the war.

The speaker believes that the organization of the United Nations is a big step toward peace because the representatives from all parts of the world can gather and discuss matters openly. The nations can then come to definite conclusions and take steps to further their own measures. Congressman Goff cited the instance in Iran where strong public opinion aroused by the United Nations prompted the Russians to withdraw their troops.

The speaker stated that the long, slow march of civilization will some day bring the nations to accept world government. "When we can raise the general living conditions in other countries, then we are ready for world federation. America must give spiritual strength to the world as well as material strength; and thus, we may help bring about a peaceful world."

Congressman Goff gave the F. T. A. food for thought when he explained the need for a higher wage scale for teachers. He said that government aid would be

Everyone is to come in costume. The witches will be on the watch for the best costumes. The best group will be awarded a $10 prize and the best individual costume will receive a $5 prize. Both will be well worth working for.

Only those with no physical defects will be allowed to enter the Hadley Hall Chamber of Horrors. The ghosts and goblins have organized a chamber guaranteed to give you nightmares for weeks.

Pat Morris and Del Cherrington are in charge of publicity. Bette Harding and her committee have promised to decorate Hoo-Doo hall in the drabest way possible. The refreshment committee, headed by Dave Burkhart announces that in addition to tops in refreshments, smelling salts will be administered.

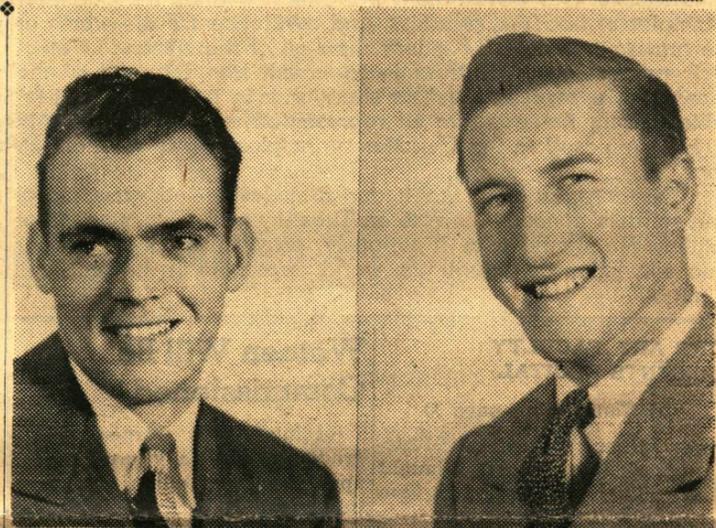

Everyone is urged to attend the Bad Luck party. As Fred Fowler, master of ceremonies says, "We'll promise to give the most horrible time possible."

Dr. Benner to Visit N. N. C. Soon

Dr. Hugh C. Benner will be visiting our campus during Thanksgiving week. Students interested in attending the Nazarene Theological Seminary will have the opportunity to chat with Dr. Benner concerning the seminary and to inquire about courses offered.

welcome in communities with low tax rates. He warned, however, against the danger of the government controlling the curriculum taught in the school.

He assured his audience that the Republican candidates for the presidential and vice-presidential offices were vitally interested in education, by citing the fact that New York and California have high wage scales for their teachers.

Who's Who Students Approved Recently

Dave Alexander, Joanne Burkhart, Fred Fowler, Lloyd Gebhart, Marcella Heberlien, Virgil Vail, and Kenneth Sulston were elected to the Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

At a recent student-body election these students were elected as the outstanding students on our campus. The names were sent in to the publication headquarters and, since approval has been given, will appear in the publication for 1948-49.

Succeeding issues of the Crusader will publish biographies of these students.

Fine Arts Faculty Present Recital

The Fine Arts faculty was represented in recital Friday evening, Oct. 22, in the chapel.

Among the numbers presented was a piano solo, "Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 12," by Alline Swann, dean of the school of music. Mrs. Swann directs the college orchestra and was recently featured with an 8-piano symphony, and has done extensive duo-piano work with Fern Nolte Davidson.

A Handel oboe sonata was presented with Konstantin Epp as the soloist. He came to B. J. C. (Continued on page 2)

A Note From the Oasis Editor

The success of any undertaking lies in the hands of all persons concerned in any way with its accomplishments. If an orchestra recital is to be a success, the man who plays the piccolo must play just as heartily and masterfully as the man who plays the sousaphone. While the sousaphone may command more attention, he is no more essential to the production than the piccolo. Likewise, in the Kingdom of God, the Great Master is not concerned with your size nor with the amount of noise you are making, but the success of His Symphony depends upon whether you are doing your part. Every phase of life is related and dependent. It is impossible to do anything independently.

