N.N.C. of Yesterday

By Jean Kirkpatrick

"Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you"

Some people say miracles happen in a flash, but the miracle of the existence of N.N.C. is one which has been unfolding for over 30 years. Looking back to the N.N.C. of the old days shows us in a glance that the pleasures of campus life which we now enjoy are a testimony to the fact that "these things shall be added unto us" if the kingdom of God is sought first in our lives.

To regress into the history of N.N.C. a little, how many of us know that N.N.C. was first organized in 1913, and became the realization of the vision of Eugene Emerson, a mighty man of God, who sought "first the kingdom."

First Organized in 1913

By the year 1920 our campus had five buildings which constituted the home of our institution. The administration building, a large frame, one-story edifice minus the present chapel extension, provided class rooms for the college students and offices for the administrators. The academy occupied the basement of the Ad Building, Hadley Hall housed the women students, and Gideon Hall, present Fine Arts Building, provided homes for the bachelor students. The grammar school as it is still known today, although at present unoccupied, served as the training school for primary students.

Speech Hall Served as Dining Hall

As in the present day, the fellows and girls, had to eat, and the Club Building the present Speech Hall, was dining-room and kitchen combined. It was named the Club because it was originally a student organization operated and supervised by the students themselves.

These five buildings comprised the total of the physical assets of Northwest Nazarene College.

Some of the faculty members who have remained to see the development of the miracle of N.N.C. can well be proud of what we are now because they know the struggle which has gone into making N.N.C. what it is today. Prof. Janosky and Miss Dooley were two of our original faculty members, and Prof. Sutherland, too, can date his teaching career back to the early 20's when he joined the N.N.C. faculty. 1921 saw the advent of Miss Hostetter in the Business Office staff.

Society Beginnings

Our athletic-literary societies date back to the beginning of our school, although there were only two men as compared with our present four organizations. The Orthonian Literary Society, named after Dr. H. Orton Wiley, N.N.C.'s first president, included the college students, while the academy students were members of the Apollonian Literary Society, the name derived from Apollos of the scriptures. Their activities were much the same today as were the activities of the debate societies, Christian Worker's Band, and Foreign Mission Band.

It might be interesting to note particularly the year 1925. Dr. D. I. Vanderpool held the opening convention, at that time a two-week meeting, and Rev. Lum Jones conducted the fall revival.

Vanderpool Held First Convention

Some of the seniors of the class of '25 are well-known to us — Harold Hart, Calvin Emerson, and John Dean, whom we still see roaming around the halls of N.N.C. at times. John Dean was the student body president in 1925.

They even had a student-faculty reception in that year! And they had a half-holiday on Prof. Janosky's birthday—his 44th.

Yes, it must have been wonderful seeing N.N.C. grow to its present status—lots of hardships, but lots of memories. Me? I'll take the memories without the realities, and give three cheers for N.N.C. Rah! Rah! Rah!

Faculty Preaching Mission Opens Mon

Beginning Monday, November 28 in chapel, the Faculty Preaching Mission will continue throughout the week and close on Sunday evening, December 4.

Prof. James Hilliard will speak on Monday, Prof. Hanson on Tuesday, and Prof. F. C. Sutherland on Wednesday during chapel. La Monte Lee will take the Mission to prayer meeting where he will bring the message.

Dr. Henry Wesche and Prof. A. J. Finkbeiner will give their sermons Thursday and Friday. Saturday evening, Prof. Guy Sharp has charge of the service and Sunday evening, Prof. M. A. Wilson will bring the last message of the series.

This is the fourth year in which the Preaching Missions have taken place. In 1946, a religious activity committee of faculty members suggested that two weeks of the year be consecrated to the purpose of intensifying student consciousness of the school's religious atmosphere.

