Dr. Thelma B. Culver To Be Listed In Next Publication of Who's Who

Dr. Thelma B. Culver, Dean of the College, has been notified of her selection to Who's Who in America by the A. W. Marquis Company of Chicago.

Listings in Who's Who in America are "selected solely on the basis of the editor's estimate of actual or probable reference interest, sufficiently widespread to be more than merely sectional and resulting from meritorious achievement."

Dr. Culver received her Master's degree in Education at the University of Washington and her Doctorate at the University of Colorado. Since 1946, she has been Dean of the College. The biography will appear in the Twenty-Eighth Edition of Who's Who in America.

Here in the Northwest, Dr. Culver has been appointed to serve on a committee for the selection of a Kellogg study topic. The appointment came from Alton Jones, State Superintendent of Schools.

The committee is a planning group to develop a topic study under the regional program to improve school administration in the Pacific Northwest and is aided by the W. K. Kellogg company.

Dr. Culver has also been notified by J. D. Buchanan, president of the University of Idaho, of her appointment by the State Board of Education and Board of Regents of the University to serve on a State Advisory Committee on Teacher Education.

New Frosh Studes Number Seventeen

Forty new students are enrolled for second semester to make a new cumulative enrollment of 756, reports the registrar's office.

Of this total, 17 are freshmen, five sophomores, seven juniors, one senior, one graduate student, and nine high school students. These include returning students from former years and new entrants or transfers.

New juniors include Janet Hauger, Virginia Hennis, Betty Ervin, Fred Edwards, Guilford Fitz, Juanita Pate and Marcella Mielke.

One senior, Helen Bolerjack, and one graduate, Earl Barnum, completes the list of new second semester entrants.

College High's nine new enrollees are Arliss Cain, David Cochran, Donald Daniels, John Good, Betty Kisse, Shirley Landis, Shirley Orchara, Carolyn Shepherd and Carolyn Wise.

Valentine Heart Sister Week Set

Heart Sister Week will get underway during the A. W. S. chapel next Tuesday, February 12. The event is sponsored by the Associated Women Students and has become traditional around N. N. C.

Edna Cramer, newly elected Assistant Program Chairman, is planning the chapel program which will consist of various features of Heart Sister week and suggestions for this year's activities. She will be assisted by Darlene Odda.

Former NNC Student Leaves For Japan

Jean Kirkpatrick, former student of N. N. C., left the Port of Embarkation, Seattle, Wash., Jan. 29 enroute to Japan. She has received a two year assignment in the Orient from the Department of the Army.

She will be assigned from Yokohama but indications are that she will be sent to a base at Kokura on the northernmost tip of Kyushu, the southern Japanese island. Kokura is 150 miles south of Korea, where her brother, Howard, is stationed.

Miss Kirkpatrick will also be joining her fiance, Randy Krause, who is now stationed in Japan. They plan to be married on Easter Sunday.

Jean is a graduate of Northwest Nazarene College, receiving her degree with the class of 1951. She has been employed by the Corps of Engineers in Walla Walla, Wash. since September.

Annual Mangum Missionary Lectures Close Today; Earl Mostellers Speak

Speakers for the sixth annual Mangum Missionary lecture series which ends with today's chapel service are Earl and Gladys Mosteller. They are recently returned from Cape Verde islands off the west coast of Africa, one of the 29 Nazarene Missionary fields.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Mosteller, who are alumni of Northwest Nazarene College, participated in student activities while enrolled in the college here.

Following graduation in 1941 they spent four years in a pastorate. Always interested in the work of missions, they volunteered for missionary service and in March, 1946, sailed for the Cape Verde islands. During the five years they were on the field, Earl Mosteller evangelized among the natives on the different islands and supervised the work of the native ministers.

While on furlough the Mostellers have been traveling in various sections of the United States on deputation work.

Established in 1946, the Mangum Missionary lecture series is sponsored

Judges Rate "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" First; ADPs Take 2nd

Rolling up a grand total of 3,942 points, the SLA society captured the faculty loving cup for the first semester, out-pointing their nearest rivals, the ADPs by a 470-point margin. Marvin Bloomquist was president of the winning society.

Third place spot went to the Olys with a total of 2,919½ points to edge them past the LSPs by a 177-point margin.