Did you ever stop to think about the number of persons responsible for getting the OASIS out on time? It would seem, on first thought, that it should be totally up to the editor, but should it? Or perhaps you have felt that it is entirely up to the editorial staff. Figuring it out mathematically, we find that each student makes up .115 per cent of the total concern. In other words if one person fails to cooperate, he is infringing upon the rights of the

Let's Get Out and Vote

By ALVIN H. KAUFFMAN

It is your duty and mine, not only as citizens but as Christians, to cast our ballot on November 2. To show that this statement is true will be the purpose of this editorial. (I hope every person who reads this editorial will follow its admonition whether or not he agrees with its argument.)

If you fail to vote, these are the only reasons you could give:

1. I think the world is ideal and doesn't need changing. This reason is contrary to facts and is, therefore, unacceptable.
2. I think the world is so bad that it can't be changed. This reason is unscriptural and, also, is unacceptable.
3. I think my vote wouldn't make much difference; it wouldn't be missed. This reason is unintelligent because absent votes are silent votes. It likewise is an unacceptable reason.
4. I don't see any candidate worth voting for. This reason is visionary because no candidate ever will be ideal. It cannot be accepted.
5. I don't care enough; I guess I'm just too lazy. This reason is criminally selfish and must emphatically be rejected.

Now Christianity is definitely opposed to that which is: contrary to the facts, a violation of Scriptures, unintelligent, visionary, and criminally selfish. Therefore, if any of these has been your reason for not voting, the unchristian nature of the failure to vote may be plainly seen.

However, if you are still unconvinced of your Christian obligation to vote, let me remind you that failure to cast your ballot is to cast one nevertheless—a ballot for the forces of totalitarianism. Our government was founded upon the Christian principles of freedom, equality, and reverence for the worth of the human individual. For less than all of the citizens to elect their proper representatives is to cause less than all of the citizens to be represented. This situation is in the direction of totalitarianism, the opposite of representative government, and directly opposed to the Christian principles which we hold so dear.

Therefore, let us make it our firm desire—yes, our moral and spiritual concern—to vote on Tuesday next. This is no minor matter. We should take it seriously, prayerfully, and vote our true conviction as though the world depended on it—and well it might!

Mr. Ross is well known in the Boise valley for outstanding solo performances with various choirs and choruses. He sang the baritone solo last spring in the "Brahm's Requiem" at Caldwell.

Other faculty members who appeared on the program were Elva Meckling, soprano; Alice Kauffman, violinist; Margaret Wilkes, pianist; Elaine Carlson, organist; and Double E. Hill, pianist. Iva-lee Bolerjack accompanied Elva Meckling.

The art department was represented by Miss Dorothy Long who gave an art critique, and representing the speech department were Mallalieu Wilson and Mrs. Elizabeth McGraw. They did an

From THE EDITOR

It seems as though the time of the witches is coming around again. As announced there will be an all-school party in the gym again this year. This is just one of the various activities that the student council provides for the student body.

Whenever school spirit is mentioned we think of basketball games, football, baseball, and other activities in the sports line. Here at N. N. C. we even bring the societies into what we call "school spirit." However, school spirit is different, or should we say more comprehensive than that. School spirit includes entering into all activities of your school with enthusiasm. This includes joining and pushing different organizations, boosting projects of the school, and cooperation with the administration of the school. These things do not sound as glamorous as yelling at a basketball game, but they all help to improve our school.

Now to get back to our party. In the past it has often been heard about the campus that our parties are dull and uninteresting. That remark has been heard on the campus already this year. On further investigation, however, we find that those who complain about dryness of N. N. C.'s social affairs are those who never go or try to take part in any way. Very seldom do we hear complaints from people who try to boost things themselves. Some people like to sit back and have other people tickle their fancy or give them a thrill. If no one does this they are bored and say that the party is no good. They would not think of putting a little effort into it themselves.

