

ADP, SLA Oly Play Cast Presents "Dino" Tonight

"Dino" a three-act play put on by the ADP, SLA, and Oly societies will be presented for the last time at 8 p. m. tonight in the chapel. Dino Falcaro, a 17 year-old just out of the reform school, is played by Lehman Mosley. Mel Conrath and Iverna Lyda portray the parts of his parents, who are poor factory workers.

Mr. Mandel, the patrol officer, is played by Omar Stoyer, who sends Dino to a psychotherapist, Mr. Sheridan (Phil Frisk), who tries to help him.

Shirley Wallace, the shy teenage office worker, who is played by Junella Finkbeiner, shows an interest in Dino. Although Dino has never dated before, he is attracted to Shirley.

Other characters in the play are Jackie, the receptionist, played by Martha Hopkins. Miss Haines, the director of the settlement house, is portrayed by Ann Huntington.

Playing the parts of teen-agers are Elon Booker, Gary Condon, Harriet Sharp, Ginger McKenna, Joyce Swenson and Myrna Brebner. Sharon Gibson portrays the part of Mrs. Mikula, and Donna Tillotson and Evelyn Sanner are young girls. Dino's brother, Tony, is played by Dale Orkney.

Student play directors are Myrna Branum, ADP; Pat Nees, Oly, and Iverna Lyda, SLA.

Laurie Seaman Wins Solo Event

Laurie Seaman, junior transfer from Canadian Nazarene College, placed first in this semester's men's vocal solo contest. Seaman is an Olympian.

Two Athenians, Les Shelton and Wes Aman, placed second and third respectively. John Gennaro, an LSP, came in fourth in the contest.

Dr. Alvin Aller Chosen Head of Science Group

Dr. Alvin Aller, chairman of the division of mathematics and natural science at NNC, was appointed chairman of the program committee for the newly-organized Idaho Academy of Science recently.

Dr. William Baker of the University of Idaho's biology department was named temporary president of the group in its business meeting at the BJC lecture hall. Dr. E. J. Larrison of the University of Idaho was appointed acting secretary-treasurer.

In attendance at the meeting were scientists from Idaho colleges, high school and industries.

Two Debaters Capture Title

Louise Weitman and Joyce Oldenkamp, NNC debaters, captured a tie for second place in the women's practice division of the annual Columbia Valley Debate Tournament last weekend.

The tournament is held each year on the campus of Washington State College at Pullman.

Four other NNC teams participated in the tournament including a second women's team composed of Twilla M. Dorris and Verla Mae Ruby.

Three men's teams entered the junior men's division of the tournament. Teams composed of David Rinker, Albert Lewis, Richard Benner and Ralph Neil won three and lost three of their debates. Especially exciting to Benner and Neil was a hairbreadth loss to the university team which went on to win the tournament.

Other men's teams taking part in the tournament were Mike Williams, Howard Moseley and Lehman Moseley.

NNC forensic students are now preparing materials for participation in the Western Speech Association meet to be held on the campus of the University of Utah Nov. 24-26.

Representing NNC at this affair will be Misses Weitman and Oldenkamp and Lewis, Rinker, Benner, Neil, Dick Etulain and Lehman Moseley. At this tournament students will participate in

Fairy Chism Featured At Thanksgiving Banquet

Scriblerus Picks Discussion Topic

"Modern Trends in Literature" is the yearly topic chosen by the English majors to discuss in their monthly Scriblerus meetings.

On Nov. 18 the club held their second monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Aline Swann. She told of trends in modern poetry and read poems from her book "Distant Drums."

Scriblerus meets every third Tuesday of each month and all interested students are invited to attend. This year's officers are: Dick Etulain, president; Joann Grimm, vice president-program chairman; Lola Mae Myers, secretary-treasurer; and Louise Weitman, refreshment chairman.

Miss Fairy Chism, outstanding missionary evangelist, will be guest speaker at the annual Thanksgiving Banquet, according to Ruby Keating, president of the Associated Women Students, who are sponsoring the formal affair.

Miss Chism is a graduate of NNC. The banquet will be served at 3 p. m. Nov. 27 in Morrison Dining Hall.

Decorations are under the direction of Orrene Maurer, Jackie Soderholm, Kitty White, and Marilyn Hartley. The program is being planned by Barbara Kiel and Ruby Keating.

On the programs committee are Phyllis Hickerson and Bonnie Quick. Florann Pywell and Phyllis Fletcher are in charge of tickets and seating.

