NORTHWEST NAZARENE COLLEGE, NAMPA, IDAHO

Convention Ends Week of Activity

Now in its second day under the ministry of Dr. E. E. Zachary, the annual Opening Convention highlight a week of strenuous activity on the NNC campus.

Dr. Zachary, convention speaker, was founder of the Nazarene work in Australia and is now superintendent of the Northwest District of the Church of the Nazarene. A well-known youth leader, Dr. Zachary has influenced countless young people to obtain a Christian education.

Yesterday marked the close of the semi-annual meeting of the Board of Regents under the chairmanship of Dr. B. V. Seals of Seattle, Wash. Although Dr. Seals suffered a heart attack recently he was able to be on campus for the meeting.

Meeting with college administrative heads, the regents discussed the problems and goals of the college. Plans for future action were discussed and decided upon in the meetings.

In the meantime the average NNC collegian was experiencing the first week of classes. Freshmen were becoming oriented to the ways of the campus and upper classmen were renewing acquaintances with books and professors.

Dean of Students, Warmie T. Tippitt, and his staff of dormitory counsellors guided in the initiation of dormitory patterns for the new school year and Chester Galloway, Director of Christian Education at College Church, wore a smile all week after recording an attendance of over 800 in Sunday School.

Yes, it was a great week. From ABS Prexy Richard Ramsey's forthright chapel address to the resounding cheers of the athletic-literary societies in their first meetings, the Spirit of NNC was on the march!

After a week of this activity all readily agreed that life at NNC is fun, constructive and—tiring.

Crusader Appointments Made for Year

Roger Lucas, Crusader editor, this week announced a number of key appointments to the 1957-58 staff.

Named assistant editor was Don Erickson, sophomore from Moscow, Idaho. Erickson worked on last year's staff and has had journalistic experience in high school. He plans to make journalism his career.

Tabbed to serve as copy editor is Lynell Lewis, Nampa senior. Miss Lewis also worked with the staff last year. She is an English major and an honor student.

Jack Wright, junior from Shreveport, La., will be sports editor this year. Wright will continue to pen his "Splinters from the Bench" sports column. A religion major, he plans to enter the ministry.

Art editor will be Roy Croskrey, senior from Medford, Ore. Croskrey is an art major and has been active in Christian work. He did some writing for the paper last year.

Named to head the business staff this year is Dave Jackson, sophomore from Nampa. As business manager he will supervise advertising, subscriptions and other business matters.

Assisting Jackson in the business office will be Cavil Benshoof, ministerial student from Spokane, Wash. A former marine, Benshoof enrolled at NNC last year.

Supervising the Crusader library and morgue will be Lois Draper and Kathy Pershall, sophomores from Oregon. They will also do some reportorial work.

"Other appointments are in the offing and will be announced in our next issue," said Lucas. "We want everyone who is interested in working on the Crusader to let us know as there is plenty of work to be done this year."

Greetings From The President

I wish it were possible for me to meet each of you students as you came to the campus, to welcome you to NNC's 45th year, and to help you get started. That is manifestly impossible. But the welcome is just as sincere as if I could have shaken your hand at the edge of the campus.

What is more, I already know many of you personally, having met you here or elsewhere on the zone. Those whom I have not met, I shall meet soon. Please say "Hello," to me, in case I am lost in thought or something.

We have worked hard this summer to prepare for your coming. If you have been on the campus before you will not fail to note some of the improvements. Other improvements and new equipment will come to your attention later.

We have given no little attention to faculty, curriculum and the calendar of activities so that this year might be a period of exciting learning for you.

Above all we have planned and prayed that this might be a year of high-level fellowship and spiritual advancement. It is a primary concern that we may all live together with such consideration and Christian concern as to become better people.

CHRISTIAN SERVICE GROUP

Christian Workers Band Is Vital Link At NNC

By ALAN RODDA

Along with the busy flurry of studies and registration is another important aspect of college life—the organization of the many campus clubs. Between the athletic, literary, and business clubs, there will be a lot of activity for each member. Every student should belong to a club if possible for there isn't a single individual interest that can't be met by one of the clubs.

There is one particular club that is very vital to college life, for this club enables the students to carry on at school with religious activity that they had at their home church. That club is the Christian Workers Band (CWB).

On Sunday afternoons, the groups of the Band go out to the different rest homes of the community and hold short services and the CWB choir sings at the local hospital. On many Sundays, the members preach, assist with music, play or sing specials, conduct NY-PS, give object lessons or chalk drawings, or teach Sunday School classes at the churches of the area.