"The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," presented by the SLA-Oly societies, took first place in the contest program. The play, directed by June Knapp and Lyle Starkey, boosted the total points of those two societies considerably.

First place finishes in Debate, Humorous Reading, Shakespearean Dialogue, and Closed Night attendance were instrumental in the SLA win. All told they rolled up a total of 2,020 literary points. The ADPs were closest to them with 1,341 points, followed by the Olys with 1,224 and the LSPs with 1,080.

The ADPs tied the SLAs for the first in Shakespearean Dialogue and took first place in the Jam-boree and in participation points to cop second place in the literary field. The Oly literary points from the contest program enabled them to edge past the LSPs in the final tally.

First place honors in girls basketball, boys' softball, boys' ping pong, and second places in football, boys' basketball, volleyball, girls' softball, and participation points enabled the ADPs to edge past the SLAs in athletic points with 2,130½. The leading SLAs took first place in boys' basketball, volleyball, boys' ping pong (tie) and participation points for a total of 1,922 points for second place. The Olys with firsts in football, boys' softball (tie), boys' tennis singles and doubles, boys' golf, and horse-shoes had a third place total of 1,695½ points for a scant 33-point margin over the LSPs. The LSP girls took firsts in tennis singles, softball and ping pong and seconds in basketball and tennis doubles to capture an important part of their 1,662 athletic points.

Most participation points went to the ADPs for the third straight semester with a total for both athletic and literary of 514. Second were the SLAs with 497 points followed by the LSPs with 467 and the Olys with only 197.

Presentation of the Faculty Loving Cup to the winning SLA society will take place during chapel Feb. 18. Following the semi-annual presentation ceremonies there will be meetings of the societies.

B. J. C. To House Brotherhood Week Representatives

Monday evening, Feb. 18 at 7:30, an inter-collegiate fireside gathering in observance of Brotherhood Week is scheduled. Representatives from College of Idaho, Boise Junior College and Northwest Nazarene College will meet in Morrison Hall on the BJC campus for the discussion period.

Dr. James Martin of the department of philosophy and religion at the College of Idaho will speak to the group on Christian Brotherhood. NNC students wishing to attend this inter-denominational religious discussion should contact Chester Galloway or Melvin Laws before Feb. 18. Refreshments will be served.

Sponsors of the National Brotherhood Week stress the purpose of the event as an attempt to focus attention on the need for Brotherhood the year around, both within the United States and throughout the world.

"In view of mounting world tensions, Brotherhood Week activities are important since they help to create a climate of opinion in which good human relations can be achieved and encouraged to flourish," maintains the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Colliers Pictures Former NNC Cadet

Former N. N. C. student, Cadet J. Russell Brokaw, Fourth Class, is pictured in the Jan. 5 issue of Colliers with his class from the United States Military Academy at West Point. Brokaw, who attended N. N. C. last year, is from Fullerton, N. Dak., and was the first alternate appointment of Senator Milton Young.

Cadet Brokaw is taking eight hours of mathematics, two and one-half hours of engineering drawing, two and one-half hours of English, three and one-half hours of P. E. and approximately six hours of tactics a week. Any spare time that he has is spent studying the Russian language.

Plebes such as Brokaw are not allowed to leave the Academy from their entrance on July 3, to the next June with the exception of major football games in Philadelphia and New York City. During Christmas "vacation" the students at West Point take their term examinations.

Approximately 10 per cent of the cadets who enroll drop out by the end of the first year either by personal choice or by request due to excessive demerits. Failure to prepare for ONE class ONE day is punishable by 15 demerits and 20 hours of walking the "area". A slight difference is reported between West Point and N. N. C. in this respect.

Rabbi A. H. Fink To Speak Feb. 19

Rabbi Adolph H. Fink, lecturer and civic leader, will speak in chapel on Tuesday, Feb. 19, on "The Religious Foundations of Democracy."

Sponsored by the Jewish Chautauqua Society, the Rabbi is delegated to spread good will and to promote better understanding between different religious beliefs, according to the society creed.

Rabbi Fink, who had previously occupied the pulpit of Temple Emanu-El in Spokane, is at present Rabbi of Congregation B'nai Israel in Salt Lake City. He has traveled extensively in the U. S., Canada, Europe and the Near East.