No matter how good a program is prepared, or how good refreshments are served, unless those who attend will join in the activities of the evening the party will be a flop. That is not just true at N. N. C. That is true everywhere. If we expect to get anything out of a project we must put something into it. This fact covers every aspect of our lives. A grade school history teacher once told me, "People in the earlier days of our country used to provide their own entertainment and relaxation. The result was a better home and family life and more contented and satisfied people. Today, people go out and pay other people to entertain them while they sit back and more or less challenge the performers to make them laugh. The result of this practice has been the separation of families, the ruination of the American home, and a degeneracy in morals of the people."

The situation on our campus is just an example of a principle that is universal. Each one here at N. N. C. should do his best to put himself into the programs of life and of our school while here, and the dividends will be great.

Johnson Presents "Little Foxes"

Choosing Song of Solomon 2:15 as his text, and after an amusing interlude regarding his mental capacity, the Rev. L. Wesley Johnson, college business manager, presented the "little foxes" of everyday Christian life to the students.

Rev. Johnson, authoritatively quoted as saying "It was my most embarrassing moment," was the fourth speaker of a group of faculty members who presented a weeklong chapel program known as faculty preaching mission.

What's Your Opinion?

By PAT MORRIS

"In your opinion what improvements could be made in the Sunday School?"

Bill Osterhaut: Stir up more interest among the young people by having them prepare the lesson or topics before class.

Wallace Rose: Better prepared teachers. The teachers should have a better background knowledge of the Bible.

Beulah Vore: More personal contact between teacher and pupil.

Lois Herron: I think it's pretty fine the way it is.

Chester Galloway: More personal work among the students on the part of the students.

Lola Carrol: Create more interest in the opening exercises to make everybody want to be there on time.

Evelyn Huebner: I'm satisfied with the way it is now.

Pat Davis: Divide up the Christian Workers' classes. They are too big to have a good class.

Leonard York: We need more class participation.

Jeannette Pease: Another contest might be an incentive to rouse the students from their Sunday morning sleep.

From the general opinion it looks like we can all improve and help make our Sunday School one to be proud of.

Say, Students!

By JEAN KIRKPATRICK

This week I would like you to meet another newcomer to our campus, Miss June Nakada, from Tokyo, Japan. June, the daughter of the president of Bible-Agriculture school in Chiba, a city 40 miles from Tokyo, is a talented girl of 20 working for her bachelor of science degree in nursing.

After leaving Japan on Sept. 25, June came to San Francisco by boat, and on to Nampa by train. June said her first glimpse of the United States was the Golden Gate bridge at night flooded by light, and "It left me breathless!"

June attended college in Tokyo, a women's school called Tsuda college. She was given a diploma from the college with a major in English. She has come to N. N. C. in anticipation of becoming a nurse and returning to Japan to do mission work.

College life at Tsuda is very similar to that at N. N. C., June relates. Each department is organized with clubs much the same as on our campus, with programs and other social activities on Fridays.

June's father is the director of a choir of college and university students, who present Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," annually. This program, sung in English, has been directed for 19 consecutive years by June's father.

June has one brother, Eugene, who is 18 years old. Eugene is attending a Methodist mission school in Tokyo.

When asked how she likes N. N. C., June replied, "I think it is super! The first thing that hit me was the friendliness of the people."

June's special interests are music and poetry. After much hesitation she agreed to let us print a poem of hers which is presented below.

I think we are lucky to have June with us. How about you, kids? Let's not forget to tell her so!

THE SUNRISE

By June Nakado

Through the misty veil of morn
Beyond the stately trees,
Above the hemisphere is born
The sun in majesties.

Through the darkness of the night,
Beyond the agony,
The Son of Victory!

Floods of golden crystal light,
That wend their way below,
The sun now on his heav'nly flight
Tints rainbows on the snow.

Lolling o'er the hills and vales
Above the crying sea,
The burning chariot now sails,
One silent Majesty.

Home Ec. Club Meets

The college Home Ec. club held its second meeting in the Home Ec. Lab Monday, Oct. 14.

Mrs. Davis demonstrated various Stanley products which would be practical to future homemakers. Darlene Van Schoick, secretary, read a letter from our province on some suggestions for our local club sessions. Elizabeth Hammond, vice-president, presented a letter telling about the next province workshop that is to be held in Salt Lake City on November 12-13.

The hostesses for the day were Helen Rambo, Betty Jean Conner, Carol Cook.

At a previous meeting, 16 girls were initiated at an impressive candlelighting ceremony.