During the mid-semester period, CWB sends groups out to different churches, some as far as eight or nine hundred miles, to hold revivals. The reports of victories from these churches indicate very strongly that we are contributing a vital part to God's Kingdom.

The Thursday night club meetings are filled with interesting activity, including films, discussions, special speakers, musicians, etc. There's never a dull moment at meeting time.

The most important business in the world is the spreading of the gospel and the Christian Workers Band is one of the best ways by which every NNC student can do this.

Watch for the announcement of the first meeting.

FTA CHANGES NAME

EDUCATION GROUP ONE OF LARGEST YOUTH CLUBS IN U. S.

One of the largest pre-professional youth organizations in our nation, Future Teachers of America, has changed its name and will be known in the future as the Student National Education Association.

According to Larry Halter, president of NNC's E. E. Angell chapter of the organization, the change in name was made this summer at the national conference in Washington, D. C. Halter attended the conference as Idaho state S.N.E.A. president.

Halter said that the name was changed to provide distinction between college chapters and high school clubs. The high school groups will continue to be known as F.T.A. clubs.

Although the name has been changed, purposes and ideals of the organization will remain the same. According to Halter the group strives to give students preparing for teaching an opportunity to participate in the national conference.

CIRCLE K PROMOTES TRAINING

Sponsored by Kiwanis International, Circle K promotes good fellowship and high scholarship and provides an opportunity for leadership training in service. Serving NNC and campus and in the community, it has as its motto: "WE BUILD".

Circle K meets every other week for a noon luncheon; and its members are selected by vote from personal applications. Attendance rules are enforced because each member is selected with the understood agreement that he will cooperate with the club in all of its projects.

SING OLD CLASSIC SONGS

MADRIGAL SINGING GROUP TO BE STARTED AT NNC

A touch of the continent will be in evidence on campus this year with the organization of "The Madrigal Singers", NNC's newest vocal group.

According to Double E. Hill, director, madrigal singing is scholastic and is performed by a small group of from 12 to 14 singers.

"Madrigal singing started in the 16th century in Italy," Hill said. "From here it spread to England where it became highly perfected around the time of Queen Elizabeth."

According to Hill this type of singing is vocal chamber music and was very popular among amateur musicians of the time.

"Madrigal music was written for and enjoyed by the upper classes in Europe and is one of the many facets of the rich cultural background of English history," he said.

Try-outs for the NNC group were held early in the week and announcement of group members will be made as soon as final auditions have been held. The singers will meet three times weekly for credit and will participate in chapel programs as well as concerts during the year.

I wish it were possible for me to meet each of you students as you came to the campus, to welcome you to NNC's 45th year, and to help you get started. That is manifestly impossible. But the welcome is just as sincere as if I could have shaken your hand at the edge of the campus.

Welcome to a year of excellence—intellectually, socially, culturally, and spiritually.

Crusader to Start Printing Classified Ads

Starting with the next issue of the NNC Crusader will handle a classified section in each and every issue. Students and faculty members with articles to sell can use this service for a nominal fee. Rates for the classified ads will start at $.50 and will go higher proportionately to the size of the ad.

Letters to Editor Are Welcome

Letters to the editor are welcome as long as the subject in question is of good taste. Writing a letter to the Crusader does not necessarily mean it will appear in print, nor can too much space be allotted to any one person. Unsigned letters will not be considered for print.

National Education Association. According to Larry Halter, president of NNC's E. E. Angell chapter of the organization, the change in name was made this summer at the national conference in Washington, D. C. Halter attended the conference as Idaho state S.N.E.A. president.

Halter said that the name was changed to provide distinction between college chapters and high school clubs. The high school groups will continue to be known as F.T.A. clubs.

Although the name has been changed, purposes and ideals of the organization will remain the same. According to Halter the group strives to give students preparing for teaching an opportunity to participate actively in state and national education work.

NNC has the distinction of having the oldest and largest SNEA club in Idaho. The first FTA club was organized after a study made by Elmore Vail who was then a high school student. He investigated the possibility of NNC's becoming affiliated with FTA as a project for a class which he was taking from Dr. Thelma Culver.

NNC also has the honor of having the first state president as a member of the E. E. Angell chapter. Norman Crofford, secondary education and music student, was elected to serve as first president of the newly-organized state FTA some years ago.

Sponsored by Kiwanis International, Circle K promotes good fellowship and high scholarship and provides an opportunity for leadership training in service. Serving NNC and campus and in the community, it has as its motto: "WE BUILD".

Circle K meets every other week for a noon luncheon; and its members are selected by vote from personal applications. Attendance rules are enforced because each member is selected with the understood agreement that he will cooperate with the club in all of its projects.