He will be speaking to the I. R. C. at 4:00 p. m. of the same day on the subject, "The Jewish People in the Contemporary World."

sored by the Mangum children in honor of their parents, Dr. and Mrs. T. E. Mangum, founders of the Samaritan hospital. Other lecturers have been Louise Robinson Chapman, C. H. Winan, Prescott Beals, Dr. Lauren Seaman and Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Cook.

Here's the Rub - So - Grab A Club And USE It!

Are we being clubbed to death? Are there too many clubs on the campus or is there too little interest in the clubs? All you have to do to be a member in good standing of nearly any club is sign a little slip of paper so you will be notified for the only two important club functions of the year—getting in the club picture for the OASIS and attending the party to spend the “meager amount of money that the tight old student body gives us.”

DON'T Read Further

What do you students think these clubs are for—to provide an outlet for excess student body funds, perhaps? Our clubs should keep “service” as their motto only we should change it to, “Service to Others,” instead of “Service to Us.” Why can't we have club projects to hold the interest of the members and to perpetuate the club name. As it is, interest is dwindling to the point where we are in danger of finding some of our clubs fading into complete oblivion.

Stop Reading NOW

For instance a few years ago one of the clubs undertook the project of securing and placing the metal wastebaskets which we see the remains of at several strategic places. The baskets are now an eyesore on the campus because no one took charge of their maintenance. A club should take pride in their service projects—enough pride to keep them in repair. The publicity they get and the good will they build will go a long way toward making it an honor to hold membership and the duties fulfilled by the members will make them feel a definite obligation to a co-operative organization.

Turn Page HERE

Turning our backs on the problem is merely postponing the solution. We can't refuse to join a club because of the prevalent disinterest shown by the club members. The little benefit that is derived from membership goes to those few who are willing to take responsibility and put something into the club activities in turn for what they expect to get out of it. Why should we let a few get all the personal gain and character benefit when they would be only too glad to share the “fruits of labor” with us?

One More Paragraph

Perhaps one way to ease the existant crisis would be to restrict membership or set up membership requirements, but I'm against that. I think that all we need is for each of us to realize the problem and then take an active part in solving it. Of course some of the organizations are far more active than others and a few of them are doing a very good job of promoting student cooperation and participation. Let's have more like these so we can really show good reason why the student body shouldn't cut our club allotment. And let's have some publicity! Elect a publicity chairman and make him responsible for publicizing your club activities.

And This

In short, lets' get club conscious before we get “clubbed unconscious!”

These Cooks Could Spoil Cupid's Broth

One year of open season has been declared on males again after a quadrennium of poaching. Any males eligible for marriage are fair targets of the onslaught planned to diminish the number of existing bachelors.

This warning has not been released prior to this date due to the relatively few mishaps predicted for the month of January. Valentine's Day, however, is an annual day of extensive exploitation.

February 14 is one of the few days which demands special attention to avoid the snares and wiles of the female of the species. According to actual statistics from past years, “fewer marriages take place in leap year than during any other year.” The year following, however, shows a decided increase in the exchange of vows (followed by oaths). These findings conclusively show that the old Russian axiom is true, “Ibanski trabindikks keyrocski.”

(Editor's note: This proverb loses all meaning in translation.)

The moral of this should show that “an ounce of pretension is worth a pound of lure.”

DEVOTIONAL THOTS ON ...

THE RIGHT AIM

By David Taylor

One of the necessities of life is good and wholesome ambitions. The reason so many people are failures is because they have failed to make the right aim in life. Of the highest importance in becoming a success is the matter of placing our aims and ambitions on the right things.

So many young people fail in this regard. These young people are not without ambitions but they are without good and worthwhile ones. Even among Christian young people there are those who are aiming lower in life than they ought to.

Many have the ambition to serve and live for themselves. They are selfish and grasping for the things of life in order that they might live in ease and “enjoy life.” Speaking to a young man about his soul I found that this was true in his life as he expressed his only purpose in life by saying, “All I want now is to earn enough money so that later I can live with the best things in life and ‘take it easy’ for the rest of my life.” But this is far

American Students Have It Easy When It Comes to Dating, Says Argentinan

By Dave Cochran

Boy! You guys around here don't really know how lucky you are. All you have to do is sit around and wait for the girls to come and ask you for a date. Or, do you have to ask them even during leap year?