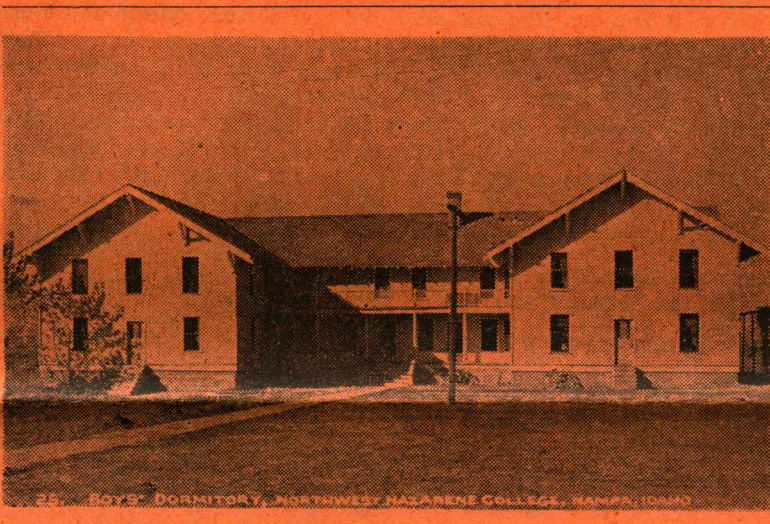

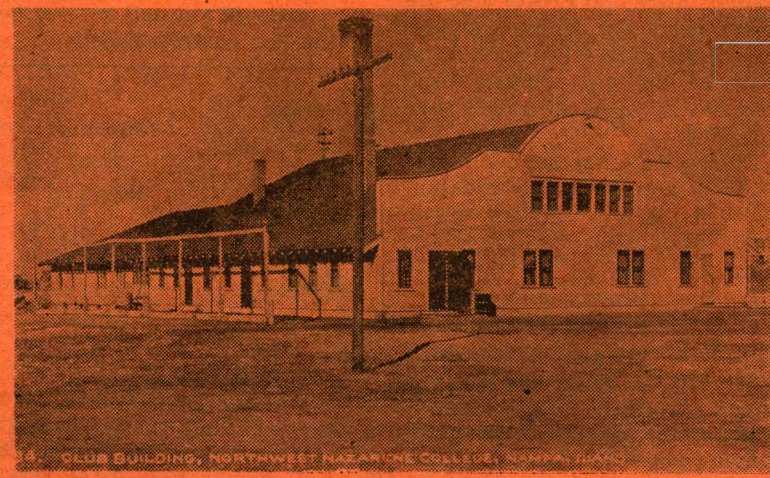

Samaritan Caravan To Tour Nampa

A police escort and a band led by Dick Friesen will accompany Samaritan Hospital's caravan which will tour Nampa next Monday afternoon.

Leaving Northside Church at 4 p.m., the parade will go through the city en route to the hospital, where all the contributions to the hospital will be unloaded.

Following the parade, a dinner will be given for all participating guests, after which they will be taken on a tour through the hospital including the wing now under construction, and through Mangum Hall.

Held on the first day of the district preachers' meeting, the parade will include all pastors of the district as well as the members of the Nampa ministerial association, the Samaritan hospital staff members and students, and floats representing local business men who are co-operating with the hospital.

Second Annual Alumni Homecoming To Be Celebrated November 25th

An all-important day for the alumni students of N.N.C. will be November 25. Former students and alumni will return to the campus of N.N.C. on this day to renew acquaintances and discuss old-times.

A full program of activities is planned during the day and evening, which is in charge of Fred Fowler and the Student Council.

Officers of the Alumni Association are: Paul D. Mangum, President; Guy Sharp, Vice President; Esli Young, Treasurer; Elaine Carlson, Secretary; Doris Lisk, Ex. Secretary. Board of Directors includes: Calvin Emerson and Gladys Kinzler.

The alumni homecoming, which was begun last year, is hoped to be an annual affair at N.N.C.