Some of last year's projects were: a new American Flag, song books presented to the school, providing ushers for all civic events, concession stands, awards to other clubs and organizations on campus, and many other worthy services.

The significance of the Circle K is to be found in the high idealism to which the members of the organization have themselves given expression in unselfish and practical service. Circle K means what Circle K men have made it mean.

In short, the objective of Circle K is "To cooperate in creating and maintaining that sound public opinion and high idealism that makes possible the increase of righteousness, justice, patriotism and good will."

★★ Editorial Comment ★★

Nampa business firms are interested enough in Northwest Nazarene College to spend around $2,000 just to advertise in the NNC Crusader.

True, they have a purpose in view. They wish to present to students and faculty members and all who receive the college paper the wares that we can find on their shelves.

We ought to take heed. An old saying goes something like this. "Feed the hand that feeds you." At least we ought not to bite it. These firms that advertise in our paper are competent business concerns, many of them hiring NNC students, some part-time and others on nearly a full-time basis.

You say that's swell. Well, I agree with you. We on the paper staff appreciate their patronage and their desire to advertise in our paper. But words are not enough. To show our appreciation for those who make it possible for us to publish our paper we should do more.

What is it that I am suggesting? Simply, patronize our advertisers. This is the only way that they can continue to make available to us the new and special merchandise that they sell.

We work as a team—advertiser, printer and editorial department. Without the help we receive from one another we could not do the task that is ours to do. It is with this simple explanation that we urge our readers to read the ads, then whenever it is possible, and as much as possible, trade with our advertisers.

WE LIKE THE NEW LOOK

College administrative heads are sometimes pictured as a group of walking statistics, little interested in the problems and feelings of the students. We are thankful it is not so at NNC.

For the new look around the campus we give special thanks to this group and for others who helped make this possible. If you could have been around this summer and seen about six men do twice as much work as normally is expected of anyone, you might well appreciate what I mean.

First observations go to the improvement of the buildings, the paint, the new front on the administration building and the new look in the library. These improvements didn't just happen. A lot of it came by sweat . . . and if you please, blood, and probably most of all prayer.

Besides all of the regular campus improvements we as the Crusader staff would like to extend to Dr. Riley, Mr. Johnson, Dr. Culver, Mr. Harper and everyone responsible our personal thanks for all that has been done at Crusader headquarters. We warmly thank you for your forward thinking. We feel deeply a part of NNC and wish to help her all we can.

We trust all of our work will not have been in vain, and pledge ourselves as a staff to do our part in helping NNC remain and continue the great institution she is.

Are Improvements Needed?

Gossipers! Gossip isn't started with harmful intent, but it usually ends up that way. As Christian people we should watch more carefully what we say and how we repeat what has been told to us. There is a verse in II Timothy 2:16 that I discovered last year. It sheds a lot of light on this subject. "But, shun profane and vain babblings: for they will increase unto more ungodliness."

If we expect to keep in perfect harmony with God—which should be our inmost goal—we must walk in all the light that He gives us. And as the verse states in the case of "profane and vain babblings," we will "increase unto more ungodliness" unless we check what we say more closely.

Slang, sheer slang! Of course it isn't intentional either and it isn't something we would continue if we realized the harm it does. We often get into careless habits of choosing words to express our emotions and feelings. Usually this well beaten track we follow is just something minor to start with; but like most habit-forming things, it increases unknowingly. Most of us fit into this category, but of course there are always a few happy exceptions.

Let's all start this new school year off on the right foot and resolve to do our best in keeping slang and gossip down to a minimum. This is a worthwhile goal for all.

SCRIBLERUS TO CHOOSE NEW STUDY TOPIC

Members of Scriblerus Club will meet soon to select a study topic for the year. Sponsored by the division of language and literature, the group is open to all English and literature majors as well as any other students interested in these fields.

Last year's study topic was concerned with famous American writers of the Concord, Mass. locale. The works of Hawthorne, Emerson, Thoreau and others were studied.

According to Prof. Mariam Washburn, Scriblerus sponsor, the monthly meetings are held in homes with upperclassmen who are English majors bringing the different studies.

Phil Frisk, manager of NNC's campus radio station, KROK, has announced that the regular broadcast schedule will soon be on the air.

KROK broadcasts chapel programs, church services and evening entertainment programs, including news, music, sports and campus events.

Frisk says that a "gain-control" was installed this summer under the supervision of Prof. Virgil Vail, station adviser. The new installation automatically regulates the broadcast signal.

The station manager says that he is interested in making contact with any students who are interested in radio work of any kind.