Now down in Argentina you really have to slave for them. Of course your dating is cut down to strictly one girl at a time, and that is just about as much as you have time for too. This may sound a bit strange to you, but maybe you'll change your mind by the time I finish this little “valentine.”

If you want to even speak to a girl you'll have to pay the due compliments to her father and get the required permission. If you pass his cross examination in which he will decide whether you will make a convenient son-in-law or not, you get the privilege of sitting in the parlor under the watchful eye and ear of the mother. You talk about commonplace things such as your favorite radio singer and try to put a double meaning into your words.

Your chance comes when you prepare to leave. Without previous warning you suddenly jump to your feet and stride across the room and say, before the mother has had time to stand up, “No, don't bother to rise, Senora! I've had quite a from the right ambition.

Others have the ambition to serve and please humanity. This is a high motive and aim and many ought to desire more to be of service to the human race. But even this ambition is not the right one.

To have the all-important aim is to have the purpose not to please ourselves or serve mankind but to serve God. We admire the lives of great men such as Paul, John Wesley, and James B. Chapman because they found the right purpose in life. Their aims were to please God.

May God help us to have the right ambition in life. In everything we do may we decide only to please God and in so doing we will not only in reality please ourselves but we will also please and serve men. Let's take the challenge and make our ambitions the right ambitions.

delightful evening. Please give my regards to the Senor, and may you have ‘muy Buenos Noches.’

As you turn toward the hall, the “Senorita” will spring up and say, “Here, I will show you to the door.” And she ushers you in double quick time to the front door, forgetting, of course, to turn on the hall lights on the way.

You've got to be a fast talker to get in half of what you've been dying to say all evening, for by the time the mother suspiciously turns on the lights all she will see is you innocently bowing good night to the young lady.

By the time you've been to see her four or five times the “Old Folks” start to make plans for the wedding, which, if it does come off, will be in a couple of years.

Maybe you will agree with me now that you have your hands quite full keeping company with one girl, and if what I've told you isn't enough I'll add that in case you are seen or the rumor gets around that you looked at or spoke over a couple of minutes with another girl, “papa” or “big brother” or maybe both will go out gunning for you, or maybe better said, “knifing for you.”

Ed. Note: Dave, one of our second semester registrants, is a senior in College High. The son of Nazarene missionaries to Argentina, he has lived most of his life in and around Buenos Aires. His reference to couples being practically engaged if they see each other three or four times seems to fairly closely link N. N. C. customs with those of Argentina.

Crusaders Upset Whitman 68-64 For Tenth Win; Bump BJC By 9 Points

Whitman's Missionaries became the tenth victim of NNC's Crusaders last week as the local charges staved off a last quarter rally to notch a 68-64 decision.

Merl Iles and Myron Finkbeiner spearheaded the inspired Crusader performance as they bucketed 19 and 16 tallies respectively. The orange and black hit better than 50 per cent of their shots in the first half to roll to a 41-27 intermission edge.

Fain with 20 points and Kite with 13 led the losing Whits.

A tight first half defense obtained revenge for the Crusaders as they bumped off Boise Junior College 61-52 in a tilt played between semesters. NNC swept to a 28-16 halftime margin and then fought on even terms with the losers the rest of the way to annex the win.

Iles was again the big siege gun for NNC as he flipped through 17 markers. Skip Wilcox looped in 15 and Finkbeiner 13 to trail him in local scoring. Gilbert paced the Broncos with 13 points.

Mountain Home's Airmen were no match for the smooth-working NNC five as the Nampans waltzed off with an 85-50 triumph. Reserves played nearly three-fourths of the contest for the Crusaders.

Curt Beukelman with 13 points and Bud Baska with 12 topped local scoring efforts. Millard Reynolds caged 11, Iles and Wilcox 10 each and Lloyd Hubbard and Lauren Sanders eight each for NNC. All told, ten Crusaders cracked the scoring column. Stark and Kennedy were best for the Air Base five with 18 and 17 points respectively.

Tub Thumping

By Lilburn Wesche

It isn't customary to devote the top spot in this column to High School sports but this issue is going to be an exception. We've been watching the play and the attitude of College High's Trojans for the past couple of months and have been highly impressed to say the least.