Ten Seniors, One Junior Elected To 'Who's Who' This Year

Formal notification has been received recently of the NNC students who were elected to Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges this year.

Those chosen for the honor were: Dick Etulain, Noel Riley Fitch, David Gardner, Larry Halter, Jerry Hull, Ruby Keating, Roberta Miller, Tom Nees, Alan Rodda, Don Thompson, and Kitty White.

All of those students have been active in varied student activities as well as having a satisfactory scholastic average.

Dick Etulain from Moses Lake, Wash. is a member of the NNC debate team. Noel Fitch of Nampa, is editor of the Oasis. Dave Gardner, from Portland, Ore. is known as an outstanding athlete, and is teaching part-time at College High this year.

Larry Halter, vice president of the student body, is from Portland, Ore., and Jerry Hull, from Ontario, Ore. is president of the ASB. Ruby Keating, from Colfax, Wash. is president of the Associated Women Students, and Roberta Miller, of Bremerton, Wash. is secretary of the ASB.

Tom Nees is serving a student pastorate at Middleton this year and Alan Rodda, active in Christian Worker's Band is also president of Chapman Hall. He is from Walla Walla, Wash. Don Thompson, of Nampa, is active in music and literary events, and is president of the senior class. Kitty White, from Vancouver, Wash. is vice president of the AWS.

All of these students except Tom Nees, Alan Rodda, Jerry Hull, and Don Thompson, are preparing for the teaching field. Nees, Rodda, and Hull plan to enter the ministry, and Thompson plans on a career in music education.

Cast members Ann Huntington, Junella Finkbeiner, Dale Orkney, Martha Hopkins, Phil Frisk, and Lehman Mosley display a poster of "Dino." This play will be presented at 8 p. m. tonight in the chapel.

Band Performance Slated on Nov. 25

Well known composers with selections of various tempo will be presented at the college concert band performance set for Nov. 25 during the chapel period.

The band, consisting of approximately 40 pieces, will be making their first appearance of the year in uniform.

Featured will be Mozart's "Impusario Overture," Grundman's "A Walking Tune," Richard's "Emblem of Unity," Olivadoti's "Hall of Fame," Haye's "Onward Christian Soldiers," and Golden's "On the Mall."

Dr. Carl Hanson Named Associate

Dr. Carl E. Hanson, chairman of the division of philosophy and religion, has been named an Associate-in-Council of the Rocky Mountain Section of the National Association of Biblical Instructors.

Dr. Hanson is one of two men elected to this office at the annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain section in Denver, Colo., recently.

This year's meeting was held at Iliff School of Theology in Denver, with next year's conclave scheduled to be held at Cotner School of Religion at the University of Nebraska.

Dr. Hanson is professor of Greek and Biblical literature at NNC.

Press Book Sale Begins Nov. 29

According to Dick Etulain and Al Freeman, co-chairman of this year's official press-books, the 1958-59 press-books will go on sale prior to the first basketball game of the year on Nov. 29.

Included in the press-book are pictures of the coaches, team members, and cheer leaders. It gives a preview of the team and prospects for success in this year's maple wars.

The press-book is an undertaking of the 'N' Club and will sell for 50 cents per copy.

As an "Incentive Awards Specialist," Miss Tapley administers, promotes and monitors the awards program for the Oklahoma City Air Material Area.

While attending NNC, Miss Tapley was a sociology major. She served as Dr. Culver's secretary and also was an assistant to Miss Wilson in Morrison Hall. She edited the Crusader in her senior year.

E. Wayne Likens

Overseas in Europe, E. Wayne Likens, another NNC graduate, has just been appointed coordinator for the science education program in a number of foreign countries. Likens, a mathematics major, also took secondary education while at NNC. He received his master's degree at the University of Utah on a National Science Foundation study grant.

Dr. Ercil Bowman

Visiting the NNC campus recently was Dr. Ercil R. Bowman who is a commanding officer in the Naval Reserve program at Dallas, Texas. A graduate of College high school and NNC. Dr. Bowman took his medical training at Northwestern Medical School.

The project is to help provide furniture for the office and classrooms of a proposed training school. Rev. Johnson writes that there are students attending the university who want to enter full-time Christian service. At the present there is no special training institution for these students.

Through this project, NNC will help to provide a training school for these students.

SOPHS OR SOFTIES?

On a certain October night, I witnessed a scene that would make General Custer sit up and take notice. 'Twas the night of the annual Soph-Frosh tug-of-war, so seemingly called but it reminded me of a contest between the mighty Oly girls and Notre Dame.