A NOTE FROM THE OASIS EDITOR

other 871 students. Since we all want our annuals on time this year, I'm sure that none of us shall jeopardize the possibility of getting them by failing to cooperate.

Now the question rises of what constitutes cooperation or non-cooperation. The first step in cooperation this year will be that of paying your OASIS picture fee of two dollars. We are collecting by classes in the OASIS office. If you are unable to pay at the moment, all that we require is that you go to the OASIS office and make arrangements for paying later. The second step will be that of meeting your appointment with the photographer promptly. The time of your appointment will be posted on the bulletin board. The third step will be that of dressing properly. Clubs and class officers will be dressed as they ordinarily dress for school. Music organizations will be dressed uniformly. The men will wear dark suits, white shirts, and dark ties. The women will wear dark skirts and white blouses. If one person is dressed out of uniform, the group cannot be photographed. For individual pictures the men shall wear dark suits, dark ties, and white shirts. The women shall wear dark suits, dresses or blouses with no neck ornament. No white can be worn about the neck.

Compliance with the above suggestions will determine your cooperation. I'm sure that everyone will cooperate, which will mean that everyone is doing his part in producing an excellent annual. Remember that each must contribute his .115 per cent to make this year's production 100 per cent efficient. When you clutch your 1949 OASIS under your arm next May, full of autographs, friendly jests, notes of affection, and, best of all, memories of a great year, you will feel justly proud if you have done your part to make it a success.

The junior class which has occupied Reynolds home since entering training, moved last week to Mangum hall. Each girl is an occupant of either a single or double room. The entire student body is now being housed in this new dormitory for Samaritan nurses.

The senior class is making plans at present for the annual Hallowe'en party to be given for all hospital personnel and the medical and nursing staffs. This occasion promises to be a gala affair and a time of real enjoyment and relaxation.

Miss Esther Wilson, X-ray technician, is spending a few days' vacation visiting friends in California.

Queen Helen Birks is fair with a quiet grace
That makes the glory shine in her face.
King Ralph Hull is so steady, sincere, and deep;
His jewel from Heaven he surely will keep.

Until in glory they hear His "Well done."

Class Night Proves To Be a Success

On Friday night, Oct. 15, class night was held with each class planning its own program.

The theme of the senior class party was the "Meeting of the Witches." The witches gathered for a pre-Hallowe'en meeting to plan their strategy for the great night coming soon. The feature of the evening was the magic brewing pot by Clarence Peterson, through which any wish with regard to physical changes could be made.

The juniors met in the Speech hall where movies, including comedy, football, and other interesting films, were shown. The theme of the evening was "Hard Times" with students dressing in old clothes. Contestants were judged by the class. The grand winners of the evening were the "Before and After Twins." Refreshments consisting of pop and ice cream were served at the conclusion of the program.

A scavenger hunt kept the sophomore class occupied for most of the evening. After the hunt the students met in Northside park for a weiner roast.

The freshman class gathered in Kurtz park where a series of lively games were enjoyed by all. Movies and a weiner roast completed the evening.

Eng. Club Formed

On October 7, the English majors met at the home of Miss Washburn to form an English club. The sponsors of the new organization are the teachers of the English department: Miss Dooley, Miss Washburn, Miss Lawrence and Mrs. House. The name for the club will be chosen soon.

The membership will be open to anyone in any English class except the freshman composition classes.

The objectives of the club are to further literary appreciation at N. N. C. and to help the members to become better acquainted with contemporary literature.

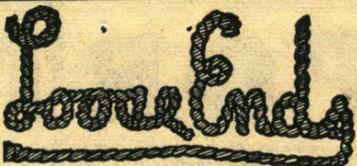

The newly elected officers are: Bette Harding, president; Lois Neubauer, vice-president; Dorothy Teare, secretary-treasurer; and Jean Kirkpatrick, social chairman. The monthly meetings are to be held the first Thursday of every month. All interested in literature are invited to attend.

Art Club Plans Prog.

On Monday, Oct. 18, the second meeting of the Art club opened with devotions, led by June Tock. Miss Clara Christenson sang "My Cathedral," accompanied by Beulah Vore.

The business session was conducted by the president, Marvin Kisse. The following decisions were made: The Art club will meet every second and fourth Monday of each month. With other groups meeting about the campus it will be impossible to meet as was formerly planned. A group will be taken to the art exhibit at Boise, the time to be announced later. Have you heard the pitter-patter of little feet outside your bedroom door lately? It seems that the boys in Chapman hall did. It was quite late, too, but finally a few bucked up enough courage to peek out in the hall. And guess who greeted them?—a goat!