Elmore Vail appears to have a plenty good team with the accent on the "team." For once CHS has five guys who take more pride in feeding someone else for a shot than in scoring themselves.

Four of the first five are seniors and the quartet should do all right in college ball if they continue their fine attitude and keep a level head. We think they will. In fact if we didn't believe that the Trojans could take praise in the right way they wouldn't get any.

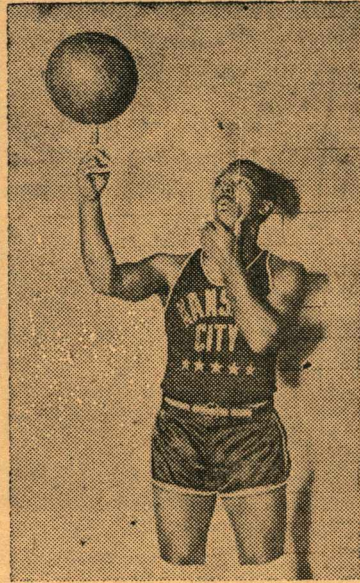

In addition to the four seniors, all of whom are planning to attend NNC, Elmore has two underclassmen who should develop into exceptional college athletes. Clary Kinzler, a six foot starting guard still has one year left while Bob Smith, a well-coordinated six foot four-inch pivot man is only a freshman.

Fans who are counting NNC out in the coming years as far as the cage sport is concerned better look these lads over again and then reconsider. It looks as though, at least for the next few years, College High is going to be a pretty efficient farm club for the Crusaders.

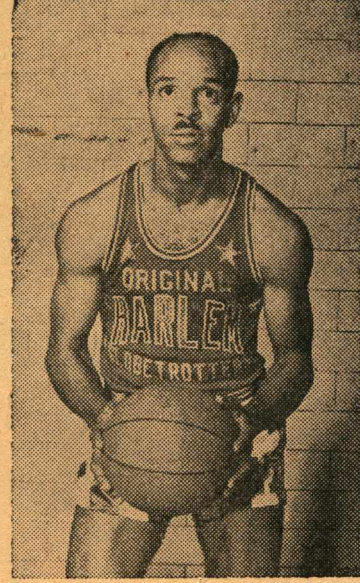

The Mills-Cunningham tourney coming up in a couple of weeks promises to be the closest in his-

CRUSADERS REACH TOP

This may sound fantastic but NNC's Crusaders moved into the number one spot on the national basketball front by tripping Whitman, 68-64, last week.

Here's how it works. NNC toppled Whitman; Whitman trimmed Gonzaga; the 'Zags in turn skinned Idaho; Idaho nipped Washington; Washington whipped both Minnesota and St. Louis University and both Minnesota and the Billikens notched victories over Kentucky's mighty Wildcats.

Kentucky has been consistently ranked at the top of the nation's collegiate cage quints.

tory. The SLAs who won the first semester trophy by going through the season undefeated, lost their starting center, while the other societies have been strengthening for the coming race and ought to be rolling by tournament time.

Harlem's Globetrotters, exponents of the razzle-dazzle, will provide Crusader fans with an opportunity to witness their professional attraction tonight when they clash with NNC in the college gym. The game is an exhibition contest and is not included on the season tickets.

Tomorrow night the orange and black return to regular cage activity when they meet Whitman's strong Missionaries. NNC pulled an upset in Walla Walla recently when they pinned a 64-58 loss on the Whitman lads.

The visitors are led by Dick Fain and Bud Kite and hold triumphs over Gonzaga, Linfield and other coast schools.

Monday the Crusaders will battle Eastern Oregon in a free game at Central gym. The expenses for the game will be handled by down town business men thus enabling everybody to enter without charge. The two fives will clash again on Tuesday at Central.

Weber College, powerhouse of the Intermountain conference, will be at Nampa next Friday for a one game stand. The two schools have never met before but the Utah crew is expected to be extremely tough.

The following Monday Boise Junior College and the Crusaders renew their local rivalry in Central and the next night they conclude their series in Boise. The two clubs have split a pair of games so far.

Fans will handle the coaching chores for the Feb. 21 tilt with the Mountain Home Air Base. At half time during the Weber game members of the student body will nominate townspeople to coach the team and three fans chosen will handle all coaching chores for the night. The Air Base struggle will conclude NNC's home slate.