Hold that Tiger! Coach Orin Hills, better known as La Tiger, is entering his fourth year as Mr. Sports of NNC. The father of four and no-tenths children, he, contrary to general belief, received his degree from NNC and not Sears Roebuck.

In an age when offense is being stressed to the point of absurdity, La Tiger throws away the percentage books, text books, crystal ball, mad magazine and several other talismans to come up with the clairvoyant philosophy that—"if they score less points than we do, we have a better chance of winning." Hence—NNC blossomed as National Defense Champions in 1956 and District Five NAIA Champions in 1957.

This savant of the athletic world is not limited to one sport for on any hot, sultry day during track season he may be found under the nearest shade tree driving his boys into shape. As he often exclaims, simultaneously stiffling a yawn, "Only mad dogs and trackmen go out in the noonday sun."

NNC's perfect (well almost, just a few bugs) intramural set-up owes nothing to this grand ole, decrepit, archaic man because it was already fouled up before he came.

This year when the call goes out for basketball, La Tiger and his cohort in crime, J. Deathridge, will be standing in the gym door—licking their lips and cracking their whips.

There have been several Damon Runyon characters lurking around NNC spreading rumors like Asiatic pneumonia. I've heard everything from "the Harlem Globetrotters have disbanded and are coming to NNC" to "all last year's varsity dyed their hair and are going to play for the Arkansas Redheads."

Gentle reader, do not be alarmed, save your confederate money for when the dust has cleared and Tiger has finished his cliché about, "all positions being open", the starting five should read something like this—Peppley (the younger) and Martin, forwards, Gardner, center, Tracy and Willard, guards. The lad to watch this year is Willard. He may well come into his own. Last season he alternated between moments of brilliance and lapses when he would have done just as well selling popcorn with the GNG. Al "T-Bone" Freeman is back and Dave "Wish-Bone" Hanson is still around (6'6" and 6'8", respectfully) to add height and depth.

But as Paul Harvey always says, "Don't worry about it, nothing is going to turn out right anyway."

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By DAVE JACKSON

Greetings, sports fans! A new school year has dawned with a brilliant future ahead. With incoming freshmen (more than two girls to every one boy) and the old stand-bys that did come back, only time will tell the outcome of the '57-'58 sports history of the NNC Crusaders.

Since my crystal ball has been out of working order for the past few months, I can't read any drastic predictions. So, let's sit back and rest on our laurels.

Last year the NNC teams were terrific sportswise. The baseball squad went to Kansas City, the baseball and boys tennis teams brought back some nice trophies for first place from Cedar City, Utah, and several outstanding events were accomplished by the track and girls' tennis teams. All in all NNC had one of its best years in sports.

Well, let bygones be bygones, and look to the present. Another amateur-pro contest was scheduled on our own level. The incoming amateur frosh battled the "old pro" sophomores in last Friday's "old-new softball game." Too bad the Yankees didn't have their talent scout at that game. They'd have been sure to have signed up another Mickey Mantle or Yogi Berra.

Of course everyone cannot participate in varsity sports. Students may have the potential ability but they don't come forth with the goods. There is a level of sports at NNC that is based upon the interests and needs of every student. The intramural program on the campus provides the well organized activities of the six athletic liter-

And before I close, I should mention the fact that Dorothy Mittelreider won the honor of second best girl tennis player in the state of Idaho.

FBLA TO START DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

The Future Business Leaders of America club has announced that it will soon begin its membership drive. Any student who is enrolled in one or more business subjects is urged to join.

CMA Club Urges Students to Join

The Collegiate Ministerial Association takes great pleasure in welcoming all new students to the campus of Northwest Nazarene College. May your years at NNC be very happy ones. Also to the students who are returning we say "welcome back".

We are looking forward to a great year in all the different phases of the campus life—academically, socially, physically, and spiritually. In order to help make this year successful, everyone who is interested in full-time Christian service should join this club.

The Collegiate Ministerial Association is designed to give fellowship among ministerial students. Also help is available that may not be received from the classroom.

We are looking forward to seeing you at the first meeting. If you miss the first meeting you may miss something that could very well be valuable to you.

May we all, both ministerial students and others, have a successful year not forgetting to put first things first. Remember that our service to God and others should be at the top of the list.

A set-up of intramural programs such as ours, is not the most common thing in the bigger percentage of the colleges and universities in the U.S.A. NNC is to be commended for its outstanding intramural program.