The dining hall had a new diner one day last week; his name is Paul Caterpillar. He spent the day in a tin pan and his furniture consisted of grass.

Some of the girls on second floor in Morrison became greatly disturbed one night as they heard a great "bump" coming from somewhere on third floor. Upon investigation, Betty Griffith was found sitting on the floor with a fly swatter in her right hand and with her left hand pointing to the fly she missed. (In case you're interested, Wathene Fitch made the successful catch.)

Some of Professor Ray's students may like this story. "I found my old friend with her white head bent over the radio. 'Arabs threaten Jerusalem,' a voice announced. Looking up the old lady sighed, 'My dear, we were all so much happier when Palestine was just a place in the Bible!'"

As Marvin Bloomquist was studying for his Old Testament test, he was heard to mutter, "Oh, Dan, it must have been against some people's religion to say Dan's sons so they changed it to Sampson."

If you're around Pat Morris five minutes you may hear the joke about the young school teacher, the college girl and the old maid who all shared the same apartment. They agreed to reveal how many times they had been kissed the night before by saying "morning." So the young school teacher said "good morning, what a lovely morning." The college girl said, "good morning, it's a lovely morning this morning, but I think yesterday morning was nicer than this morning." The old maid said, "hello."

Then there's the joke about the girl who was asked by her professor why she had selected the college she did. "Well," she said, "I come here to get went with, but I ain't yet."—This Week Magazine.

"I have often thought what a heaven this world could be if only we behaved to our fellow men as we do to our dogs."—Albert Guerard.

travelled government artist, will be invited to speak to the group sometime in the near future.

At the close of the business, Professor Finkbeiner showed an educational film on sculpturing.

Classes Meet

The chapel hour devoted to class meetings was well used by the sophomore and junior classes.

President Bonnie Painter presided over the meeting of the "sophs" in which they chose class colors and flower. Black and white were chosen for the colors and the red rose received the honor of class flower. "Every Day's a Happy Day" was picked for a theme chorus.

The junior class used the time to discuss the game that was to be used for the class game at the high school party. They practiced the skit to be used at the party, also.

Safety First

City Safety Officer John Del Dotto has been giving driving lessons to college high students. Classes are held at 1:20 and 2:15 class periods. A group of four boys goes out for lessons every Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. On Monday, Wednesday and Friday a girls' group is conducted.

Officer Del Dotton says: "I feel that it should be compulsory for every high school boy and girl to pass the drivers' course and know the rules and regulations in the laws of the state of Idaho before graduation from high school. My reasons for this are that it has been proven that out of 1,749, those taking drivers' training had only one-half as many accidents as those who hadn't had the drivers' training course."

available for services. The members of the quartet will be preachers, and young people's workers as well as singers. This quartet is the answer to many requests which the organization has received in the past year from pastors with whom it has worked.

There will be a special meeting of the Christian War Veterans of America on Saturday evening at 6:30 in Chapman hall. This is a meeting that will affect all old and new members alike.

SLA's Lose to Olys

The Olys came out in front this year by defeating the SLA's 4-7. Esther Kincaid knocked a home run for the Olys which chalked up one of their points. Most of the SLA's were stopped at home plate by strike-outs or their hits were caught by the Oly fielders.

ADP's Take Third Place

The ADP's played off the tie for third place with LSP's and defeated them 8-1. Pat Johnson on the pitcher's mound struck out many of the LSP batters and thus led the ADP's to victory.

ADP's Beat Oly's

The ADP's showed their power in the first football game of the season by taking the Oly's 7-0. Carlyle Dean took a pass in the end zone in the first half for the only touchdown of the game. The ADP's heavy line showed itself to a good advantage by throwing the Oly's for losses and breaking up passes. "Whity" Johnson and Millard Reynolds looked good in the Oly backfield. The Oly's team showed that old fight and will be in there fighting throughout the season. Carl Bellamy and Ralph Unger did most of the passing for the ADP's.

LSP's Break Tie

The LSP boys broke a second place tie for second place in softball standing by taking the ADP's 3-2. At the end of the regular five innings of play, the game was tied 2-2. The sixth inning went scoreless. The last of the seventh inning the LSP's scored to break the tie and win the game. This clinched second place for the LSP's. Elmore Vail and Harold Thompson did an excellent job for the LSP's and ADP's respectively.