Coach Wright's Jayvees Win Three Out Of Four in A Mid-Semester Cage Siege

The semester vacation was a very busy one for the N. N. C. Jayvees as they took three impressive victories against a single defeat. Coach Dan Wright's charges took the lead at the end of every quarter to defeat the 590th Motor Vehicle squad from Mountain Home 54-32.

The locals gained an advantage early in the second quarter and never relinquished it as Mervin Gale scored 14 points for high honors. The previous weekend they continued their long series with the College of Idaho Jayvees in winning here 41-38 and losing in Caldwell 50-44.

In the first game, C. of I. started out fast with a 5-0 lead and maintained it for most of the game although the Crusaders did manage an 8-8 tie at the end of the first period and a two-point lead early in the second.

The visitors pulled away 14-20 at half-time and 28-30 at the third quarter mark. N. N. C. took the lead early in the fourth stanza and held it for the victory.

Queen Joyce I Rules Reign of Roses

Student Body Prexy Cecil Thompson crowned the queen after she was presented with a bouquet of roses by Jo Ann Gause. Crowning ceremonies took place between the first and second half of the College High vs. Greenleaf Academy game. Escorts for the court were Rarrel Reisch, Cecil Thompson and Leon Doan.

The Trojans edged out the Grizzlies 56-45 in the main cage tilt of the evening to follow a wide-margined victory by the College High B squad.

Credit Students On Climb Says Johnson

Twenty-five students have registered to take Band for credit second semester. This is a decided increase over last semester, says Director Hays Johnson, who also announces that, with a few exceptions, the band is complete in all sections.

Needed most are a drummer to replace Guy Wright, who is unable to continue with the band, and several clarinet players to bring the reeds up to par with the brass, states Prof. Johnson.

There have been several new additions to the Band's library recently, the latest being, "The Bandmaster's Folio of College Marches."

Two NN.C. Students Fly To Washington

Two NNC students who are members of the Air Force division of the Idaho National Guard returned recently from an expense-free trip to Washington, D. C. They are Howard Johnson, a junior in school, and Jim Frazier, a sophomore, both of whom are from Nampa.

They accompanied a committee in charge of promoting a new armory building in Twin Falls and traveled in the state national guard plane. The first of their two days in Washington was spent touring the city in the company of a professional guide whose services were included in the price of hiring his huge black limousine. Highlight of the day was a guided tour through the Smithsonian Museum of famous "Firsts."

Senator Henry Dworshak of Idaho loaned the group his Lincoln for a trip to Mount Vernon on the morning of the second day. They returned at noon for luncheon with the senator in the senate dining room of the capitol and in the afternoon they sat in on a session of congress in the House of Senate.

Their return flight carried them over the southern part of the United States, with stopovers at Dallas, Texas, and Las Vegas, Nev.

PHILOSOPHY-TIMOTHY

Richard Taylor is to speak at the next meeting of Alpha Lambda Phi. He has attended N. N. C., written several books and is now doing resident work for his Th. B. degree in Boston. At this time he is here working on his dissertation, to enable him to receive his degree in June.

Campus Features Conductor Brico

Two outstanding artists in the field of music have performed on the campus of N. N. C. recently. They are Antonia Brico, conductor of the Denver Symphony Orchestra, and soprano singing star, Vivian Della Chiesa.

Antonia Brico is one of the outstanding authorities on Bach, having studied in Europe with Jean Sibelius for six successive summers. She has also studied the great German composer with Albert Schweitzer, organist, philosopher, and doctor from Africa.

Here in Nampa she held master classes in piano, voice and conducting and gave lectures on Bach. In climax, she conducted the Nampa High School Choir in Mozarts' "Requiem Mass" in Central auditorium.

Vivian Della Chiesa was featured in the Community Concert series which was held in the N. N. C. chapel.

Jerry Jackson Wins Scholarship Award

Jerry Jackson, former student of College High, recently was awarded a $500 scholarship by Standard Oil of California. The award was made at the Washington Athletic Club by S. E. Stratton, district manager for Standard Oil.

Given to students with high scholarship who show leadership qualities and have a real need, the annual grant is the largest offered at the university. Jerry is a pre-major, Naval ROTC Midshipman, and a member of the freshman class at the University of Washington.