As in all other years, the sophomores by virtue of their year of organization and previous experience were the favorites. 'Tis been many a year since the green freshmen have beaten their elders in such a contest, and this year's struggle was proving to be no exception.

The rules as adapted by the sophomores were simply these: an equal number on each side and the first side to pull the others across the ditch would be the winners. Yet, we see that there was another sophomore set of rules, namely, giving themselves three times as much rope, enjoying the use of spiked shoes, and the use of extremely good leverage consisting of two small ditches. Even with these definite advantages the sophomores were not satisfied with the odds, so they shaved down the freshman side of the ditch to prevent using it for good footing and finally the freshman side of the ditch was flooded to make a nice swimming pool. With the use of these tricks the sophomores won very easily.

Our story does not end here, for I would change the theme from all-mighty sophomores and little green freshmen to all-sneaking sophomores and little unsuspecting freshmen.

Sophomores, were you afraid of losing? No? Then why did you use so many tricks in beating the supposedly weak little freshmen. I realize that in years past the sophomores have realized any advantage if there were one, but you, the Class of '61, were not satisfied with a slight advantage, you had to increase your chance of winning by the use of trickery. I ask you, sophomores, are you worthy of winning or as my title reads, are you a class of SOFTIES?

World Events Pass In Review

Well, to certain people around the nation Nov. 5 proved to be a day of personal disaster. They woke up to find that the "Grand Old Party" had been "aced out" at the polls by some very long and hard-working Democrats. Such old favorites as John Bricker of Ohio, George Malone of Nevada, and William Knowland of California had been overthrown by strong campaigning Demos.

There were some bright spots in the picture of defeat for the Republicans. These appeared in the victory of Nelson Rockefeller, millionaire, over Averill Harriman, another millionaire. Also, in neighboring Oregon with the victory of Mark Hatfield; and in Arizona and Pennsylvania.

Democrats or Republicans, it was interesting to note the number of younger politicians who won over the older, more experienced politicians. One special example was in Oklahoma where the newly-elected governor is 33 and the lieutenant governor is 31. They won out over men whose ages are 54 and 74.

Germany

Is East Germany going to impose another blockade on Western Berlin as it did ten years ago? It certainly would be a costly operation for the Big Three Western powers, England, France and the U. S. I think they're just trying to tighten the war of nerves in this area.

The communists are "jumpers." Last summer they stirred up trouble in the Middle East, then they jumped to Matsu and Quemoy, and now before the fireworks have finished there, they jump to Europe.

Where will they jump next? Will their next jump be Latin America, the Finnish border, or South Africa?

"Have you felt the warmth that I feel on our campus? I don't believe I've ever been around so many friendly people before. I think we would have to search far and wide to find a friendlier campus in the United States, and then not find one. Sometimes the grass looks greener on the other side of the fence, but the grass I'm grazing on is certainly good chewing!

"As for the so-called "Missouri Stare" mentioned in the last Crusader, aren't we allowed times of concentration? Are our minds always clear and alert every minute to those around us? Or do problems or concerns occasionally occupy our attention to the extent that we don't even see the people we look at? Incidentally, if this happens too frequently, we better do something about it, but we are human and we do have things on our mind.

"Have you ever walked down the sidewalk saying, "Hi, hello, hi," to so many people that you're worn out by the time you get to the last person? Why wouldn't a friendly smile that says "Hi" be just as appropriate and even more sincere sometimes?

"I find it hard to believe that students on this campus do not even care about the existence of fellow students. People are the most fascinating things in the world, don't you think?