Debate Opens with Walla Walla Tour; California Next

"The most educational experience of my life," was the comment on the recent debate tournament at Whitman College made by Naomi Williamson, freshman member of the women's team. Miss Williamson and her partner, Arlene Swardstrom, sophomore, debated against five of the best women's teams in the Inland Empire Area. All four of the teams which were tied for first honors in the women's division were among their opponents.

The men's team, Donald Farand, senior, and Wesley Johnson, junior, won the cup in their division by 5-0 against the teams opposing them.

Don and Wes will enter the Western Speech Association, November 21-23, at Stanford University in California, to debate again on the question of "Nationalization of Basic Industries." Bob and Jack Burke will team up to debate the adoption of a Marshall plan for the Orient. Also debating this plan will be the two Pauls — Seutherland and Beals. They will also participate in the Student Congress which will pass on recommended legislation affecting nations of the Orient.

Coach Mallalieu Wilson accompanied the debaters to Walla Walla, where he served as judge of debates between other schools.

N.N.C. Secures Renowned Chef

Rev. C. F. La Ferney will take over the position as manager of the dining department next week.

He comes to us from second cook at Pasadena College. He has cooked in several camp meetings and in various restaurants and hotels around the country. For the last 15 years he has been in the preaching field, his last pastorate being in Prescott, Arizona. His wife will also work in the dining-department.

ALUMNI HOMECOMING CALENDAR November 25

Morning

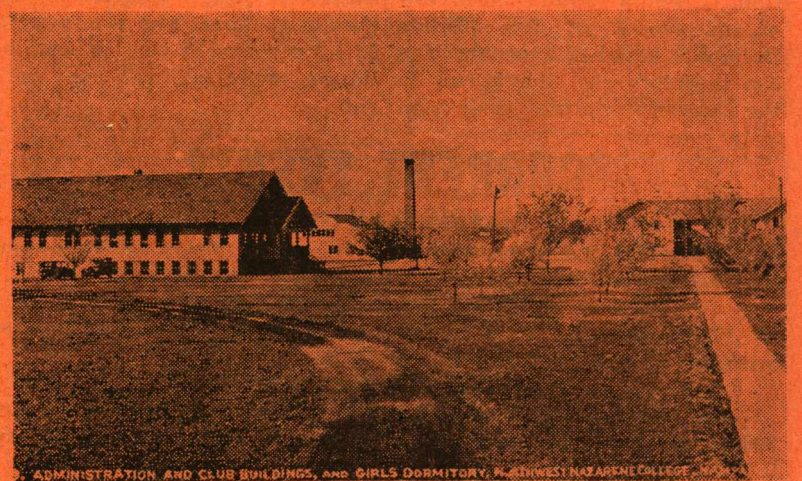

Registration of alumni will begin before chapel. After chapel—finish registration and free time to spend.

Afternoon

Alumni free to visit any classes in afternoon. Tour of Mangum Hall and Samaritan Hospital. Open House in the dormitories.

Evening

Pot-luck dinner in the dining hall. Will attend the Basketball Jamboree at Central Auditorium.

The telephone around the old campus has just been wonderful this past week. Everyone just thinks the world of everyone else. Dot Taylor just thinks the world of Wayne Johnson. Has she told you, Wayne?

None seems to have any predelections for anything except perhaps Edna and Frosty who are pretty particular whose shoulder they hang over when looking at some of the old annuals. And who has broader shoulders than Ray Hastings.

By the way, has anyone tasted Darlene Van Schaick's cooking? She's found out that you can make wonderful pudding, if you "Sturges" right.

It's been rumored and rumored that someone by the name of Marion is coming down to spend Thanksgiving with our own little Bobby Johnson. What are you going to be doing, Christensen? Playing chauffeur? If you get desperate, come around and see me. That is, if you can find out who I am. On second thought, don't wait until you get desperate.

Well, since I think the world of myself, I guess I better sign off. You probably are wondering why I haven't done so sooner. See you next week—if I live!

