

Impromptu Playtime

Grab a ball or hacky sack and start playing with kids that are hanging around the church, the mission project or the JESUS Film set up. Use the activity as an icebreaker to get to know the kids and invite them back to church, VBS, soccer camp, or a JESUS Film showing.

Schedule

- Spread the entire group out over a large area and pass the ball around. The more people you have, the more balls you can add in as well. If the children are too shy to join in, simply begin passing the ball to them and asking them to pass it back. In a short amount of time you can create a large crowd.
- Once you have a large group of children, you can set up a small game of adults vs. kids. This will help you control the flow of the game, as well as be able to tell who is on which team. Use anything that won't roll or blow away to mark the goals and have a loose or no out of bounds rule.