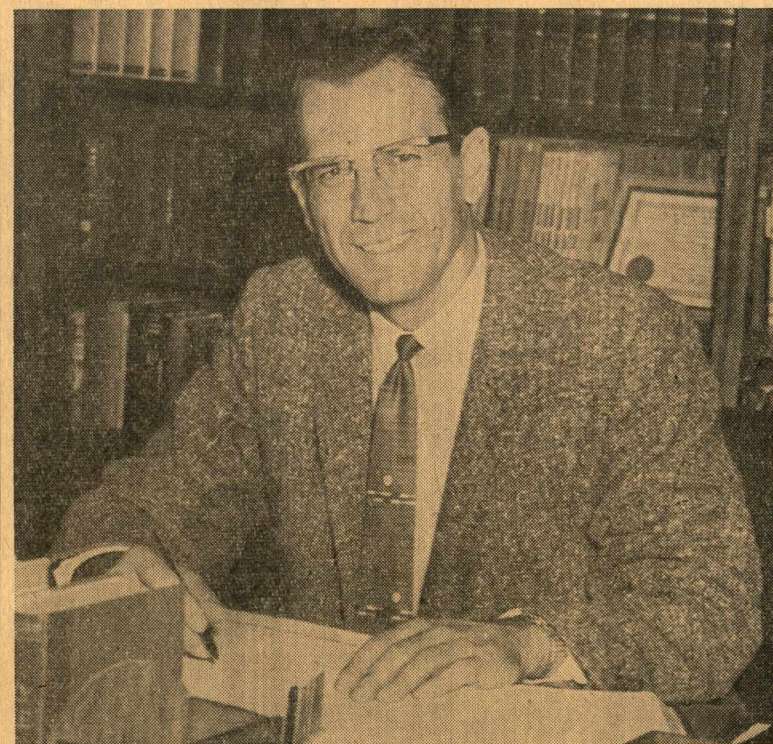

"Perhaps I am looking too much on the bright side of things, but I don't feel that there is any reason for feeling gloomy."

GIVING THANKS ALWAYS

By REV. EUGENE STOWE

The Psalmist was certainly logical when he cried, "Oh that men would praise the Lord for His goodness, and for His wonderful works to the children of men!" Every good and perfect gift does come down from our Father in heaven, and only an ingrate would accept such heavenly bounty without being thankful. Shakespeare described it thus: "Ingratitude, thou marble-hearted friend!"

The first 39 books of the Bible are full of thanksgiving for God's good gifts—food and friends, protection and victory. But when one crosses over into the New Testament he becomes aware of a startling fact. These writers thank God for everything—good and bad alike!

Listen to Ephesians 5:20: "Giving thanks always for all things unto God . . ." Again in I Thess. 5:18: "In everything give thanks." This is gratitude for all that life may bring—shadow as well as sunshine—pain as well as pleasure—adversity as well as prosperity! This New Testament thanksgiving is something new and different.

Jesus Christ makes this difference. St. Paul expresses it when he writes, "Now thanks be unto God, which always causeth us to triumph in Christ." (II Cor. 2:14) Actually it is not that we enjoy suffering or evil, but we can thank God because He "always causeth us to triumph in Christ." Whoever is on Christ's side is on the winning side every time. The cutting edge of tragedy is not so sharp when one has the assurance that he will inevitably come out the conqueror.

There is still another truth here. Not only is there victory in Jesus for which to be thankful, but God also deserves our gratitude for actually turning shadow into sunshine, pain into pleasure, and adversity into prosperity for the Christian. Who among us has not proved the promise, "For we know that all things work together for good to them that love the Lord." (Rom. 8:28) Not just some things but all things working together for good. Listen to these testimonies:

One of the best men in the country said, "I had to go blind in order to see Christ. I was foolish, selfish, self-sufficient until my sight was taken, and in the darkness I looked for Christ and I saw Him and found Him!" When he came to love God, he found that the greatest tragedy of his life was actually the greatest blessing.

May we, as New Testament Christians, practice this "thanks for everything." When adversity's winds blow hard and there seems to be little cause for thanksgiving, let us affirm with the poet,

"I will not doubt, though all my ships at sea
 Come drifting home with broken masts and sails:
 I will believe the hand that never fails,
 From seeming evil worketh good for me.
 And though I weep because those sails are tattered,
 Still I will cry, while my best hopes lie shattered:
 'I trust in Thee!'"

MEET YOUR HEADS

Dr. Thelma Culver Featured As Department Head of Week

One person on our campus has almost succeeded in being all things to all teachers and students. Her practical suggestions in chapel have been an inspiration and help to faculty and students alike. As a teacher she commands the respect of her students. She mixes the wisdom of her own experience with the seriousness of the teaching profession; yet she believes that no matter what profession or occupation one chooses as a life's work, one should do it joyfully as a servant of God.

Listed In 'Who's Who'

This leading lady of our campus, Dr. Thelma B. Culver, has recently won national recognition for herself and in doing so has won it for our school. Her biographical sketch appears in the First Edition of "Who's Who in American Women" which was published in October and includes sketches and listings of leading women in America. She is also included in "Who's Who in America."

Of the many positions which Dr. Culver so ably fills here at NNC, the two well known are: Dean of the College and head of the department of education. However, she has not limited her activities to the college but has participated in clubs and associations on city, state and national levels. She believes that every professional woman needs to give a fair share of her time to this work so that she can broaden her contacts with other professional persons and thus better serve her own profession.