Now that the cloudiness in my crystal ball has cleared some I can see a most successful year for Coach Hill and the Crusader hoop squad. Lots of rumors have been spread, but it won't be too big a question, from now on, of who's going to be here. T-bone Freeman, 6'7" prospect is back after two years of absence, along with a commendable group of returning lettermen, junior varsity hopefuls and new frosh.

Baseball isn't too far away to be considered. In fact, there will be a meeting this fall, of all those interested. And that man clad in orange sweat clothes isn't rushing the season either. The Cross-Country track try-outs are in the very near future.

And now on the national level, our neighbor rival of the past—R. C. Owens—is making a fine representation for Idaho while he is playing pro-football for the San Francisco 49er's. He is seeing lots of action and has been doing an outstanding job.

And before I close, I should mention the fact that Dorothy Mittelreider won the honor of second best girl tennis player in the state of Idaho.

FBLA TO START DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

The Future Business Leaders of America club has announced that it will soon begin its membership drive. Any student who is enrolled in one or more business subjects is urged to join.

Interesting and educational monthly programs carry out the purpose of FBLA—to prepare students for community leadership as well as for employment.

The NNC chapter of FBLA was the first Idaho college to become affiliated with the national FBLA, stated President Elon Booker.

Other officers for the coming year are Earl Tromburg, vice president; Sandy Coombs, secretary-treasurer; Janice Klein, associate secretary; and Bob Parker, program chairman.

NNC'S ROVING REPORTER

By JACK WRIGHT

The Crusader Staff, untiring in its quest to aid incoming freshmen, has ferreted out several erudite students who are notorious in one field or another. Their advice should help you young novices become acclimated to your new semi-cultural atmosphere.

JIM MARTIN: "There is no place in college for levity."

MESSR. JOHNSON: "We will not accept S & H Green Stamps as tuition payment. Also we have several thousand dollars of Confederate War Bonds, purchased by a far-sighted Business Manager of yesteryear, which we will be glad to unload, uh, sacrifice to new students."

BEAU LEUPP: "You're all fine people, especially those of you over 21."

LIZ MESSERSCHMIDT: "Take plenty of eight o'clock classes."

NATION DETROIT: "Where's the action?"

MR. EBY: "This year, we are asking that all members of the band be able to read. (Music)"

MOM GELLER: "Our hot dogs are prepared so as not to lose any of the original flavor of the dog."

GENERAL CUSTER: "Where did all those Indians come from?"

TIGER HILLS: "Eruditions is for sissies; I'll take my illiteracy any day."

RAH! TEAM RAH!

THE FRESHMEN, despite their getting beat 12-2 by the Sophomores, make the best of a bad situation and give their victors a cheer. The Frosh scored the first run but power and . . . brains if you please, were used to overcome them. (Crusader Photo)

Sophs Take 12-2 Win Over Frosh

It was a bright September day and the time had come for the anticipated contest. The tension was rising. The amateur-pro fight was about to start.

The annual old-new game, better known as the oldtimes versus the new upstarts was about to get underway.

The game got off promptly at 2 p. m. with the Freshmen drawing the first blood; scoring a run on an error in the first inning. The Sophomores took their turn at bat and the picture took a sharp change. Two runs were scored in the bottom half of the inning.

From then on the "old pros" kept a good-sized lead, with only an occasional threat from the young amateurs.

The Freshman can be given the credit for the longest blow—a homer by Dennis White. This was the only other score made by the Frosh.

Don't demand attention — deserve it.

Leaders are simply men who come with a decision, not for one.

The Sophomores kept up a steady pace of hitting and scoring until the final score was 12-2.

And so our old pro's proved that old alumni never die they just fade away, as the alums edged the upper clasmen 4-3 in the final game.

HEY MAW, MOOSEJAW HELPED ME A LOT

Dear Folks,

Boy never let it be said that a graduate of Moosejaw High never hit a seat of higher learning hard.

They gave me a lot of tests so's they'd know what I was best suited for. I told the Prof I was interested in taking some education courses and he said they didn't offer nothing in upper kindergarten else he'd be glad to have me. Also, he put in a very special English section (with 103 others) what meets on Monday nites—he said I was definitely in a class all by myself tho. I told him I give all the credit to hard work and Moosejaw High.

The females here is powerful friendly. One gal I had a date with complained about the odor in the car, however, after I explained it was oil offin Daddy's well she was right nice about it and said to never mind.

A feller name Babbitt ast me to join a club of hisin called Circle K. He said I could get in iffing I was a good guy and could meet rigid qualifications and had $5. I told him five dollars was too rigid a qualification.

Well I gotta go, I got a date with a transfer student from the U of Alabama, Autherine Lucy, she was right popular down there—crowds followed her everywhere.