The Outcast Kittens

By Library Gals (Door Chickens)

Squeegee came from a long line of black cats of a special variety, the type that suited the witches to a "T," nice, slim, slick, black ones. Their cries out into the night air would run cold shivers up one's spine. All his ancestors were blessed by the witches with the gift of riding on any type broom. On that night of all nights, all these qualities were at their best and all avoid these habingers of evil. They had seen many a frightful sight and had added a splendor to all of the witchcraft meetings.

Now Squeegee had been added into this family but with different characteristics. He was little and very plump kitten with a beautiful mellow voice. His footfalls weren't at all ghostly and his voice was sweet to hear.

Now on this special night of nights, there was a meeting of Witch-Craft Associated. Zinkey, the president was assigning jobs to be done by each black cat.

Squeegee listened with innocent blue eyes wide and small ears perked to hear what Zinkey would tell him to do, when in through the magic circle came the most beautiful white kitty that Squeegee had ever seen.

"This," said Kinkey, "is your partner for your Halloween trip."

Murmurs from Morrison
by Morrison Molly

What is the puzzled attraction in Morrison Hall parlor, or is it the attractive puzzle? Everyone has noticed the cheerful expressions of Daphne Wells and Bonnie Haun, it's no wonder, as their parents were NNC visitors over the weekend.

Nita Thorpe's theme song must be 'Far Away Places, since her dates and telephone calls are strictly off-campus.

The murmurs grow to a roar of joy now that Lorraine Mitchell is out of the hospital and convalescing nicely.

Is Dorothy Scurlock Scotch, or has she acquired her interest in Scotch scenery? Glens, etc., here at NNC.

It's a bird, it's a plane, it's super —, no! it's just Joanne Sanders hurrying to breakfast Sunday mornings, on the run that is.

Did we understand that once again Darlene V. and Nelda R. are going steady or is it steadily going?

Does Morrison have its own idol of the air lines? Listen to Ruth Allen on Friday nights at 9 over KFXD and find out.

Much Ado About Mangum

By Marilyn Perkins

Much ado really was around Mangum hall recently when the four finishing senior nurses returned with Miss Miller and Miss Urchel from their two-day sneak at Sun Valley. Met by an enthusiastic, though not too melodious band, the seniors were assured that they had been missed during their absence.

Incidentally, these same four nurses were honored at a recent nurses' prayer meeting when they were given temporary possession of their graduation pins and had their status changed from that of "senior" to that of "finishing senior." These nurses who will finish in February, may now be identified from other student nurses by the black bands which extend the full width of their caps.

And speaking of caps, those little white things have been the subject of much conversation for the past few weeks. Though many jokes have been made about getting (?) to go home for Thanksgiving, the "probies" are relieved to know that they will be around Nampa on Thanksgiving, being thankful for the white caps they'll be wearing after Monday night.

Campus Overtones

By Pat Bolerjack, Music Critic

Everyone enjoys a good orchestra and band but few people realize what it takes to make them good. It means more than a director—it means people who are interested enough to come out and play the instruments. N.N.C. is very fortunate in having a top-notch director this year. Mr. Epp is trying very hard to make a success of both our orchestra and band but he needs help. In a school of our size it takes every one who can play an instrument to make good musical organizations.

In talking to Mr. Epp about the orchestra this year, he said that at present there are about 21 members. There is a need for both a French horn player and string players. The string section includes violins, violas, cellos, and basses.

There will be the semi-annual concerts, the first of which is coming in January. The soloists at this concert will be Mrs. Swann and Miss Carol Allen. For the spring concert Mr. Epp wants to use some outstanding students as the soloists.

This year the band has 15 members. The number is surprisingly small. Clarinet, trumpet, saxophone, and trombone players are needed. The band will function at the basketball games as a pep band.

Mr. Epp said, "We hope to present a spring band concert IF enough students will support the band. But I can't play all of the instruments."