Dr. Culver gave me an insight into some of her basic beliefs when she said: "The divine creator has placed us here for a purpose. It is our duty and our joy to love God and fulfill his purpose in our creation. Only by doing that can we finally hear Him say: 'Well done thou good and faithful servant'."

One might think that with so many professional duties, Dr. Culver would have little time for her own hobbies or favorite ways of relaxing. Of course, to one who loves her work this need is not as great as it might be to one who works merely for a living. Nevertheless, she finds time to do some yard work and thoroughly enjoys a good game of golf.

Widely Traveled

During her travels, which includes most of the United States and several foreign countries, she was able to visit a number of great art galleries. Her interest in art is not purely objective for she has done some painting herself.

Recently she and Miss Helen Wilson have been poring over house plans in preparation for the new house which they plan to build in the not too distant future on a lot which has already been purchased near the campus. Last, but not least, is the pride she has in the antiques which have been passed to her from her great grandfather. The most prized one is her great grandfather's chair which was brought from Massachusetts to South Dakota.

Called to Teaching

In answer to the question as to whether or not she felt she was called of God to be a teacher she replied with the following: "While secular vocational callings may be a bit different from a call to full time Christian service, we will all have to stand before God to give an account of our life's work. I do feel that I was definitely called by God to be a Christian teacher.

"At first I felt I was called into full time Christian service as a missionary. Later after prayer and waiting upon God, I felt a growing assurance to be a teacher to train others for teaching in public schools; so I spent five years in public school teaching as a background for this work. One's life's work should be done jealously and happily unto God."

If you have ever had a personal talk with Dr. Culver, I am sure you could not help but feel as I did, that you had talked to a great person—great because of the God in whom she believes, and because she lives what she believes. We are glad that a family in Corsica, South Dakota, influenced our lives with their oldest of four daughters.

Put off until tomorrow the mean things you would say today.

Success depends upon your backbone, not your wishbone.

There is still another truth here. Not only is there victory in Jesus for which to be thankful, but God also deserves our gratitude for actually turning shadow into sunshine, pain into pleasure, and adversity into prosperity for the Christian. Stag Night Echoes

Campus coeds caroled in cute, cautious and colorful ways to the recent camouflaging of male cheekbones and chins. The discordant notes were many, the compliments few and limited.

The majority opinion of the women students interviewed was that these males who are our friends, by friends, fiances, and husbands, were hardly the same clean-shaven, clean-cut young men they previously had been. Some women expressed opinions that seemed to say "... and my husband won't." Others showed a tendency to compromise; still others seemed to approve of the tradition. The following expressions are for the reader's own interpretation.

Jackie Soderholm, sophomore, single: "Next year we girls will wear bustles to go with them."

Jeannette Keel, freshman, single: "I think some of them are pretty cute."

Lois Edwards, freshman, single: "I hate them with a purple passion."

Joyce Oldenkamp, sophomore, single: "It sure separates the men from the boys!"

Helen Bonar, junior, married: "I hate them." When asked if her husband, Clayton, were sporting one: "No, indeed."

Sandy Coombs, junior, single: "We've got a mixture of men and mountain men."

Darlene Clark, freshman, married: "Well, I'm glad Larry isn't growing one."

June Todd, sophomore, engaged: "I dislike them—they remind me of grizzly bears—and who ever heard of a red grizzly bear!"

Cheer up, men, take heart, although there is no record of it, Eve probably complained about Adam's 4 o'clock shadow at first.

Undaunted, Adam grew his beard and passed it on to his sons as a sign of manliness until his far-descended grandsons, Shick and Gilette, shook the parental tree, struck a blow for feminine peace of mind and made a million dollar profit.

Nevertheless, we women, in memory of grandfather Adam and in condescension to brave Eve, agree to tolerate beard-growing once a year as an inherited delight of manhood beyond rational understanding.

NELSON, NEAL PRESENT CIVIC MUSIC CONCERT

Performing in the first Civic Music Association concert of the year Nov. 17 were Allison Nelson and Harry Lee Neal, the Australian-American two-piano team. Nelson and Neal are noted for their tasteful transcriptions, although they specialize in original literature and have introduced many new works for four hands.

They have been featured on their own television and coast-to-coast radio series, and have played many hundreds of concerts in both hemispheres and on both sides of the globe.

Miles Kastendieck commented that "a fine sense of ensemble and accomplished pianism distinguished their teamwork."