SLA's Defeat LSP's

In the second game of the football season the SLA boys trounced the LSP's 19-0. Early in the first half, Kenny Hills threw a long pass on the last down to Don Farrand, who took the ball in the end zone for the first touchdown. Lloyd Hubbard caught a short pass from Elwood Beukelman for the extra point. Late in the first half, Don Farrand again caught a pass from Hills in the end zone, but the extra point failed and the score at the half was 13-0. Again it was Farrand who scored in the second half on a pass from Hills to make the score 19-0. The LSP's fought hard all the way but could never seem to get rolling. Dick Edwards was the outstanding passer. Douglas Powers, Elmore Vail, and Galloway looked good in the line and in receiving passes for the LSP's.

Missionary Society

Each Thursday, the chapel services are sponsored by the General Missionary society. The presentation of officers took place in the first service on Sept. 23. Officers for the coming year will be Paul Harris, president; Delmar Cook, vice-president; Jim Gross, treasurer; and Alice Johnson, program chairman.

On Sept. 30, Miss Helen Wilson presented a soul-stirring message to the student body; and on Oct. 7, the guest speaker was Samuel Krikorian, who gave a marvelous address on the world situation in Palestine.

From all indications, Thursday morning chapel will be one of the highlights of the weeks to come. On Thursday morning, Oct. 28,

"I'll Be Seeing You" is the title of a three-act comedy to be given by the SLA and Olympian societies on Nov. 19. Roma Mitchell and Bette Harding are in charge of this production. The cast will be selected and rehearsals will begin soon.

On the Sportside

By DELMAR BUEKELMAN

It seems the Trojans finally lost a football game. They must have run into a runaway locomotive, according to word brought back. In losing to New Meadows, 50-22, they discovered that they are going to have to play against some pretty big boys. They still have three more games to play and on their record they should pick up at least two wins, but let's hope that they don't sacrifice any basketball wins by playing football right into the time they surely will need for practice.

Coach Lamont Lee has called a few sessions of prospective ball-players for the Crusaders and appears ready to remedy last year's situation. Last fall, the faculty preaching mission was scheduled the second week in November and so basketball practice was held up until after that week. Consequently the Crusaders went into a heavy schedule with a little over two weeks spent in practice and they played six games before Lee could even select a squad and lost eight out of the first 11 games before they started to play good ball.

It should be a good year and a good team. All boys who have played any ball at all ought to show up at practices and let Coach Lee get a chance to choose his best team. Remember that there is also a junior varsity if you just can't make it but with the long trips scheduled it's going to be worth your extra effort to try to make the traveling squad.

This Thursday evening the athletic department is sponsoring a donkey ball game in order to make expenses. The little animals generally put on a good show and everyone who can make it should try to get out there and help the teams raise enough money to carry out the fine athletic program that is being started here at school.

Philosophers Put 'Democracy on Trial'

A group of enthusiastic Philosophy club members and visitors gathered last Thursday night in the parlor of Chapman hall for a panel-discussion on one of the outstanding problems that is facing our world today, Democracy. Papers presented by Kenneth Sulston, Peter Burkhart, and William Griffin, dealt respectively with democracy in the ancient, medieval, and modern world. Prof. Kauffman directed an informal round table discussion while coffee was served.

This was the first in a series of programs presenting "Democracy on Trial," the club project for the year. Subsequent programs will present among others, discussions of democracy and personality, and democracy and religion.

BEWARE!

If strange screeches, howls and eery cries are heard on the N. N. C. campus on Saturday night—it may be that the witches are on the prowl, or it may be that some unsuspecting student has come face to face with a masked subject on the way to the Hallowe'en party.

Students beware! If you are behind in your assignments, or have skipped classes that day—your fate is being decided. Be sure to listen for the scraping, screeching noises which will warn you that the brew is being stirred. The goblins, witches and all the imps of Hallowe'en are after you, and woe to the student who is caught in their knotty, cold, clammy fingers.

In the blackness of the night they will be watching and waiting for a guilty person. If you, dear reader, should fall into their grasp, remember—we warned you!

The guest speaker will be Dr. Henry Wesche. We're sure he will have an interesting and inspiring message which everyone will enjoy hearing.