If you know of any students who play instruments but are not participating in either of these organizations, please urge them to come out to the rehearsals. What do you say we all cooperate to have a band and orchestra of which N.N.C. can be proud.

I Don't Believe In Money

By Madonna Pullen

I don't believe in money. I believe in a medium of exchange which money represents but our society has built money into a personality. If this personality looks upon us with favor we have friends and persuade ourselves into thinking we are somebody. If disdain is our reward from the personality we have few invitations from our so called friends.

Money is held up as a benefactor who supports the nation and doles each out his shares, of the family profits. For this reason we try to favor him like a rich uncle who is about to die but never does. We of the disdainful group are jealous of the favorites and slave for him to become one of that group. Our life is not our own and we try to deceive our associates into thinking we are of the favored class.

What Does a College Education Cost ?

by L. Wesley Johnson

It takes money to go to college. Fortunately, the student doesn't have to bear the full cost. It takes at least $1,000. a year, on the average, to cover the expenses (including board, room, tuition, fees and books) of each one who attends an institution of higher learning.

In addition to those items it is necessary to maintain an investment of from $2,000. to $5,000. in buildings and equipment for every one enrolled. Figure out how much YOU actually pay, then ask yourself the question, 'Who pays the balance?'

For illustration, let us say that you will pay the sum of $700. during this school year. Where, then, will the other $300. come from to meet the expenses of $1,000. mentioned above? There are two sources which the money is secured; either from interest on endowment or from gifts.

N.N.C. does not have an endowment from which an income is realized to help meet the annual budget. Instead, the churches on our education zone, together with individual friends, contribute approximately $50,000. a year to help pay for your education. It would require an invested endowment of One Million Dollars to equal this income. You can therefore say 'thank you' to the churches who pay their education budgets and to the friends of the college who pay one-third of your college expenses. If these sources of income would suddenly be cut off, you would pay three-thirds instead of two-thirds of the amount necessary to attend school; a fifty per cent increase over the present amount is what you would have to spend.

The next time someone tells you that colleges make a profit on you, remind them of these figures. Many persons do not seem to realize that it takes a lot of cash to hire instructors, buy supplies and equipment, maintain a large campus, provide food for a thousand and meals a day, and furnish dormitories for 300 boarding students. Perhaps few students here at Nampa are aware of the fact that many so-called small items run into large sums annually. For example: our electric light bill alone is about $6,000. each year. It costs around $15,000. a year (fuel and labor) just to keep you warm. More than a third of a million dollars is being paid out each year to operate N.N.C. If at any time you are tempted to complain about the high cost of learning, let me suggest that you overcome this temptation by thanking those who are paying 33 1-3 per cent of your education. I'd say you're getting a good bargain.

Trojans Close Year Against Greenleaf

Greeleaf's undefeated Grizzlies, traditional enemies of College High School, come to Kurtz Park this afternoon in the final game of the year for the Trojans of Tiny Bellamy.

Winner of nine games, all by overwhelming margins, the Grizzlies will be seeking their second win from the Trojans whom they defeated several weeks ago at Greenleaf. Since that time however, the Nampans have shown considerable improvement and may prove a formidable foe for the visitors who are generally rated as the top six-man outfit in the state.

For five members of the CHS starting lineup this will be the final game, they are Harry Williams, Curt Beukelman, Ray Williams, Dale Lilly and Glen Knapp. Ira Stiles, a junior will round out the opening array.

The Grizzlies are paced by Don

Duane Volk, reserve center for the Trojans snags a pass in a recent practice session as Coach Tiny Bellamy watches in the background.

Tub Thumping

By LILBURN WESCHE

The Turkey Bowl promises to be a highly entertaining morning for those in attendance, especially if one can go by the mud that members of the various sides have been slinging around for the past few days.

Arnie Zimbelman, when queried as to his opinion of the game said, "I don't know nothing about the game but if you want to watch a star in action just follow me as I make hamburger out of that bum, Powers." He added at great length, that he is the greatest athlete since LaMont Lee. We are uncertain as to the truth of his assumptions but we are assured that he does have the foundation with his athlete's feet.