Ken Shen Elected IRC Vice Prexy

Kenneth Shen was elected vice president of the International Relations Club at its last meeting. He was chosen to fill the vacancy left when the previously elected vice president was unable to return to school this semester.

This year IRC, under the leadership of Jim Franklin, plans to obtain membership cards from national headquarters. Possible plans include the sending of delegates to

Mrs. Sharp Acts As Substitute

For the last two months Mrs. Guy Sharp has been teaching secretarial studies in the college during the absence of Mrs. Lorraine Angier.

Mrs. Sharp is a graduate of NNC and did post-graduate work at the University of Utah. Practical experience was gained by working in the school offices in Salt Lake City and at the University of Utah.

Previous teaching assignments were held at the Nampa Business College, Boise Junior College, and College High School.

GNG Pledges New Members

Luella Daniels, Margie Cox, Betty Thorson, and Marilyn Poole accepted the pledge of service as presented to them at the last Gamma Nu Gamma meeting. In accepting this pledge they promised to promote the spirit of good fellowship and harmony among the women participating in sports activities, and to emphasize the importance of Christian example and sportsmanship.

Letter awards were also presented to Lois Draper, Phyllis Martin, Carmen Gilmore, Beverly Johnson, and Alice Graham.

Profs. Vail, Beals Sponsor Marshall Science Club

At the last regularly held meeting of the Marshall Science Club, Profs. Virgil Vail and Loring Beals were named as new sponsors.

The highlight of the evening was a talk and film shots by Prof. Mickey Dean. His topic was "Plant Hunting in the Northwest." Prof. Dean said the study was on aquatic plants in the Northwest. He worked directly under Dr. Steward, a leading botanist in this field.

Dr. Alvin Aller encouraged membership in the newly organized Idaho Academy of Science for all science majors. He particularly emphasized the individual aspect of scientific projects and the possibilities of bringing the findings before the Marshall Science Club.

Prof. Donald Tillotson announced that the Science Fair for high schools would be held at NNC in April. The two top exhibits, he said, will be sent to Spokane to be entered in the Inland Empire Exhibits.

Dave Friesen was elected as the new president of the NNC chapter of the Student National Educational Association meeting. Friesen replaces Larry Halter who resigned

Initiates Join Lettermen's Rank

Initiates into the lettermen's club who entered last week were Lauren Ellis, Marty Sharp, Ernie Thompson, Jim Franklin, George Harper, Wally Steward, Phil White and John Wright.

Besides shining shoes to raise money for initiation dues and fees, clean-up work on the track and baseball fields was handled by the new members.

SECRETARIES HEAR MR. POOLE SPEAK

Mr. Poole, of the State of Idaho Employment Security Agency, was guest speaker at the last Nine-to-Five meeting.

The next meeting of Nine-to-Five will be a Christmas party slated for Dec. 11.

Bench Shows Women Trail Men Students

Fifty-seven women and 97 men were listed on the mid-semester Bench to take a total of 154 students whose work was unsatisfactory in one or more courses this nine weeks.

A break-down of Bench figures reveals that 74 freshmen are listed as compared with 16 seniors. This picture should encourage the faculty. There were 40 sophomores, 21 juniors and 1 graduate student included in the report.

Morrison Hall claims 19 residents listed with Mangum Hall having a total of 26 benches. Hadley has 5 residents on the Bench while Chapman can claim 59 listings. Off-campus students account for 43 names.

When asked if, in her opinion, present Bench figures contain special significance, Miss Helen Wilson, Dean of Women, said:

"Current Bench statistics have raised several questions in my thinking. For instance, the fact that 43 off-campus students are on the Bench would seem to indicate that dormitories aren't the

Morrison Hall Has Open House

"Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," was the theme of Morrison Hall open house held Nov. 9. A 1914 Cadillac greeted the 300 guests just outside the dormitory. Other interesting decorations carrying out the theme of the "Gay Nineties" were seen throughout the dormitory.

Miss Gray, Miss Rhodes, and Mrs. Stowe acted as judges as to the prettiest, the most comfortable, and the most original rooms. Winners were Ruby Keating and Marilyn Poole for the prettiest; Mary Williamson and Florann Pywell the most comfortable; and the most original was awarded to Kathy Pershall and Barbara Kiel.

only places where students find studying difficult.

"Another item which interests me is the number of freshmen on the Bench. A number of colleges and universities have special study hours for freshman. The large number of freshmen on the Bench would seem to indicate that freshmen do need special help in learning how to study.