Other greats who will be in action include the above mentioned LaMont Lee, NNC's hard-charging excuse for Bronko Nagurski, who took great pains to be on the same side as Kenneda because, as he put it, "I didn't want to hurt the poor boy."

Also slated for action in this memorable event of the decade is that great fullback who evolved from heaven only knows, Johnny Pershall. Anybody who has seen 'Persh' run knows what we mean when we say that he is twice as fast as a rabbit, (a dead one that is).

Tiny Bellamy, who for years has been trying to score, claims that this is it. If he doesn't make it across the double stripes this year he swears that he will quit being a ball hog and let someone else try next time. We wonder.

A further note to that above. This is going to be a momentous Turkey Bowl. Man mountain Lee has announced that following the game he will officially resign from playing in the Turkey Bowl in the future. Bless his heart. It took a long time but he finally has caught on and is stepping aside to let the younger generation take over.

Turkey Bowl, Basketball Jamboree Top Sports Program, Thanksgiving Week

Woody Beukelman

Beukelman Coach CHS Basketball

Woody Beukelman, College High basketball star of three years ago and a member of the College varsity for the past two seasons, has taken over the basketball coaching duties of College High School.

Beukelman has been CHS B team coach since his graduation and succeeds Elmore Vail to the head coaching position. Vail left last year to take graduate work at the University of Idaho.

A former all-conference cager in South Dakota, the new CHS coach transferred to College High in his senior year and averaged over 19 points per game in 24 tilts with the Trojans, captaining the club to a record of 22 wins against two defeats.

During his freshman year at NNC Beukelman handled one of the starting guard berths and last year alternated at the opening guard assignment.

The Trojans lost all but one letterman from last year's strong five and will be starting practically from scratch. Curt Beukelman, a guard is the only returning veteran. Ray Williams, Harry Williams and Glenn Knapp are rated high among the newcomers.

Thanksgiving week-end sports activities spotlight this year's alumni Homecoming celebration. Feature events will be the Turkey Bowl football melee at Public School Field and the basketball jamboree at Central auditorium next Friday.

Two intramural football squads have been drilling for the Turkey Bowl struggle for the past few days. Although neither team can be rated as a favorite several individual performers will bear watching. They include Doug Powers, the hard-charging ex-Colorado State star, Tiny Bellamy, Jim Galloway, Jim Kenneda, Dean Hellenga, and Kieth Bever.

Friday's basketball jamboree, which signals the opening of the intramural basketball season will find all eight society teams in action. The two girl's games will open activities with the boys' tilts winding up festivities. Starting time for the first game is 7:00 p.m.

Between halves of each of the four games, skits will be presented by the different societies.

Points will be awarded to the winning society, with the jamboree contest being based upon decoration, enthusiasm, halftime skit and sportsmanship.

SLAs Take First In Men's, Women's Intramural Debate

Naomi Williamson, Oly, and Robert Burke, ADP, won top honors in the recent intra-mural society speech contest. "Nationalization of Basic Industries" was the subject for prepared and extemporaneous speeches.

Faye Strunk won second place for the SLA's, as did Wes Johnson for the Oly's. Evelyn Herron, an ADP's and Jack Burke, an SLA, took third place honors. Fourth place was won by Lester Rowe of the LSP society. The LSP's had no entrant in the women's division.

Debates started in full swing the first part of this week with the SLA men, Don Farrand and George Evans, defeating the Oly men, Jack Burke and Paul Sutherland. The ADP team, Paul Mitchell and Bob Burke, also defeated the Oly team. The SLA team won first place by defeating the ADP team Tuesday night. An exhibition debate was given in chapel by Wes Johnson and Don Farrand and Bob and Jack Burke.