BASKETBALL JAMBOREE SLATED FOR TOMORROW NIGHT IN GYM

This year's annual intramural basketball jamboree will be held tomorrow night in the gym, according to Prof. Elmore Vail, intramural director at NNC. At that time the six athletic-literary societies on campus will compete among themselves in basketball games, skits, and gym decorations.

The schedule for this year's jamboree is as follows: 6:30—women, ADP vs. LSP, halftime skit by Athenians; 7:05—men, ADP vs. OLY, halftime skit by Spartans; 7:40—women, OLY vs. Ath., halftime skit by SLA's; 8:15—men, SPA vs. Ath., halftime skit by LSP's; 8:50—women, SLA vs. SPA; halftime skit by Olympians; 9:25—men, LSP vs. SLA, halftime skit by ADP's.

Each game will consist of a five minute warm-up, an eight minute half, four minute quarters, and one time-out of one minute for each half per team.

Sections Listed

Each society will have its own section in the gym. Along the west wall the ADP's will be in the southwest corner, the SLA's in the center, and the Spartans in the northwest corner. On the east side will be the Athenians in the southeast end, the LSP's in the center, and the Oly's on the northeast end.

Judging

Judging at the jamboree is based on 20 per cent sportsmanship, 20 per cent enthusiasm, 20 per cent halftime entertainment, and 40 per cent decorations. The skits are to be five minutes only; there will be a penalty for overtime.

Society points awarded for the jamboree are: 1st place, 400 points; 2nd place, 300 points; 3rd place, 225 points; 4th place, 175 points; 5th place, 125 points; and 6th place, 75 points.

Sponsors

The roster of society sponsors includes: Athenian—Prof. Mickey

Women's All-Star Volleyball Listed

Chosen after the closing of the volleyball season to the women's all-star volleyball team were two Spartans, two Athenians, one SLA, and one ADP.

They were Mary Waller and Carmen Gilmore, Spartans; Luella Daniels and Dorothy Mittleider, Athenians; Minnie Humphrey, SLA; and Martha Hopkins, ADP.

The all-star women were elected by a vote from six players in each of the six societies.

Men's Football All-Stars Picked

Votes cast this week in men's intramural selected the following men to the all-star football team for this semester:

Backfield—Lauren Ellis, Ath.; Bob Longanecker, Ath.; Ernie Thompson, ADP; and Don Ogburn, Oly.

Ends—Jerry Caven, ADP; and Dave Jennings, Ath.

Line—Larry Halter, Ath.; Ruehl Kerch, ADP; and Cec Campbell, LSP.

Unanimous choices were Longanecker, Thompson, Ogburn, Kerch and Halter.

Honorable mention was given to Perry Winkle, LSP, and George Harper, Spartan.

Dean, Prof. Virgil Vail; Spartan—Dr. Gilbert Ford, Prof. Arthur Manchester; SLA—Mrs. Edythe Leupp, Prof. Loring Beals; LSP—Prof. John Eby, Mrs. Pat Whitmarsh; Olympian—Mrs. Lillian Lewis, Prof. Howard Zink; and ADP—Prof. Marvin Bloomquist, Prof. Paul Kunkel.

Last year's winners, according to Prof. Elmore Vail, were: Oly's, first; Athenians, second; SLA's, third; LSP's, fourth; ADP's, fifth; and Spartans, sixth.

"But ref! didn't you see that fellow holding in that line?" questioned the defensive guard. "Sorry, Ray," replied the ref, "I guess 36 hands are too hard to keep track of, but we're trying."

The spirit is high and pigskin time reigns on the campus again. Every game brings a few charley horses and other bruised muscles, but you're a bookworm if you don't don your cleats and mythical helmet to do some dust biting.

So far this season 16 games have been played, and every event has displayed the enthusiasm which the game deserves. Many games have been exciting and close, but few compare to the Ath-Oly battle.

Ath-Oly

Previous to this semester, neither team was defeated; thus both teams were tense as a show down was forthcoming. To the surprise of the fans, the Athenians scored twice before the Oly's and led at half time 13 to 6. Scores were made by Ath's Ellis and Fitch, and Oly's Ogburn. Harassed by disorganization and a few penalties, the Oly's again saw the pigskin cross the goal line via a pass from Longanecker to Jennings and a good reverse run by Jennings.

The third quarter found the score 26 to 6 in favor of the Athenians. Then the Oly's found the range and turned an intercepted pass, a fumble, and a penalty into touchdowns. Ogburn scored twice and Ammerman once. The last tallied point came 30 seconds to go from the two-yard line. Final score was Oly's 26, Ath's 26.

Standings

As the result of play the Oly's and Ath's are tied for first place with the ADP's holding third by themselves. The Spartans are in fourth and a tie for fifth exists between the LSP's and SLA's. No one wants the cellar spot.

ATHENIAN, OLY WOMEN TIED FOR FIRST SPOT

By LOIS DRAPER

At press time women's volleyball competition is keen with the Athenians and Olympians tied for first place.

Following these societies respectively are the Spartans, ADP's, LSP's and SLA's.

Crusaderettes

Recently a women's volleyball team has been organized. Called the Crusaderettes, the team is on an extramural basis and games are scheduled with nearby towns.

The women won their first game at Kuna and were host to the Kuna team yesterday.

Those playing on the team are Martha Hopkins, Minnie Humphrey, Mary Waller, Ruth Watkins, Marge Cox, Lois Gardner, Carmen Gilmore, Luella Daniels, Karen Seibold, Mary Lee Lester, and Sherril Friesen.

All-Star Softball Team Named

Chosen too late to be named in the last issue of the Crusader was the men's intramural softball all-star team.

Pitcher Dave Stuart was given a unanimous nod for the team. Others were Don Ogburn, catcher; Bob Peppley, Ernie Thompson, Darryl Fine, and Sheridan Lisk, infielders.

Also, Larry Halter, Phil White, and Larry Mathis, outfielders. Honorable mention was given to Bob Longanecker, Al Rodda, and Dick Etulain.

have been exceptionally good as evidenced by the fact that only one game was forfeited out of 16 games played. The intramural directors wish to thank each fellow who helped with the refereeing and sideline duties, and a special thanks to Coach Elmore Vail for setting up the schedule.

Crusaders Open Season Against Broncos Nov. 29

By AL LEWIS

NNC's 1958 edition of the Crusaders will be unveiled Nov. 29 at Central gym as they meet the BJC Broncos in the season's opener.

Led by seven lettermen and a trio of "shorties" which has as its smallest member 6'7" Al Freeman, the Crusaders have height, experience, and hustle. Although facing a tougher schedule this year, NNC could very well improve the last year's record of 17 wins and 13 losses.

Here is how the 1958 Crusaders line up:

GENE OBERG, a 6'7" freshman, will be playing center for NNC and will be a valuable asset to the team. Gene, who is from Roseberg, Ore., comes to college with two years of experience in AAU circles.

DAVE HANSON will also be playing the center spot for the Crusaders. Another "shorty" at 6'8", Dave will add to the team with his corner shots and hooks from the key.

AL FREEMAN, who completes the NNC trio of giants, standing at 6'7", alternates between the forward and center spots. Al has shown a lot of hustle and drive in practice and will bear watching with his hook and twisted lay-ins.

Playing his fourth year of varsity ball will be forward SAM WILLARD. Sam is best known for his high bouncing dribble, fine defensive work and "shotgun" passes.

After being top rebounder and second high scorer last year for the Crusaders, BOB PEPPLEY will be one of the mainstays. After watching Bob's jump shot, one can see why Pep's scoring average was over 15 points last year.

Coming to NNC from Orofino, Idaho, is freshman NEIL MCKAY. McKay played varsity at the northern Idaho city and will be playing in the forward slot for the Crusaders.

TOM TRACY, senior from Richland, Wash., will be playing guard for the fourth year. His knack for stealing the ball and his driving lay-ins will again aid the NNC cause.

Another Tracy will be added to the squad in the personage of BILL TRACY. Bill, laying out of high school several years, is coming along fast and will add strength and depth to the squad.

Another frosh who has made the successful jump from varsity high school ball to varsity college basketball is HANK SAVAGE from Gooding. Savage will be at guard.

BEN CLOUSER, a senior who has only jayvee experience will add to the squad with his drive and determination. Ben played high school ball for St. Maries, Idaho.

WALLY STEWARD, a one-year letterman, will be playing guard for the Crusaders. Although a senior scholastically, Wally is a junior in basketball eligibility. With his hustle he will be a valuable asset to the team.

JERRY ISAACSON, a transfer from Clark Junior College, has high school experience as he played for Hudson Bay High School of Vancouver.

DOUG LYLE, the smallest of the Crusaders at 5'6", will be playing varsity after a year of jayvee ball. While in high school, Doug, a local boy, played on Nampa High School's first five.

PHIL WHITE lettered as a freshman last year and with his speed and accurate long shot will again bolster the Crusaders.