Debates of the women's division were won by the ADP team, Arlene Swardstrom and Evelyn Herron, in defeating the Oly team, Naomi Williamson and Joyce Harris. The SLA women, Norma Kostella and Faye Strunk, defeated the ADP women. The SLA team also won over the Oly team, giving the SLA's first place in the women's division of debate.

NEWS BRIEFS

Club Membership Restricted

Due to the fact that there are so many departmental clubs on the campus, the student council has decided to restrict each student to membership in two departmental clubs.

This decision is subject to approval by the administrative council.

"Apple Blossom Time," LSP-SLA play, originally scheduled for November 11, has been postponed until Thursday, November 24.

One of the leads, Merilu Anderson, was called home recently due to the illness of her mother. During her absence, Jean Conrey is taking her place.

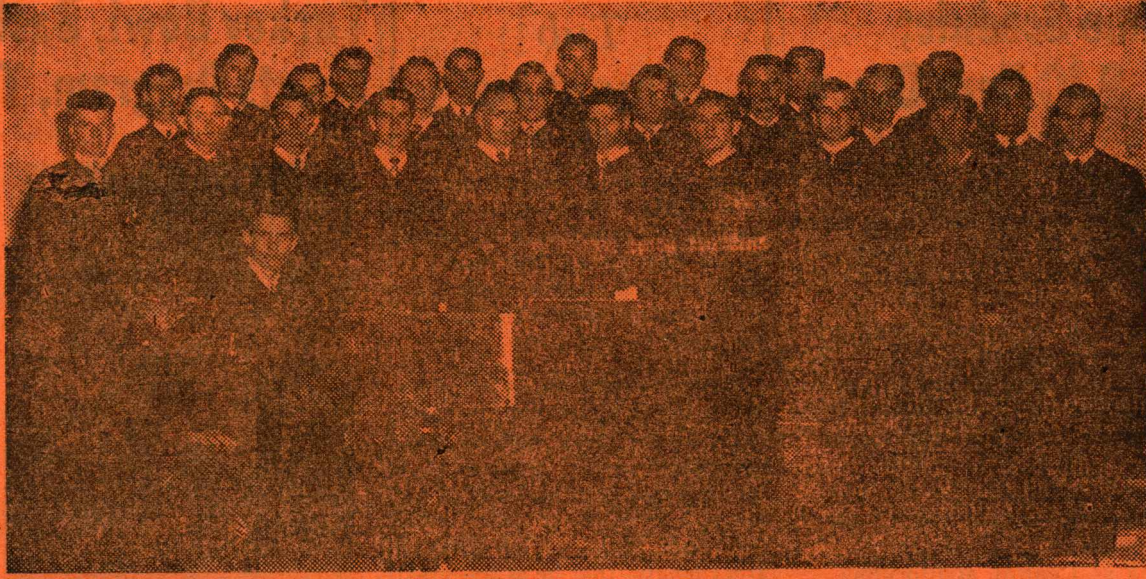

2 SENIORS, 1 JUNIOR 3 SOPHS AMONG 25% IN HI SCHOOL MISS TESTS

Donna Arnold, Alfred Adams, seniors; Jerry Jackson, junior; Bob Harmond, Gladys Fred and Geraldine Wright, sophomores; were exempt from the nine weeks tests as they received grades of an A or high B. Exemption in high school this year was based on the upper 25% of each class.

And then there was the little moron who went to the football game because he thought the quarterback was a refund.

Dr. Young to Officiate At Capping Service

Dr. Samuel Young, General Superintendent of the Church of the Nazarene, will be this year's speaker at the annual capping exercises of the Samaritan hospital school of nursing. The public is cordially invited to attend the service which will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 21 at College Church.

In an impressive ceremony, following Dr. Young's message, the members of the class of 1952 will solemnly repeat the Florence Nightengale pledge, and receive their white caps, symbolizing their acceptance into the nursing profession.

Following the service, a reception will be given for the girls, their relatives and friends.
